THE MINISTER AND HIS READING.

By REV. D. CURRIE, B.D., Perth, Ont.

Few things enter so largely into a minister's life and work as his reading. Nothing is more important for him to know than what to read and how to read. His books are the minister's companions, and a man is known by the company he keeps. In no way can we form a better estimate of a minister's theological and literary standing than by entering his library and seeing not merely the books on his shelves, but the books whose leaves are cut, whose margins are annotated and whose important passages are underlined. There is danger that after leaving College and taking upon oneself the care and burden of
