According to Serbian reports the battle at Zhetova, near Istip, yesterday, was a serious one. Whether this outbreak will obstruct the projected Russian arbitration by strengthening the war party, will be seen when Premier Pashitch, with his reconstructed ministry, meets the Skupstina at an extraordinary session today. A rumour gained currency in Belgrade to-day that the Pashitch Cabinet had again resigned, but this is not confirmed. It is quite possible that reports of the battle, of which no news has been received from the Bulgarian side may be greatly exaggerated.

BELGRADE, June 26.

The official report says that when the Servians went into action, heavy forces of Bulgarians broke and fled, leaving many dead and wounded, and abandoning all the positions they had besieged in Servian territory. According to advices, 1,500 Bulgarian troops with 500 bomb-throwers, attacked the Servian position at Zletova. Eventually the Servians charged with fixed bayonets, and all along the line the Bulgarians retreated. The combined losses exceeded 500 men.

LONDON, June 26.

In honor of Alexandra Day, a bunch of roses was put up at auction yesterday, at Christie's, during the sale of Sir John Murray Scott's collection, and was purchased by Bond Street dealers for $42. Scores of peonies have been selling roses in the streets to-day, the money going to the charities in which Queen Alexandra is interested. London was a garden, everyone from the peer to the costermonger, wearing them. Every vehicle had pink and white flowers somewhere. Twenty thousand women acted as sellers. President Poincare paid $25 at York House for a small garland. No one escaped. Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Queen Mary, drove through the city. As she passed through the Strand, she handed roses, with which her carriage was full, to several poor people who ran out from the curb to receive them. As the two Queens drove without an escort, there was no one to hinder the receipt of them, and this incident was noted with much enthusiasm by the spectators.

LONDON, June 26.

Contrary to expectations the Terra Nova will not be brought to London for exhibition. She has been repurchased by Messrs. ### Will Men Wash The Dishes When Women Vote?

Will men go to the kitchen when women go to the polls? Will they sweep and iron and scrub and darn? It might be almost worth while to have a man do these things if he would only dress as attractively as a woman does when the work is done.

Anything that would keep the average man from looking like the average tramp would be well worth while. And, if making him do housework for six hours a day will do it, by all means make him do housework.

Our men have not learned—or will not learn—to wear clothes. That is why any woman who goes abroad for a season comes back perfectly willing to sell her husband for cash or let him go cheap in part trade.

Now there are some thousands of you men, reading this little tirade to-day and it will only occur to about half of you that you are the one being talked about.

You won't look down at your own baggy pants; you won't stop to think of your own shaggy shirt and frayed collars; it will never occur to you that your own splay-shoes are under discussion.

You will probably stop for a moment and say, 'That's so; Newfoundland men are a pretty shabby lot as a matter of fact.'

But you are the one we are talking to. They are your pants and your shirts and ties and shoes that are under discussion.

So, suppose you take the lecture to heart and resolve to reform.

The advertising in this paper will show you the way. There is everything here that will convert you into a well-dressed man. Column after column of this advertising news is waiting for you now.

These ads will tell you just where to go to get the best to be had for the least to be paid.

Turn over these pages now. Read each ad carefully. Then take stock of your own careless clothes and go out and reform.

Students Use Soda Syphons on Professors.

New York, June 21.—A London cable says:

Lively scenes marked the summer graduation ceremony at Glasgow University, yesterday. Principal Sir Donald MacAlister, who presided, was accompanied by Lord Provost Stevenson, whose recent attitude toward Lord Roberts' campaign has been causing some feeling among the students.

When the civic chief appeared he was greeted with stentorian cries of "Put out the Lord Provost!"

Several professors left the platform and mixed among the undergraduates to restore order, but the students aimed themselves with seltzer water syphons and easily succeeded in routing the Professors. The capping ceremony was carried out practically in dumb show.

Bubonic Plague Raging in Hayti.

Port au Prince, Hayti, June 17.—An epidemic of bubonic plague has broken out at the seaport of Jacmel, 30 miles from here.

Numerous cases have been reported, of which many have resulted fatally.

Jacmel has been isolated from the rest of the country by a cordon of troops, and the government is taking energetic steps to prevent the spread of the disease.

The administrative authorities here, in spite of the detailed reports from Jacmel, deny the existence of bubonic plague there.

Murderers Send Body To Varsity Laboratory

Rome, June 17.—The police have just discovered that a wealthy old man, named Benzullo, and his nephew, who disappeared six years ago, were enticed to a house and murdered by Camorristas, and that subsequently, the bodies of the murdered men were sent to the anatomical laboratory of the University where they were dissected. In this way all trace of the murderers was destroyed.

The Regatta.

Preparations for this event are going on apace. The committee meets to-night to discuss business.

The amateurs for the Nellie R. had another spin on the harbour in the Cabot and if practice will count they are sure to be fit.

Most of the intending crews for the Regatta will begin practicing on the Lake next week. All the press crews will start on Monday evening.

The H. M. S. Sirius will be represented in the Naval Race.

CARBONAR, June 26.

Conference this morning was addressed by the Rev. James G. Moore, D. D., a native of this town, but now Presiding Elder of the Grand Forks District of the North Dakota Methodist Episcopal Church, and by the Rev. Dr. Endicott, of Toronto. In the afternoon the missionary report was presented and discussed, the announcement being made that to-day Newfoundland Methodism is nearly self-sustaining. For the coming year $20,000 is the figure aimed at for missions. A motion to have a local superintendent for Missions only was rejected. To-night the Conference Missionary Meeting will be held, the scheduled speakers being Rev. Dr. Endicott, and Rev. W. T. D. Dunn, a former pastor of the Conference Church. — Daily News.
