GRAIN MARKETS ARE QUIET

ber corn, market has been dull and featureless. Armour bid for May without undertone of profit in the face of favorable weather and liberal receipts. Statistics were of little value for comparison owing to the double harvest.

Oats—Trade in oats was about highest of the pits until about the 20th when local shorts started a bull movement, and sent prices up quickly. Traders and pit scalpers about lost interest. There were rumors of Patten buying, but not confirmed.

Provisions—Market for hog products has been independently strong all day, and a fairly good demand maintained. Light run and higher hogs principal influences. Hogs covered freely, especially in January stuff, closing market strong.
