ANNUAL

MEETING

Of Citizens Held in the City Hall on Monday Evening-During the Year.

at the annual meeting of citizens and ratepayers held in the city hall on Monday evening. Mayor Smith occupied the chair and in his opening address replied to the criticisms made at the meeting held the Monday previous. He upheld what the council of 1908 had done, and claimed that the council had held the expenditure down to as low a level as possible. He did not think that the salaries paid to officials was too high. The taxation was high but not too high for the conveniences enjoyed by the citizens. He advocated .... building of a trunk sewer and the enlargement of the water mains from the springs to the city. He also favored a change it the manner of electing aldermen and thought that there should be one alderman from each ward as well as five others from the city as a whole

In conclusion he claimed that while he might have made mistakes, he had tried to do his duty and hoped he retired with the goodwill, confidence and respect of the citizens.

Each of the aldermen then made their reports dealing with the departments of which each was a head. Ald. Peverett for Finance; Ald. Mc-Donald for waterworks; Ald. Ball for fire and light; Ald. Thomson for health and relief; Ald. Wright for correct. parks and boulevards; Ald. Gillespie for works; Ald. Sinton for reception, Ald. Kramer for markets; Ald. Wilkinson for city hall, and Ald. Kusch for cemeteries.

The financial statement presented appears elsewhere in this issue.

Living Increased with Wage

The average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mechani cal industries of the country were 3.7 per cent. higher in 1907 than in 1906, while retail prices for food were 4.2 per cent higher, according to the July report of the United States Bureau of Labor. The regular hours of labor per week were four-tenths of 1 per cent. lower, and the number of employees in the establishments investigated by the bur eau showed an increase of 1 per cent. The purchasing power of an hour wage, as measured by food, was les in 1907 than in 1906, the decreas being one-half of 1 per cent.

The report shows that, as compar ed with the average for the ten year wage per hour in 1907 was 28.8 pe cent higher, the number of employee 44.4 per cent. greater and a decrease of 5 per cent. in the average working hours per week. The retail price of principle articles of food was 20. per cent. higher in 1907 than for the period 1890 to 1899. Compared with the average for the same ten year's period the food purchasing power of an hour's wage in 1907 was 6.8 per cent. greater.

The report adds that the greatest increase in wages per hour in the manufacture of cotton goods, the increase being 12.9 per cent. In the paper and wood pulp industry there was an increase in wages per hour of 10.1 per cent; in silk, woolen and worsted goods industry 6.4 per cent.; in glass industry and street and sewer work, increase of 5.6 per cent. Of the establishments investigated two showed an increase of 19 per cent. in hourly wages, eight industries an increase of 5 per cent., and thirty industries an increase of less than 5 per cent. In one industry-iron and steel-there was a decrease of 0.9 per By-la cent. in wages. The investigation No. made by the Bureau covers those in- 105 dustries in which the wages paid in 122 one year were $10,000,000 or more. The report represents the retail price of thirty staple commodities as sold in sixty-eight localities in the United States by 1,014 dealers. Retail prices of food in 1907 were high- 165 er than in any other year of the 274 eighteen year period above named .-Exchange.

Calendars for 1909.

The presentation work of art which 333 The Regina Steam Laundry is presenting to their patrons this Christmas is certainly well worth sceiving It is well known that the calendars which this firm presents to their patrons are always the best, this year 859 The Regina Steam Laundry lave gone even better and in their work 360 of art "Sysonby" they are presenting a subject which will appeal to all. "Sysonby" was the king of American race horses. To make the gift more acceptable a well written career of this great horse accompanies each 423 calendar.

For their many patrons having offices, another subject has been secured. A beautiful reproduction of Gaston Roulett's clever painting "In the 427 Harbor. Venice." This is a very large calendar, specially designed for

You will be able to see a display of these calendard in the windows of the Regina Pharmacy, 1719 Scarth St. on Dec. 7th, 8th, 9th. Immediately after, patrons will receive orders entitling them to their calendar.

A POSSIBLE CLAIM

· Supporters of the government may however, justly claim that many of these reforms are not serious. In the late election the amount of fraud the government campaign funds raised by corporations and contractors doing business with the government was the largest on record. Up to the present time, months after the act became law, appointments to the civil service are still made by patronage and not by merit, and we shall have scores of salaries voted "notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Civil Service Act." Rural mail delivery has made little progress since the election. The railtributions by marine contractors is shut out. While the patronage list is said to be abolished, the people whose names are on it continue to do husiness with the government.

But while the government is not honestly carrying out the principles of the Conservative platform, it has paid Mr. Borden and his party. the high compliment of trying to make people believe that this policy is enforced.

SINECURE MINISTERS

The proposed establishment of the Department of Labor as a separate portfolio recalls the pledge of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's party in opposition to reduce the number of departments and abolish several cabinet offices. Instead of doing this the government has already increased the establishment by restoring the heads of customs and excise department to cabinet rank with full salaries, while retaining the department of commerce to which port of their work has been assigned by the previous government. The net result was an increase of $3,329,608 63 $4,000 in ministers' salaries and the creation of a sinecure office for Sir held for twelve years. Three depart-Council and Trade and Commerce chiefs, yet the government is creatter, whereas anyone of the above ment of labor without sensibly increasing its work.

As a result of Commissioner Cas sel's inquiry at St. John, New Brunswick, the agent of the Marine Department for that district, the engineer of a government cruiser, and the New Brunswick inspector of light have been suspended for taking presents and obtaining loans from contractors with the department. It may be noted that the contractors who gave these favors are all active party men. Charles Macdonald of the St. John Iron Works, who made several advances to the agent, and gave presents to the engineer, was one of the campaign speakers in the recent election for the Minister of Public Works, and his colleague in St. John. B. Macaulay, who made some presents to the agent and frequently exchanged cheques with him, was one of the platform speakers for the government candihate in Queens Sunbury. John E. Moore, who also made advances to the officials, is one of the contractors who just before the late election purchased the St. John Telegraph, a Conservative jour-
