

BOVRIL

The Great Body Builder

NOTES OF THE MOVIES

Marshall Neilan, one of Mary Pickford's directors, has been drafted. Miss Pickford is now being photographed in a Francis Hodgson Burnett story, "The Little Princess," under Mr. Neilan's direction, and he has been granted a brief extension in which to finish the picture.

The appearance of a new series of O. Henry stories in four-reel form has served to arouse the greatest interest in the rich mine of motion picture material in O. Henry's twelve volumes. To date nearly thirty of O. Henry's stories have been released as two and four reel films, and the results have been surprising to those who believed that O. Henry's stories could not stand being filmed. To date five of his stories have been made into four-reelers, these being "The Defeat of the City," "The Duplicité of Hargraves," "The Indian Summer of Dry Valley Johnson," "A Blind Man's Holiday," and "A Night in New Arabia."

George Ade's fables, concerning the adaptability of which to the screen there also was some question, are also enjoying a renaissance on the screen. The original fables were issued in one reel, but a series of twelve of the newer fables are now being put out in two.

The first direct results of the numerous mergers and new releasing arrangements in the motion-picture industry a few months ago are just beginning to bear fruit in the current releases of Paramount. The first of the Thomas H. Ince dramas has now been announced by Paramount, the first of the Mack Sennett comedies is now being placed before the public, and definite arrangements have been made for the releasing of the first of the J.

Stuart Blackton adaptations of the Sir Gilbert Parker novels.

Charles Ray in "The Son of His Father" is the first of the Ince pictures to be released through Paramount. This is followed by Dorothy Dalton in "The Price Mark," both productions being presented during the month of October. "The Judgment House," which is the first of the Parker novels and in which Violet Heming and Conway Tearle play important roles, will be released in the early part of November.

The first of the Mack Sennett comedies to be shown on the screen under the new arrangement is "A Bedroom Blunder," in which Mary Thomas is featured. Meanwhile, the regular productions which form the foundation of Paramount are continuing as heretofore. Vivian Martin is scheduled to appear in two productions, "The Trouble Buster" and "Molly Entangled," Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, is to appear in "The Call of the East," Ann Pennington reappears upon the screen in "The Antics of Ann," Pauline Frederick stars in an adaptation of David Graham Phillips' "The Hun-gry Heart," and Marguerite Clark is busy upon the series of adaptations of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Sub-Deb" stories.

FAKE WIRES FLOOD DISCHARGE DEPOTS

Home Folks 'Dying' To See The Men Attempt to Cut Red Tape Entanglements

"Home casualties keep the wires hot and the messenger boys on the run when the transports land at the eastern ports with their loads of discarded warriors, returned to Canada unit for further service.

The homecoming boys might be a plague descending upon Canada judging the effect upon the health and longevity of their relatives. Telegrams pour in from every section of the Dominion to the discharge depots of the military hospitals commission, urging that John be sent home at once. His mother is dying; his father is dead; his wife and children have been evicted from their home; he has just become the proud father of twins—no misfortune in the whole category of calamities has been overlooked in the endeavor to free John quickly from the red tape of discharge and restore him to his family.

Job for Clairvoyant

Picking up the tramped up messages from those based upon fact is the business of the O.C. and his staff. "These boys have had pretty tough luck overseas, in some cases," declared L. L. Mariott, O.C. of the Quebec discharge depot, "but it's nothing in comparison to the line up of troubles that greet them when they land in Canada if you were to judge by the telegrams we receive."

"They are anxious to get home, and their people are anxious to have them, and the nearer they get the harder it seems to wait. In many cases we have found that the boys have sent telegrams asking their relatives to wire for them."

Get Benefit of Doubt

"In many cases they have put it over on us, but we catch most of them. In case of death you can't be too sure even though there is a lot of dramatic talent loose in the place, for you'd rather be on the safe side and fooled, than hold a man up to the regular routine and find out too late that the wire was authentic."

"We try to get the fellows off with all the dispatch we can muster. Not a man is held over a day longer than is necessary and once they have been here a day or so they realize that, but when they first land, all they want is to get home, and every man thinks that he is the first one who ever thought of wiring for himself."

STANFIELD'S

Unshrinkable UNDERWEAR

Owes its Comfort, Warmth and Wear to Detailed Care in the Making

Thorough sorting, washing and processing of Stanfield's wool produces the cleanest, softest, fluffiest material that can possibly be used for underwear.

Stanfield's secret process takes the "shrink" out of the wool in the washing, before it goes to the knitting machines.

Expert cutters fit Stanfield's Combinations and Two-piece Suits as carefully as a tailor fits a high-priced suit. The finished garments are again thoroughly washed, and rinsed in distilled water.

Then, after every particle of "shrink" has been removed, each garment is checked for size on a standard frame, ensuring perfect fit.

Stanfield's Elastic Inset Shoulders prevent pulling or binding, and give delightful freedom.

Stanfield's Adjustable Sleepers and Adjustable Combinations for growing children are the most practical night and day underwear ever designed for the kiddies. The moveable buttons on the waist permit frequent adjustments corresponding to growth. No separate "waist" is needed and the detachable lower part of the garment is particularly convenient in the smaller sizes.
