

INDEX

TO

CHRONICLES OF THE CANONGATE, ETC.

ANNUALS, 351

Armstrong, John, Border champion, 407
 Armstrong, Young, son of Laird's Jock, 407
 Author's Introductions, 317, 351, 387

BORDER chivalry, 406

Bothwell, Lady, 362; interview with Forester, 364; expostulates with her sister, 369; sees the visions in the magic mirror, 375; last meeting with Forester, 381

Browne, General, 399; visits Woodville Castle, 392; his strange manner, 395; story of the spectre, 396; is shown the Woodville pictures, 401

CATTLE-DROVERS, Highland, 323

Chronicles of the Canongate, continuation of, 317
 Croftangry, Mr., introduces another tale, 317

DAMIOTTI, Dr. Baptista, 369, 371; shows the visions in the magic mirror, 374; his real character, 380

Death of the Laird's Jock, 405
 Donn, Rob, Highland poet, 418
 Drovers, Highland, 323

FALCONER, Captain, 379

Falconer, Miss Jemima (Lady Forester), 362; visits Damlott, 370; sees the visions in the mirror, 375

Fleecebumpkin, John, Mr. Ireby's bailiff, 332; fomenta the quarrel, 336; flung by Robin Oig, 342

Forester, Sir Philip, 361; his interview with Lady Bothwell, 361; leaves his wife, 367; vision of, in the mirror, 375;

his doings on the continent, 379; entreats forgiveness of Lady Bothwell, 381
 Foster, English Borderer, 408

GILPIN, Bernard, 406. See also Glossary Glossary, 421

HESKETT, Dame, 334, 338

Heskett, Ralph, 334
 Highlanders, mutinies of, 318, 418

INTRODUCTION to Chronicles of the Canongate, 317; to My Aunt Margaret's Mirror, 351; to The Tapestry Chamber, 387

Ireby, Squire, 331

JANET, of Tomahourich, 326

Judge, summing up of, in Two Drovers, 343

Keepsake Annual, 351

Lady in the Sacque, tale of, 387, 389

Laird's Jock, 407; death of, 409

Leith pier, affair at, 318, 415

Logan, poet, quoted, 354

M'COMBICH, Robin Oig, 324; gives up his dirk, 327; his friendship with Wakefield, 328; bargains with Squire Ireby, 331; quarrels with Wakefield, 334; gets back his dirk, 340; stabs Wakefield, 342; judge's summary at his trial, 343; his execution, 347

MacEvoy, Janet, 317

Mackay, or Donn, Robert, Highland poet, 418