Trotter, who is conducting the sale. Eleven head consigned by J. R. Magowan, of Mount Sterling, Ky., brought $19,300, an average of $1,754. W. L. ## ALONG THE SPORT TRAIL

Fred C. McAndrews, formerly a Thistle skip, is now a member of the Fredericton Curling Club. The annual meeting of the club was held Monday night when a membership of 82 was reported.

Nothing further has been said about St. John's entry into the New England League but perhaps there is something in the old proverb that still waters run deep.

Basketball is certainly getting a strong hold on the attention of the local athletes.

Joe Beckett stirred up a howl from the people of Southampton when he decided to emulate the American boxers by charging admission to see him train for his bout with Georges Carpentier.

Many are the tricks that have been worked to win football games, but the latest is the use of dumb tacks. It was pulled by the high school team of Barberton, an Akron suburb. The players all taped their hands with gauze bandages in which the tacks were imbedded. Not a man missed a forward pass while the Medina backs could not break away from tacklers. The Barberton team had a 21-0 edge at the end of the first half. Medina got next.

which realized the movement, says an official Greek army statement issued today.

"In the course of engagements of November 21 and 22 during the occupation of the line of Demarkation in Asia Minor," the communique reads, "the enemy sustained casualties of one hundred killed, including the rebel chief Ganzel and two hundred wounded."

Ensign Condie
And Wife Leaving

Popular Salvation Army Officers in Charge of Hostel Going to Brantford—Will be Greatly Missed by Many in the City.

Design R. Condie and Mrs. Condie, who have had charge of the Salvation Army Hostel on Prince William street since its opening in February last, have received word of their transfer to Brantford, Ont., where they are to take charge of the Salvation Army Corps there.

The Ensign and his wife were in charge of the hostel when the doors were opened to the returned men last February. Under their care, and largely due to their unselfish efforts to serve the returned boys who sought shelter under its roof, the Hostel has steadily grown, until today it is completely filled. The Hostel is, and always has been, a benefactor of industry, ever actively working in the interests of the Canadian soldier. Over 2,000 men have been housed in the Hostel since its opening, and at the present time there are 40 weekly boarders. There is seldom a vacant bed, and already this winter Ensign Condie has been obliged to turn men away through lack of accommodation.

The Hostel was opened to the dependents of those who were taken off the boats here last winter suffering from flu, and who were in a desperate home by many stricken with that malady while en route to Upper Canada and the West.

The Hostel has supplied in every sense of the word the need which it was opened; it has been a real home for every man who entered its doors, and a great many returned men have made it their home while taking vocational courses here. Through the kindness of Mr. Condie, lunches have been put up for men whose work necessitated them, which has been greatly appreciated by the men.

The moans uttered to the Hostel have been spent wisely, discriminatingly and economically by Ensign Condie in furthering the interests of the returned men.

The Ensign has a great aid and willing worker in Mrs. Condie, and many a returned boy will vouch for her sympathy and kindness. Mrs. Condie has nursed all cases of sickness that have occurred in the Hostel, and has cheerfully and willingly, in addition to her many other duties as matron of the institution, Mrs. Condie met every need that docked at the West Side last winter, when she attended the women, children and babies of the soldiers' dependents passing through the Hostel.

Previous to taking over the Hostel, Ensign and Mrs. Condie were in command of the Charlotte Street Corps. The Ontario women's branch of the Soldiers' Dependents' Association in London, Ont., in Charlottetown and in Fredericton.

Ensign and Mrs. Condie will be succeeded by Ensign and Mrs. Annie Laurie, of Toronto, who will now have charge of the Prince William Street Hostel. Ensign and Mrs. Laurie are not new in this branch of work, they have had charge of the Hostel in Toronto devoted to the care of soldiers' dependents. They are therefore coming to St. John with previous experience and keenly alive to the returned men's wants.

Ensign and Mrs. Condie expect to leave Monday for their new field. Many in St. John wish to go with them, regretting their unselfishness and devotion, their cheery smile and helping hand, they have endeared themselves to soldier and civilian alike. Their friends wish them Godspeed and all success in their new home.
