NEWSPAPER POSTAGE TO UNITED STATES.

Mr. JAMESON:

1. Upon what class of newspapers or publications mailed out to the United States of America is postage charged and not charged, respectively?

2. What number of newspapers, if any, mailed out to the United States of America is exempted from paying postage, and upon what number is postage charged?

3. When was postage first charged on newspapers going to the United States of America?

4. What discrimination has since been made, if any, as to the class to be charged, when did it become operative, and why was it made?

5. What amount has been paid yearly as postage on daily newspapers and other than daily newspapers, respectively?

6. What reduction in the circulation in the United States of America of the class of newspapers on which postage is charged, has followed the imposition of such postage?

Hon. R. LEMIEUX:

1 and 2. Postage is charged on all classes of newspapers and periodicals addressed to the United States.

3. In the year 1783.

4. No discrimination.

5. No separate account of postage collected on papers addressed to the United States is kept at the Post Office Department. The rates applicable to such papers being the same as those charged on some other classes of mail matter, it would be impossible to make any separation at this date.

6. This department has no statistics relative to the matter for the reasons given in answer to No. 5.

MESSRS. SULLIVAN AND LANGDON.

Mr. EDWARDS:

TEULON BRANCH C.P.R., MANITOBA.

Mr. BRADBURY:

1. Has the government approved of the extension of the Teulon branch of the Canadian Pacific railway, Manitoba?

2. If so, was such approval made contingent upon the company agreeing to extend the Winnipeg Beach branch northerly by way of Gimli to some point on or near the Icelandic river?

3. If such approval was so contingent, is it the intention of the government to insist on the company extending this branch this year?

Mr. GRAHAM:

1. Yes.

2. When the government approved of the extension of the Teulon branch of the Canadian Pacific railway, it was made contingent, upon the company agreeing to extend the Victoria Beach railway, northerly by way of the village of Gimli. This agreement has been carried out. The above line is also subsidized for a further distance northerly of twenty-five miles from Gimli to Riverton.
