Must Not Wait For Tax Collector

Heavy contributors to the federal income tax revenue may be familiar with the important changes made during the last year in 1914 act, but surprisingly few of the people questioned on the subject know, or realize what the 1920 amendments mean to them. The most radical change is the requirement that each person liable to be taxed must pay up voluntarily without waiting for a tax bill or any other intimation of indebtedness to the government.

The citizen must not now wait until he is asked for his tax; nor may he leave the calculation of his amount to the officials. He is now called on to calculate it himself and pay it without being asked. Along with his return showing his income, he must send in, by April 30th, 1921, at least one-quarter of the actual tax which he reckons himself liable for. If he puts the figure too low he becomes immediately and automatically liable to heavy penalties. He must apply for his form and fill it out—not waiting until one is sent him.

Everyone with an income of $1,000 a year, or $2,000 if he or she is married, who ordinarily resides in Canada, or has lived in Canada, 183 days during the year, or is employed or carries on business in Canada, or is paid for services rendered in Canada, is liable to the tax.

The normal tax is four per cent on incomes up to $5,000 and eight per cent on incomes exceeding that figure. There is also a surtax on incomes of more than $5,000, and this rises in regular steps, from one per cent on the first $1,000 over the $5,000 to sixty-five per cent on anything more than $1,000,000.

The first $1,000 of course is exempted if the tax payer is single or without dependents. If married this exemption is increased to $2,000. A single with dependent child, brother or sister under eighteen, or with a

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.

Dead Man Called Back By Science

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Charles McMahon, an inventor, is said to have been called back to life for a brief instant into the realm beyond here today at the Hospital and lived to tell of it. The man was dead for several minutes, according to physicians, but science was called in to bring him back to life.

"Yes, I was dead," admitted McMahon. "I suppose I was dead long enough to have impressions. I was conscious of my soul leaving my body for a brief instant, but I cannot remember well. The stuff they revived me with must have acted too quickly. However, I was conscious of a burning fever and a terrible thirst. Maybe I was going to the other place," and he smiled grimly.

McMahon was operated upon at the hospital by Dr. Thomas W. Parson, assisted by several internes. The operation was for double hernia and four teeth were extracted and adenoids and tonsils removed.

Ether was administered as the anesthetic, and while McMahon was under the influence of it he sank to the dividing line between life and death. His heart stopped beating. The "hearing" of lungs, stimulated by the ether, grew faint, and then stopped entirely, and all the breath left his body.

Life apparently had become extinct. A mirror was placed to the man's mouth—the old test of life—and no pulsature gathered.

But the physicians would not give up the fight for the man's life. They resorted to oxygen. While death was already in possession—or hovering to claim the body—the three surgeons and nurses fought the dread specter.

When McMahon was finally wheeled into his room at the hospital and opened his eyes, the first thing he said to his wife was:

"Am I still alive?"

Then he said later: "They didn't think they would ever bring me back here. They expected to see me downstairs, you see."

"I am sorry that I cannot solve the question of spiritualism, but I am thankful to be alive, you can bet."

Favors Appeals To The Privy Council

Montreal, Feb. 15.—The Star prints the following cable today: At Lord Beaverbrook's banquet to the Canadian curlers, Lord Birkenhead, British lord chancellor, who is president of the judicial committee of the privy council, made an important announcement on the Canadian suggestion to eliminate the right of Canadian appeal to this the last court of judgment within the empire. Lord Birkenhead said: "Nobody has ever been so foolish as to suppose that the usefulness of this recourse to the judicial committee could survive the slightest restiveness or impatience if that existed in the Dominion of Canada. If this recourse should be ended in the lifetime of any here it will be ended at the instance and desire of the Canadian communities and will, of course, be ended without the slightest feeling, and, on the contrary, with the most complete sympathy amongst those of us here who deal with these matters. But I may be forgiven if I hope that this jurisdiction, safeguarded in any way that may be desired, will survive."

GOT THEIR MONEY BACK

The baby started crying at the theatre and an usher warned the parents that if they couldn't stop it they must get their money back and leave. The baby was silenced, but towards the end of the act the mother began to be bored. "Don't think much of this play after all," she said.

NEW USE FOR AVIATION SHEDS

AFTER many years of waiting a covered skating rink has been secured for the Gentlemen Cadets at the Royal Military College at Kingston, and the acquisition of this building will give a great impulse to our national game—"hockey." Hitherto the Royal Military College hockey teams have had to get along the best they could, using the open ice on the lake and occasionally the city rink at Kingston. These limitations interfered materially with the quality of the game. On the demobilization of the Royal Air Force in Canada and the abandonment of the aviation camps at different points some suitable buildings, originally designed for and used as flight sheds (or aeroplane hangars) became available, and through the kindness of Sir Joseph Flavelle, Bart., Chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, under whose direction these aviation camps were originally established, two of the flight sheds, each 130 feet long by 68 feet wide, were secured to form the basis of the new covered skating rink. The many friends of the Royal Military College were not slow in taking advantage of this opportunity and in coming forward to assist in carrying out the idea. The Canadian National Railways, through the courtesy of Mr. D. E. Hanna, its president, and the Grand Trunk Railway System, through the courtesy of its president, Mr. Howard G. Keiley, have undertaken to free-freight the material of the sheds from Camp Mohawk to the point nearest to the Royal Military College, to Kingston. Sir Herbert S. Holt, who is deeply in everything that makes for the welfare of the Royal Military College, has generously financed the undertaking, and a contract for the removal and reconstruction of the flight sheds above referred to, has been let to the Kingston Construction Company, who now have the work in hand. The Minister of Militia and Defence has approved of a site within the college grounds on which the covered rink will be erected. Mr. F. L. Wanklyn, General Executive Assistant of the Canadian Pacific, who is also deeply interested in the welfare of the college, has taken charge of all the work in connection with the carrying out of the scheme. The rink, when completed, will be substantially as shown in the above illustration. The main building will be 240 feet by 68 feet wide, and the height from the underside of the roof trusses to the ice level will be 18 feet. Commodious dressing and locker rooms, 25 feet square, will be provided at one end, over which a gallery for spectators, capable of seating 300 persons, will be provided. The main sheet of ice will be 215 feet by 68 feet wide and this will, in the opinion of well known hockey experts (Messrs. "Billy" Hern and Col. Walter Mangham) make a most satisfactory hockey rink. The building will be well lighted by windows all round and with electric lights for the evenings. The outside will be neatly finished in cement rough-cast and present a generally attractive appearance. The originators of this project have received many congratulations from a host of friends interested in the Royal Military College.

Advertising A Public Necessity.

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage.

They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully.

The dry goods merchant, grocer, jeweller, or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.
