USE THE SCHOOL BUILDINGS AS SOCIAL CENTRES

Some Information For St. John People Concerning This Great Movement and Its Results

II.
The high water mark in state legislation with regard to social centres has been reached in Wisconsin, where in 1910 a law was enacted which requires all school boards to open the school-houses for neighborhood civic club meetings upon the demand of the people. The sections relating especially to the work are as follows:—

"Section 2.—Where the citizens of any community are organized into a non-partisan, non-sectarian, non-exclusive association for the presentation and discussion of public questions, the school board or other body having charge of the school houses or other public properties which are capable of being used as meeting places for such organization, shall provide, free of charge, light, heat and janitor service, where necessary, and shall make such other provisions as may be necessary for the free and convenient use of such building or grounds, by such organization, for weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly gatherings at such times as the citizens' organization shall request or designate."

"Section 3.—The school board or other board having charge of the school houses or other public properties, may provide for the free and gratuitous use of the school houses or other public properties under their charge for such other civic, social and recreational activities, as in their opinion do not interfere with the prime use of the buildings or properties."

In an address delivered in 1911, Clarence A. Perry, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Wider Use of the School Plant, for the Russell Sage Foundation, said that up to that year twelve other states besides Wisconsin had prepared laws authorizing the appointment of recreation commissions, or authorizing school boards to expend funds for recreation and social centre purposes. In several American cities school buildings are used as polling places. Mr. Perry, by such organization, for weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly gatherings at such times as the citizens' organization shall request or designate."

Mr. Justice Hughes, who was a few years ago the reform governor of the state of New York, referring to the social centre movement in school buildings, has said:—

"I am more interested in what you are doing than in anything else in the world. You are buttressing the foundations of democracy."

are being sent forth from the schools of this country annually and four hundred thousand are falling," said Vice President Marshall, addressing the council of the church boards of education in Washington this week. "This condition exists partly because it is impossible to teach the Bible in the public schools."

COLONEL McLEAN

AND JAMES REID

WOULD LOSE SEATS

An Ottawa Report on Re-distribution in New Brunswick

The Ottawa correspondent of The Moncton Mail, has the following of interest: "It is understood that the New Brunswick Conservatives have practically agreed upon the redistribution of parliamentary seats for that province. County lines will not be disturbed but Albert county will be joined to Westmorland, Victoria to Carleton, Restigouche to Madawaska and Sunbury to York, while Kings and Queens will be united. The net result will be to eliminate two of the sitting Liberal members namely, James Reid, of Restigouche, and Colonel H. H. McLean, of Queens and Sunbury."

EX-SOLDIER AND NAVY

MAN MAKES COMPLAINT

OF UNFAIR TREATMENT

Thomas Reynolds, who describes himself as a former soldier and navy man with a distinguished record during his active service, appeared at the Times office this morning with a complaint of unfair treatment by an officer at St. John's, Quebec. Reynolds displayed a row of medal ribbons on his vest, but said that the one he valued most highly, that representing the Victoria Cross, had been stripped from his breast by a private soldier acting on the orders of the officer of the dragons at St. John's.

He said that the officer had examined his papers, including originals of some and copies of others, which he carried with him, but had declared that he was not the man described in the papers. Not only were his decorations taken from him, Reynolds says, but he was threatened with a ducking in the house trough. He says that he intends to bring the matter to the attention of the authorities at Ottawa and secure the restoration of his ribbon.

Regarding his career in the Imperial service Reynolds says that he served through the Afghanistan campaign in 1879 and 1880 in the 9th Lancers, then secured his discharge and entered the navy to be with his brother. In 1882 he was at the bombardment of Alexandria under Lord Roberts and in 1889 he assisted in the relief of Ladysmith, being then a first class petty officer of H. M. S. Powerful. It was here that, he says, he won the Victoria Cross. He was discharged in England in 1900, and came to Canada in 1902 and worked in the naval dock yards in Halifax until they were closed. He says that all his medals, including the Victoria Cross, are in the possession of his wife for safe-keeping, but asserts that his record is known in Ottawa and by many of the South African veterans at St. John and elsewhere whom he met during the Boer war.

In addition to the loss of his ribbon Reynolds also complains that the officer at St. John's took from him the sum of $18 which had been raised by subscription among the men for him and returned the money to the donors.
