END OF THE WORLD.

A lot of well-meaning but ill-balanced people, who have associated themselves into an organization known as "The Lat-ter Reign of the Apostolic Church," have ne days been awaiting at Duxbury, Mass., the end of this mundane world, an event scheduled by their leaders and teachers to take place at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Yesterday came and went, and the earth did not "shed its crust"—did not, in fact, give any indication that interiorly or derma tologically it was out of order, or that as much as a tenpenny nail had been dropped into the gearing. It pursued its along at a turning rate (in that lati-tude) of nearly 700 miles an hour, just as usual.

Those Massachusetts fanatics who have in a pseudo-religious ecstacy con-templated for weeks the "end of the orld" by a cataclysm revealed only to them; are not by any means the first of their kind; it is improbable that they will be the last. The history of the world is pockmarked with the record of such fanaticism. It is an odd year in which some light-headed zealot, aspiring to be a religious leader, does not get the notion that the key to the chronology of the future has been revealed unto him, and find a following of dupes. Few who are past middle age but can recall cases like that of the Duxbury Apostles; most of us have met with peo ple who have the date of the end of the world fixed, and who are prepared with scripture to prove their reckoning. The writer has in mind one man who pub-lished a book giving his computations "the holy city, let down from on high," which was to be peopled after the earth's destruction, accompanied with minute specifications, based on Bible figures, of the number and sizes of the rooms therein! But his date is thirty years gone by, and still there is "seed Most of the men who set about fixing the "end of the world" place the date sufficiently far ahead to avoid the confutation of events; or they have some "ifs," "buts" and "howevers" to serve as stepping stones in the path of escape from the slough of failure. The Duxbury crowd believed most implicitly that the crust of the earth would "slip off" vesterday-to where we know not-and that we should all be blotted out by the molten interior thus exposed. Believing that, they were still happy; but it was the happiness of insanity. Will the awakening of to-day cure them of their delusion? Perhaps; perhaps not. To doubters who interrogated them as to probable failure, most of them indignantly refused to concede such a thing as failure to be possible. Some declared that if the end did not come on Friday, it would surely come on Friday, Septem ber 24, next year!

Why cannot people be satisfied to leave such matters to the Great Disposer of Events? Why confound such prophe cies and performances with "religion"? When the light of education and common sense becomes bright enough to illumine the many dark corners of the popular mind, such crazes will be known their proper names, and will not be ermitted to bring ridicule and contempt upon the name of religion.

PENALTY OF PROGRESS.

The progress of civilization and the advances of science present new problems daily. Wireless telegraphy and aeronautics have set before us a large pointed to Ottawa as an object lesson in class of new difficulties to be solved in the beauties of the "principle." There, adjusting individual and society rights we have been assured, was an illustraonnected therewith, and vast industrial changes may follow their general adoption. Electricity has led to a great unsettlement, and the solution of its problems has hardly yet been completed. the Ottawa "ownershippers" urging New demands have been created, and in that the Metropolitan Company's franwhich the automobile has come into genther the Ottawa Electric Company and with selves in prison, but are fed, somewhat erous industries, and has employed a vast amount of capital. It is estimated that in 1909 the output of automobiles was 89,000; it is expected that 200,000 will be built in 1910. This will have a very serious effect on the rubber trade. The price has gone up from 76 cents a to $1.96, and the visible supply of crude rubber is very low. Taking only the autos made last year, on the basis that 75 per cent, of the tires will have to be renewed, such an increase of price means considerable. The tire needs of

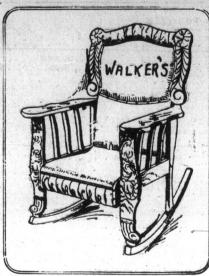

That does not take into account any earlier machine tire renewals, of which there will be many. The rise in rubber will probably add $30 to $40 to the average set of tires, and the tendency is to larger wheels. A New York taximeter cab company official says a set of tires such has his company uses has been inthe life of the set is about five months, because with the increased price of the best rubber more of an inferior quality is used. Just now, too, the New York taximeter cab rates have been reduced about one-third by civic ordinance.

So rapid are the changes produced in demand that industry, liquid as it is. demand that industry, liquid as it is, it is not hard to see the insincerity of finds it hard to accommodate itself to their cry. Think of it! the "ownershipthem quickly enough. Perhaps, however, pers" clamoring that private enterprise when we have public ownership and op-eration of everything we shall get rid of ple cheaper power and light because it all such difficulties. How, we do not would discredit the "ownership" theory just see; but maybe discoverers and inventors who disturb sleepy councils and the "ownership" plant from "attaining governments by giving rise to them will complete municipal electrical control"!

be given the happy dispatch. Or maybe a fiat by mayor or governor will make the rubber trees yield more sap, and render collisions of aeroplanes and trespass by wireless impossible. It is all easy to those "in the faith"; to the ordinary man, society appears to be doom ed to work its way toilsomely along adjusting personal rights by the old standards, and not without more or less waste of effort in the process of leaving the old for the new, even when the new is improvement.

THEY FEAR COMPETITION.

The worshippers of municipal owner ship and operation have frequently tion of it at its best in practice. See what had been brought about in the matter of electric power and light. It is therefore a little disconcerting to find the supplying of them industry has chise should not be extended, because its been greatly affected. The rapidity with extension would mean competition with the municipal plant and cheaper power and light for the people! The plea is even made that it would render a civic monopoly and the power—"control"— it would give impossible! The Ottawa Jour-

Therefore the Metropolitan Company, Therefore the Metropolitan Company, to get a foothold, will cut prices. The consequences to both the civic electric plant and the Ottawa Electric Company will be severe. The civic plant is just meeting expenses at present. The Ottawa Electric is making only a fair dividend. Both will be hit; the civic plant worst, because it is the smallest; it does only one-aird the business of the Ottawa Electric, and so any cut in rates must hurt it more proportionately than the larger concern. larger concern.

So, "municipal operation" in Ottawa is dependent for success on excluding competition. The Metropolitan Company has to live by its product : it must make a profit; yet the Journal fears that th city plant cannot exist and compete with it. Alas, for the boasted success of the 'principle' in the capital! When the 'ownership' advocates cannot contemplate without alarm the competition of a private company, operated on business principles, but suggest (as the Journal does) that it should be prohibited from lowering rates—that it should "safe guard the civic plant by an agreement to place its rates for lighting under civic control," so that prices should never be made lower than the "ownership" prices, should not be permitted to give the peo-

CUTICURA PROVED ITS WONDERFUL EFFICACY

"I am now eighty years old and one morning, three years ago, I was taken with a hard pain in my right side. In two days I had an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor gave me some medicine and an ointment for them which helped me some but I had to keep using them all the time. Then I changed to the P-remedy; but if I did not use it everyday, I would get worse. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. At this time, about a year ago, I went to using the S- remedies. I tried them for four or five months but did not get much help for my piles. During this time sores would come on a fleshy part of my body. They bothered me all the time. I would get one healed and another would come. These sores changed to eczema, accompanied by a terrible itching. It seemed as if I could not keep my hands from tearing my flesh. This and the pile trouble brought on an inflamed condition. Then I got the Cuticura Remedies. I washed the affected parts with Cuticura Scap and warm water in the morning, at noon, and at night, then used Cuticura Remedies. I also took Cuticura Remedies in a fairly healthy state and then I treate my state and then I treate my state in a fairly healthy state and then I treate my state and then I treate my state and then I treate my state went. EARL GREY'S SENTIMENTS.

(Canadian Courier.)

(Canadian Courier.)

Earl Grey, at the inauguration of the Women's Canadian Club of Vancouver, gave a stirring address upon subjects which are engaging the highest philanthropic efforts of the day. Amongst other things His Majesty's representative said: "Whatever advantages the city may possess in position, in natural beauty, climate, in the physions of its cit. may possess in position, in natural beauty, climate, in the physique of its citizens, all these advantages will count for nothing if the women by their example and influence do not lead the community in the direction of righteousness, sacrifice and service." He had no words of encouragement for the suffragette, but rather for the domestic woman, the "angel of the hearth," and in her hands he left the well-being of Canada. He declared with Roosevelt and other authorities on the subject, that the woman who served her country best was she

All who follow closely the signs of the times are bound to confess that there is a strong, refining, Christianising principle permeating and enriching modern life, which is directly traceable to the enobling influence of feminity, and today as ever, men, strong and courageous as they be, look to womankind for that tenderness and sympathy which alone spurs them on to greater deeds.
