

Son in the covenant of grace, that he might redeem them from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works; which is the only foundation of salvation for lost and helpless sinners; and thereby the ministers of the Lord are encouraged to preach the gospel to every rational creature; because, the purpose of God, and the infinite value of Christ's atonement, secure the increase and establishment of Christ's kingdom, so that the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.

10. Jesus, the eternal Son of God, hath come, and taken on him our nature, and in that nature hath yielded a perfect obedience to the law which we have transgressed, and suffered death for our sins, and hath brought in a complete and everlasting righteousness, and hath risen and ascended to the right hand of God, and ever liveth to make intercession for us.

11. The Holy Ghost, and he only, can and doth make particular application of the benefits of the atonement made by Christ to every elect soul.

12. The Spirit of God applies the benefits of this atonement, by convincing us of our sinful, lost, and miserable condition; and then discovering the glorious Saviour, as he is exhibited in the gospel, in his suitableness and sufficiency, and enabling us to embrace him with our whole souls, by which he is made unto us wisdom, righteousness, sanctification, and redemption.

13. The life of religion consists in the knowledge of God and conformity with him in the inward man, which necessarily produces an external conformity to his commands, and brings us to live in obedience to his holy will in all our ways, and in our several places and relations.

14. True believers, being united to Jesus Christ, shall never perish, but live and reign with him for ever. They have communion with God, and by his Spirit they are united with each other, and have communion one with another, whereby they are made partakers of each other's gifts and graces.

15. The first day of the week, commonly called the Lord's Day, is the Christian Sabbath.

16. God hath appointed the ordinance of civil government for defending the poor as well as the rich, in their civil
