JOHN CATTO & SON SS TO 61 KING STREET EAST,

Leaders Fear Task of Evangelizing the World is Too Great - Alarming Decrease in Church Attendance — St James" Square Presbyterians and Church Union.

In the course of his sermon at the St. James-square Presbyterian Church last night. Rev. Dr. Robertson, works ing from the text, "A Root Out of Dry Ground." compared the state of the Christian church of to-day to conditions which prevailed just before the coming of Christ.

Conditions were now so serious that it was found recessary to use special advertising efforts such as the huge electric sign recently crected in New York telling people that a welcome awaited them in the churches From that city and from all sides came reports telling of the alarming decrease in church attendance. Such leaders as Dr Denny of Edinburgh and John 5 Mott. expressed fears of the church of to-day being strong enough to cope with work to be done in the foreign field for the evangelization of the

The preacher believed, however, that the time was at hand when Jesus Christ would go down into the marts and call men from the pursuits of materialism where the wilderness of business and personal gain was clog-ging the call of Christianity. He looked for an awakening and a desire on the part of men to climb to greater heights in the development of humantoward the ultimate realization of pair work was concerned he thought the damage would be slight. He expected that everything would be remedied by noon today.

The main, which is connected directly with the reservoir, caused a drop in the water there of 17 inches, and that this meant a loss of considerable water is seen by the fact that the area of the reservoir is seven and a quarter agres. It is estimated that one area of the reservoir is seven and a quarter acres. It is estimated that one million gallons of water were lost as a result of the break. When the relief gang arrived on the scene about half an hour after the break occurred the water was shut off by means of the cock at College Street and the back flow was stopped by the cock at Dupont street. There was also a cock at the corner of Bathurst and Bloor streets, but it was impossible to operate

Albert S. Dyke of Toronto Intends to Take a Tour Thru Britain in Order to Show the Exact Conditions in Canada and Induce Better Men to

Lantern views and moving pictures from the principal localities in Canada, where labor finds a market, are about to be circulated in England thru Mr. Albert S. Dyke, a Torontonian of sev-

Mr. Dyke proposes to open in Birmingham, the beginning of May and during the course of his tour, to explain local conditions as an immigrant will LIST NOW OPEN find them in Canada, and to impress the people with the necessity of being provided with a reasonable supply of money before seeking new homes across the water.

"The government," said Mr. Dyke, "is daily expecting men who are without even the stipulated $25, which has had the effect of filling the country every winter with empty stomachs, to be f at the expense of the larger cities. will place the exact situation before the masses in England and perhaps Canada will in future receive immigrants in better financial circumstances than has been the case in previous years."

Mr. Dyke would be gratified to receive thru this paper any help from those who believe that his visit and lectures will benefit and enlighten the people in England, especially those who contemplate seeking Canada in the near tion and the opening up of the Canadian West an organic union was necessary, he said. In spite of the great scarcity in preachers these churches were overlapping in their work in eastern Canada, while many places in the west were not being served at all. The only solution was church union, he said.

The referendum on the question of church union will be taken at the Metropolitan Church this week.

TWO RUSSIANS STABBED

That is a merciful deliverance, and so, also, is the removal of any immediate apprehension of lawlessness and disorder on the part of the coal strikers. The home secretary and the secretary for war have dreaded the mobilization of troops and the employment of levies of police in the centres of disturbance, but as yetgthere has been no necessity for any defensive measures. The strikers, even with Socialist Hotspurs to lead them, have been as peaceable as the London suffragettes have been bellicose and obstreperous.

An even greater source of relief is the ascendency of the prime minister, for whom no substitute can be found. He may not have settled the strike soon as the optimists had hoped for and the prospects of the home rule last night between Russians and Italians, resulted in a stabbing affray in deferred until after Easter, may seem hopeless when thousands of Orangemen and Protestants are systematically en-rolled in Ulster and regularly drilling against it, but he has become the only possible leader. The influence of Mr. Lloyd George has waned when every by-election of fers fresh proof that the Insurance Ac has aroused misgiving among the main body of workers, and the embittered hostility of the Socialists to the tax on wages has become an effective Unionist election cry. The chancellor of the exchequer is held responsible for the defeats, when even the tradifor the defeats, when even the tradi-tional strongholds of Liberalism are
