anst thou

ear!

iee fling

sing

p

ds

k white.

He gazed awhile bewildered
Upon the setting Sun;
He laid his heart upon the shaft
And pierced his body through;
Then sank to rest on Wowan's breast
And bade the world Adieu!
They loved on earth when they had breath
The old man said to me,
"Their souls are in the spirit land,
Those are their bones you see.