Our White Goods Sale in January!

Our Annual White Goods Sale in January needs no introduction to the ladies of Toronto, who, in former years, have taken advantage of our special prices during the month. Each succeeding year this event has become more popular, and is eagerly looked forward to as the time approaches. For this January we are prepared as never before, both as to quality and variety of goods. As for value-giving we are determined to exceed all previous efforts, so as to make this the most successful sale of its kind we ever attempted. THE TORONTO WORLD
ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.
No. 23 YONGE STREET, Toronto.

THE MONEY BYLAWS TO-DAY.

Freeholders should support the three money bylaws submitted to-day. They involve $235,000 in all, and of this all but $65,000 of the expenditure is to be productive. This last amount is to be spent for a new low-level bridge over the Don at Queen-street. This will return no revenue, but the city's engineering advisers say it is imperatively necessary and public safety, therefore, demands it.

The other two bylaws are safe business speculations. The one involving an expenditure of $40,000, to embankment, is a block on the Bay front between Bay and Lorne-streets, extending out to the new Windmill Lane, provides a central city dock for five years; after that it will provide extensive new dock accommodation. In its first capacity, it means a saving of $100,000 to the city of $7000 a year, or of $35,000 during the whole filling-in period. The interest on the remaining $5000 will be overwhelmingly counterbalanced by the rentals from the 1300 feet of additional dockage which it will entail, and which the city will have, since we have the 14-foot canal.

But by far the most discussed and probably the most profitable speculation will be the $150,000 which it is proposed to spend in improving St. Lawrence Market. The argument used against it is that "the end is not in sight." The new City Hall is held out as a warning against thrusting in the thin edge of a wedge of expenditure. It has been said: "You ask us for $150,000 now, but we will have to vote twice that more before your plans are an accomplished fact." This is a bugaboo pure and simple, unjust and contrary to the fact. The fact is, that the plans and specifications are to be made to fit the expenditure, not the expenditure the plans. You are asked to vote to carry out such plans as have already been made. You are asked to spend $150,000, and if this sum will not suffice to put into execution Ad. Denison's and Architect Symonds' ideas, then architects are to be asked to tender plans which can be carried out for that sum. It is said that $150,000 would not do the thing justice. You have the authority of two architects, Messrs. Symonds and Denison, that it will, and you have that of Architect Sheard to say that it will not. Two architects should be more authoritative than one, especially when they spent five times as much time and pains on their calculation as did the one, and have, in addition, bona fide experience in carrying out their various specialty allotments at a total cost of only $138,000. The two architects spent about two months at their work, the one labored for less than five days.

The market bylaw deserves support for a hundred reasons. There is no valid reason why it should be condemned. You should vote for it, first, because the improvements will pay for themselves. For the truth of this the experience of other cities similar to Toronto visited by the Market Commission proves that it is a good investment. It is proved when a syndicate offered, if allowed, to install a cold storage plant, to pay for this franchise, 10 per cent. dividend on the total cost, or $15,000 a year.

It will preserve the balance in city property. It will enable the city to keep pace with the west, without retarding the west. It will make Toronto the distributing depot for the fruit, dairy, meat and agricultural products in the province within a radius of sixty miles. It will make Toronto the shipping centre for this province. It will encourage the building of radial railways in this city. The electric railway companies are but awaiting a favorable vote to expand into the country in all directions. It will hurt no vested interests. It will be essentially a wholesale market. Retail merchants are, therefore, its warmest supporters.

It will serve to keep Toronto abreast of the times. For other cities are in the market business.

Finally, it will help Toronto to realize its possibilities under the new era of deeper canals to the seaboard.

A YEAR OF PROMISE

A reference to the dinner given by the T. Eaton Company on New Year's Eve to its more than two thousand employees might very appropriately form an introduction to a few remarks on Toronto's prospects for the year upon which we have just entered. This event, more than anything else that has transpired in Toronto, is indicative of this city's supremacy as a centre of distribution and of the great future that is in store for it through its enjoyment of this supremacy. Up to a certain point we agree with those who contend that the department stores have injured Toronto. As far as their business is local in its character Toronto reaps little or no advantage from these mammoth bazars. The local retail business of any city is a matter of little importance. There is very little difference to the community, as far as population is concerned, whether a few big stores or the local retail business in the two cities brought closer together.

Another feature of the current year will probably be the completion of the project for transmitting electrical energy from Niagara Falls to the city. The problem of the long-distance transmission of electricity has been solved. Such was not the case when the electrical works on the American side of the river were undertaken. In consequence of the uncertainty as to the distance to which it might be economical to transmit electricity, the American company adopted a safe policy, and offered inducements to manufacturers to locate their works in the immediate vicinity of the source of the power. Even the transmission of the current to Buffalo was an uncertain quantity, and the use of power by factories in that city only began last year. The situation to-day is altogether changed. The Power Company will make an air line to this city to be ready for the transmission of power as soon as the electrical machinery is installed at the Falls. The development of the power on the Canadian side cannot be delayed, in any event, much longer than the present year. If the company that owns the franchise is not in a position to distribute current by the 1st of Nov. it will lose its right in the franchise, which will revert to the province. The deal with the company was a most unfortunate one for Ontario, and we could hope for nothing better than the loss by the company of its invaluable privileges. However, Toronto cannot fail to benefit to a very large degree, whether the work is done by a private corporation or as a government undertaking. Undoubtedly we shall have cheap power in Toronto, but we must take care that its distribution is not monopolized.

centre of the city or whether it is done by a larger number of stores distributed over a greater area. If the people get cheaper goods in the one case the city loses in population, and real estate values are adversely affected in the other. It is only when the departmental store gets beyond a purely local trade that its business becomes a distinct gain to the city. Every dollar that comes to Toronto's stores from the outside adds to the material prosperity and to the population of the city. The business done by our magnificent stores, in which we include not only the so-called departmental stores, but the scores of special stores that line our principal streets, from without the city represents their real value to the city. This business aggregates we do not know how many millions a year, but it is several, and the trade is growing rapidly.

The business done by the departmental stores has the effect of increasing Toronto's population by many thousands, we would not like to say how many.
