Wanted No Idle Moments
A retired colonel advertised for a manservant, and an Irishman came after the job. "What I want," explained the colonel, "is a useful man—one who can cook, drive a motor, look after a pair of horses, clean boots and windows, feed poultry, milk the cow, and do a little painting and paperhanging."
"Excuse me, sor," said the applicant, "but what kind of soil have ye here?"
"Soil?" snapped the colonel. "What's that to do with it?"
"Well, I thought if it was clay I might make bricks in me spare time."

Smart Canvasser
There was a canvasser at the door trying to sell Mrs. Higgins a burglar alarm.
"But I don't need any of your burglar alarms," she told the man, making as if to shut the door.
"That's just what the woman next door said," was the reply.
"What do you mean?" asked Mrs. Higgins, now on the alert. She hated "that woman."
"She said that it was no use my calling on you," went on the man, "as you wouldn't need any, as you had nothing worth stealing."
"Give me three," interrupted Mrs. Higgins, gritting her teeth.

MERKLEY—SHIRK

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lchman Shirk, Albert Street, Waterloo, at 3 o'clock, Wednesday, February 25th, when their daughter, Florence Ruth, became the bride of William Leonard Merkley, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Merkley, Peppier street, Waterloo.

The bride, who was prettily gowned in sapphire blue flat crepe trimmed with silver lace and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, entered the living room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Roos of Waterloo. She took her place at the bay window banked with spring flowers where the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Harvey of the Waterloo Methodist church in the presence of about thirty five guests.

Mrs. Almond Merkley, wearing a copper colored canton crepe dress with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas acted as bridesmaid, while Almond Merkley, brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man.

Miss Mary Learn, niece of the bride, attired in pale blue voile and carrying a basket of sweet peas, acted as flower girl while the ring bearer was Master Floyd Merkley, who was dressed in a navy blue velvet suit.

During the signing of the register Miss Eva Robinson, of Waterloo, sang "All Joy be Thine." A dainty wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Merkley left on a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Brampton. The bride's travelling suit was of a nigger brown tricotine with hat and scarf to match. On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Merkley will reside in Waterloo.

JANE'S CAREER

When Jane was young and flappy she belle of all the town, she made young men unhappy because she turned them down. And many wish to wed her, with wreaths upon her brow, but no one ever led her to make a solemn vow. She wished to be a lawyer, and practice in the courts; said wish was the destroyer of love for many sports. "In this brief mundane journey," she said, "I wish to shine; so I'll be an attorney—no wedding rings in mine. A girl can't be a winner if she sews patches weird, and diagrams a dinner for someone with a beard." She did as she expected, she saw her fame increase, and now she's been elected a justice of the peace. With honors she is laden, her roll has bulky grown, but she's a wintry maiden, all loveless and alone. No lighted window greets her when homeward she returns, no loving husband beats her or borrows what she earns. Her progress was amazing, but ever and anon I see her sadly gazing as though some prize were gone. It's when we're old and lonely, and tired and sad and gray, that loving comrades only seem worth the price we pay.—Walt Mason.

NO TAXES TO PAY THIS YEAR

Wouldn't you like to live in a place where there was no tax collector, and no taxes to pay? Canada really has one town in this over-taxed world where the people will have no taxes to pay during 1925. And this statement is made on no less authority than the Provincial Government of Alberta. Sugar City municipality, in the district of Raymond, in Southern Alberta, is reported, in a statement issued recently, to be in such splendid financial condition that there will be no tax levy necessary for the coming year. That surely must be a sweet place in which to live.

A San Francisco couple got married in a lion's cage. Started their matrimonial mix-up with a roar, as it were.

PRINCE TO HAVE SUIT FROM HIS OWN SHEEP

Hespeler, Feb. 22—The R. Forbes Company, which is the largest mill of its kind in Canada, had quite an honor conferred on it some days ago. They received some wool from the Prince of Wales' ranch at High River, Alberta. This went through the processes of manufacture and was turned into cloth. The Prince selected a nice gray from the samples submitted. The heir apparent to the throne of Great Britain will have a suit of clothes from his own ranch. No doubt he will show his many friends just what Canada can do in sheep raising, manufacturing and cloth making. The R. Forbes Company employs 1000 people in Hespeler and Orillia. Over 800 work in the Hespeler plant. They are building another addition to the mill this summer.

HE GOT A CHAIR

A rain-soaked traveller stepped into the office of the leading hotel and finding no chance to get near the stove owing to the usual crowd around it, said to the landlord, "Can you take about a quart of good, hot soup to my horse?" "Yes," replied the proprietor, "but your horse won't eat soup." "Never mind," said the traveller, "take it out and see." By this time those in the room had begun to be curious and fell in line behind the proprietor with the bowl of soup, following him out to the sheds to see the wonderful horse that would eat soup. When they were all gone, the traveller carefully selected the most comfortable chair, drew it close to the stove and sat down. In a few minutes, the crowd returned headed by the landlord. "There," said the landlord, "I told you your horse would not eat soup." "All right," said the traveller, "I will, so give it to me and take out about six quarts of oats to the horse." And one lounge stood up who previously occupied a comfortable chair.

PREMIER FERGUSON'S PROPOSAL TO BOOST SALARIES OF CABINET MINISTERS

The plan of the Ferguson Government to raise the seasonal indemnities of members of the Legislature from $1400 to $2000 a year and the salaries of Cabinet Ministers from $600 to $800 will not commend itself to people at large.

In the first place this is no time for a move of this sort. There are thousands of people out of work in the cities. Industries and individuals are complaining of the burden of taxation, and the incomes of many people not only in the cities but on farms as well have been reduced to almost the vanishing point.

There is another angle to the question which is of even more importance. The unemployment that exists in cities at the present time, and the difficulty many farmers are having in making both ends meet, is due very largely to the fact that the wages organized labor are able to extract from their employers make the price of manufactured products unduly high. This, of course, curtails buying and results in injury to both agriculture and industry.

The Government should set organized labor an example and if it cannot see its way clear to lowering the salaries it pays to its members, it certainly should not raise them. It is argued, of course, that Cabinet Ministers can earn large salaries in other lines of work. This may be true, but the services of a public man cannot, and should not, be measured in dollars and cents. If Premier Ferguson were the head of a commercial organization the thing would be entirely different, because the services of some men in such an institution might be worth only $300 a year and other men might be underpaid with a salary of $30,000 a year.

Men should go into public life for the good they can do, not for what they can get out of it. Theodore Roosevelt, once said that his experience was that men frequently did their best work when they were paid nothing for it, and we think he was right. While we believe public men should receive some remuneration for their services we are confident that farmers and almost everybody else will be opposed to Premier Ferguson's latest proposal.

ARM BORED AT FOUNDRY

Yesterday forenoon Wm. Davidson met with a serious and very painful accident at Ernst Bros. foundry. While using the boring machine he got his arm under and the forearm was horribly lacerated. He managed to twist his arm out before it was altogether pierced. The extent of injury to muscles and bone was definitely known but it was put at. —Mt. Forest Confederation.

Mr. Carter, having settled his disagreement with the Egyptian government, has reopened the tomb of Tutankhamun. He found nothing disturbed, but unfortunately the beautiful funeral pall that covered the sarcophagus, the only relic of the kind ever recovered from the Egyptian tombs, was nearly ruined. The pall had been removed from the tomb, and the Egyptian officials would not permit any further care to be taken of it than to cover it with canvas as it lay on the sand. The exposure was fatal to it.

Cheer up. It will soon be time to figure out your income tax again.

That the United States is becoming the banker of Europe is made manifest by the fact that in 1924 she loaned to the governments and business corporations of the Old World the sum of $1,208,438,394, a sum equal to all her foreign financial investments before the war.
