Harbor Bridge Is Brought To The Fore

Commissioner Frink Moved for Report on Holgate Plans Routine Matters Discussed.

The harbor bridge was brought to the attention of the City Council again yesterday morning by Commissioner Frink, who moved for a report from the city engineer on the feasibility of going ahead on the plans and specifications prepared by Mr. Holgate of Montreal.

He referred to the great increase in the assessment for ferry purposes, which had jumped from $10,541 in 1916 to $67,194.50 in 1920, and pointed out that the latter sum represented an interest on $1,000,000 and leave something over to apply on sinking fund, and expressed the opinion that the time had arrived when the building of a bridge over the harbor should be seriously faced.

His motion for a report on the plans was seconded by Commissioner Bullock and the motion was carried. He thought it hardly fair, however, that the ferry should be picked out as a horrible example when all the departments have greatly increased their expenditure over 1916.

Applications for grants were received from the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Seamen's Mission. These were laid on the table to be taken up with the other grants. His Worship requested that all grants be in by Thursday at the latest.

On motion of Commissioner Bullock he was given authority to dispose of the Butler house at Milford on the best possible terms.

Commissioner Thornton referred feelingly to the death of Police Officer John Merrick, who had given about thirty years of faithful service to the city and moved that in view of the long and faithful service his widow be paid three months' pay.—Carried.

A communication from Harry Bell, asking that no upset price be placed on the Diving Bell and No. 2 was referred to the special committee.

Commissioner Thornton asked about the E. Ross and was informed that she would be placed on the route just as soon as possible.

Commissioner Frink announced that for the first time the Public Works Department was able to announce an unexpended balance at the close of the year, and this in spite of the fact that he had taken office with an overdraft of about $14,000 from previous years to contend with. The balance to the credit of the department is about $2,000.

Commissioner Bullock suggested the Mayor might provide work for an unemployed man by placing a special policeman on Carleton street hill to look after the constables.

LABOR CONGRESS URGES A TARIFF COMMISSION NOW

Impossible to Improve Workers Without a Policy of National Protection.

CUSTOMS' WALL MUST NOT BE TOO HIGH

Two Hundred Thousand Laborers Represented by Delegation to Capital.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—Before the tariff commission today officials of the Trades and Labor Congress, representing nearly 200,000 affiliated workers, presented a statement urging the creation of a permanent tariff board, and expressing the opinion that an improvement in the standard of living in Canada would be impossible under free trade, unless the whole world accepted free trade. The statement said in part: "The organization workers of Canada believe in the utilization of the natural resources of the country and their conversion from the raw state to a final manufactured one within the boundaries of Canada. This policy as incorporated in resolutions adopted at a joint meeting of the Congress executive, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association executive and others held, November, 1918, and approved by the following convention of the congress at Hamilton, September, 1919.

"The following out of this policy has meant the instituting of many new industries, most of which have to compete in their earlier stages with all established industries in the United States and other older industrial countries.

Depend Upon Outside.

"It is not always the case that the raw materials for every phase of such development can be obtained within the country and therefore other industries have been established, depending on outside sources for their raw materials, and yet of themselves necessary for the full development of other industries developing Canadian resources.

"The creation of an industry calls for investment not only of the shareholders' money to build and equip the factory, but also from the workers themselves, who either invest in transporting their household effects and homes to a close proximity to the industry in which they are engaged, or in many cases go further and invest their all in a plot of land, or a house in the full expectation of securing steady employment from the industry.

"The investment is often lost sight of but is a very material one, the closing of an industry in many cases bringing absolute ruin to many workers by destroying investments thus made.

Want Stable Industries.

"It is, therefore important to the workers that industries established should be as stable as possible.

"Canada is placed in the centre of competition. To the south, the United States, with its huge and fully developed industries, turning out products in mass and with a great home market fully protected to supply, to the east, the workshop of the world, Great Britain, with a century of industry development behind her and numerous workers whose wage standards were far below that which Canadian workers should be expected to accept whilst to the east the Orient with its hordes of cheap laborers able to flood our market at any time, if there were no bars against them.

"In view of all this Canadian workers admit the need of protection to our industries, but they are not satisfied at its past application, believing it has been misused, often for the benefit of capital, than used for the benefit of labor.

The Conclusions.

"Our opinions in this respect may be briefly stated as follows:

(a) Industries enjoying protection should be compelled to absorb all available labor in Canada before employing or recruiting employees from other countries and our immigration and alien labor laws amended accordingly.

(b) The labor department should have power of investigation, and control over the conditions of employment of the workers in a protected industry with sufficient power, to enforce and assure at least as high a standard for workers employed in protected industries as those enjoyed by any of their competitors against whom they are protected.

Not Too High.

(c) Protection should never be so high as to create monopoly and remove all incentive for initiative and improvement on the part of the management.

(d) The government should have full control over the capitalization of industries under protection and thus prevent watering of stocks and cutting of melons.

(e) Employers engaged in an industry generally needing protection

Price - Sharp.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Geo. W. Sharp at Midland, N. B., on the evening of New Year's Day, when his daughter, Miss Evelyn A. Sharp was united in the bonds of matrimony to Preston D. Price. Miss Sharp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sharp of Norton, and is a graduate nurse from the Chipman Memorial Hospital, St. Stephen; also a post-graduate of St. Margaret's Hospital of Prosser, N.S., where she has practiced her profession for the past two years. Mr. Price is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Price of Norton. Mr. Price was one of the bravest young men who felt the call of duty when our Empire was in need; he joined the 9th Siege Battery in 1916 and saw two years of strenuous service in France.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Walden, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Snow, sister of the groom, presided at the organ. The bride was given away by her father.

After a sumptuous supper the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes on the Maritime Express for a brief wedding trip. On their return they will reside in Moncton, where Mr. Price fills a lucrative position with the T. Eaton Co. The bride was dressed in a suit of navy blue tulle, with feathers in her hair. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of beaver furs.

NEED TARIFF BOARD.

These, or other similar regulations, we do not believe can be carried out without the creation of a tariff board. In the past the amount of tariff has been fixed only after parliamentary debate, and we venture to assert more in harmony with political influence of interested parties than on the merits of the case even if such could be judged with the information generally before the members. Once passed it has been nobody's business to supervise how it has operated and for whose special benefit.

We believe that parliament should retain the right to finally pass upon any tariff regulations but only after the amount of tariff has been fixed by a competent board and which should be constituted, because of the vital importance to wage earners, so as to have at least one of their chosen representatives upon such a board.
