THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1910 The Girl Who Lives Alone FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE whether she attends college or goes to business, needs the Perfection Oil Heater. It will heat a cold, cheerless boarding house or dormitory room and make it livable. It SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY By Father Cuthbert, O. S. F. C., An English Friar of the Order of the Capuchins is always a ready help in the many things women do for themselves in their rooms. With the damper top opened it will heat water for From "Catholic Idea Is in Social Life." NE of the dominant features of the present age is its effort at social reconstruction. When toward the middle of the last century Disraeli pictured in "Sybil" the miseries and detea or cocoa; it will dry the small gradation of the working class and the thoughtlessness of the wealthy, the social organism could hardly be said to exist in England. There were various social classes, each unknown to the other except as passing strangers may be said to know each other. The rich seemed to have no idea of how the poor lived, and the poor judged the rich in bitter ignorance. There was, indeed, some sort articles that a woman prefers to wash herself in her own room. It will quickly heat an iron or curling tongs; quickly dry wet shoes or skirts—an ever ready help for the woman wolli es alone, dependent on here of resources. The of economic system binding the one class to the other; but morally New Wes and humanly the rich and the poor formed two nations ignorant of each other's habits and undesirous of each other's acquaintance. It he for was the darkness before the dawn. Since then the national conscience has been awakened to the crime of such absolute moral separation. Men have begun to feel that one class has a duty toward the used them and date other and that every man is bound to every other man by some sort IL PEATER of responsible relationship. Men like Cardinal Manning and Lord Shaftsbury have not lived in vain. Today the moral atmosphere is charged with the sense of social responsibility. It is felt that the poor and the weak have a is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. It will burn nine hours with one filling. It is safe, shokeless and odorless; has a cool handle and a damper top.

An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. Finished in japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the claim upon the rich and the strong; that to seek one's own interests without any consideration for the interests of those less fortunate is wrong—a sin against God and a crime against the state. This conviction manifests itself partly in economic legislation, partly in individual and voluntary endeavor to better the condition of the poor and the luckless. But in whatever way it manifests itself, it is well to take note that this conviction of one man's responsibility for another is essentially connected with the growth of religious and catholic feeling which has been so evident in English life during the last half century. This is a fact which cannot be too well recognized.
