

	PAGE
"Next!".....	319
"Not a word of it could these catfish make head or tail of.".....	322
Decorations of Sixth Century Aristocracy.....	326
"Latest eruption, only two cents.".....	331
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXVI.).....	333
"Where Launcelot is, she noteth not the going forth of the king.".....	334
"Hast seen Sir Launcelot about?".....	337
"It was delicious to see a newspaper again.".....	338
Solid Comfort.....	343
Barber to H. M., the King.....	345
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXVII.).....	347
"Why do you not warn me to cease?".....	351
Another Miracle.....	356
The Spirit that Goeth with Burdens that have not Honor.....	359
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXVIII.).....	361
"Varlet, serve to me what cheer ye have.".....	362
"Brother to dirt like this?".....	363
"Armor is heavy, yet it is a proud burden, and a man standeth straight in it."..	365
He was Great Now.....	367
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXIX.).....	369
Some Manhood even in a King.....	373
Under the Curse of Rome.....	375
The Tree and the Fruit.....	377
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXX.).....	379
The Fire.....	382
Pursuit.....	384
"A tree is known by its fruits.".....	389
"To the gentleman he was abject.".....	393
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXXI.).....	395
"Toward the monk the coal-burner was deeply reverent.".....	397
"When a slave passed he couldn't see him.".....	400
"Presently we struck an incident.".....	403
"Walking on air, she was so proud.".....	405
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXXII.).....	407
"And were soon as sociable as old acquaintances.".....	409
The Feast.....	413
'Rah for Protection!.....	417
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXXIII.).....	419
"Starving, eh? Why don't you grow a nose like mine?".....	421
Evolution.....	425
Discrepancy in Noses makes no Difference.....	429
My Lord, the Earl Grip.....	435
Initial Letter. (Chapter XXXIV.).....	437
"He was hungry for a fight.".....	440