

The public must be taught that the health of the nation is its most valuable asset, and that the maintenance of health is of much more importance than the treatment of disease.

—Sir James Barr: The Medicine of the Future.