and freedom around us-with Australia, the Relief of Insolvent Debtors." and China and America, all open or opening to us, surely we can spare so insignificant a portion of the globe as Papal Europe has now become. Let us then shake hands with America on the one side, and Germany on the other, that we will give and receive toleration from Rome. A great cisis like this cannot be got over by half measures. We call on all Protes- of King's, before Hon. Hugh Bell, and Hon. E. tants to combine, under a sacred pledge, Kenny. Commissioners to see him sworn. never to rest till they have carried these two points. Let no man hold himself discharged in this war. The feeblest can lift up his voice and swell the general cry; he can help to diffuse light, and to diffuse light is to foil those who march under the banner of darkness. We summon all, then, to the conflict. Whether we look to the past or the future, whether we look around us on the world, or upwards to that God who name Rome has blasphemed, and whose saints she has slain, we find powerful inducements to urge us on. Behind us are the martyrs, and before us are our children for whose liberties we fight. Around us are the nations whom this terrible power has enslaved, who supplicate us and impartial discharge of the duties of Clerk by chains. Come, then, planting our foot upon the eternal justice of our cause, and looking upwards to that Almighty One who has sworn te destroy Rome, let us join battle with this foe. We stand in the world's Thermopylæ, and with Luther at Worms we may say, "We cannot do otherwise; so help us God."

Legislative.

Opening of the Legislature.

At 2 o'clock, P. M., on Thursday last, His Excellency, Sir JOHN GASPARD LEMARCHANT opened the Legislature with the following speech :--Mr. President, and Monorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council : Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Astembly : We are called upon to resume our Legislative labours, under circumstances which should inspire us with renewed confidence in the Giver of all Good. An industrious people have drawn from a fertile soil, and from a profitable Commerce and Fishery, Ilis bounties in rich abundance, and in peace and health are permitted to enjoy them.
