CATARRIL

(ALARRII, CALARESTAL DESPNESS AND HAY FEVER

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the upper air passages and cus tachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyn-dall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases is to apply an irritint remedy weekly and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, accompanied by violent sneezing, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot get a chance to heal before any application is choose any good they might have seen in him, and reject the evil. get a chance to heat before any application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued, and so great is the demand for them, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretend-ing to destroy a parasite, of which they no nothing, by remedies the results of the appli-cation of which they are equally ignorant. cation of which they are equally ignorant.
