Harbor Grace Notes.

S.S. Sagona, after landing the crew of the S.S. Diana, arrived in port on Wednesday morning, 29th ult. from the icefields, and discharged her seals, numbering 8,908, at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's premises. She finished discharging on Friday afternoon and left port again in the early morning.

Flippers were on sale while the Sagona was here, the price per dozen being $1.00 and $1.20.

Rev. (Dr.) Fenwick, of St. John's, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church here yesterday (Sunday), both at the morning and evening service. He also addressed the Methodist Sunday School in the afternoon. Rev. W. H. Browning, pastor of the church, has been ill for the past few days.

The death occurred at Bryant's Cove on the 25th inst., of Dorothy, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. Walter Noel of that place. She had been suffering from Scarlet Fever and the house was under quarantine. The little girl is a grandchild of Mrs. Stephen Butt of this town. Our sympathy goes out to the family in the loss of their dear one.

The "flu"—though only of a mild type—seems to be with us, and a good number of our people are confined to their homes suffering from same.

Capt. Wm. Day, of Green's Harbor, T.E., was in town last week on a brief visit.—COR.

Saving His Face.

A recent writer on the old-time merchant marine says that the first steamship to visit China was the Jamesina from Bombay. When she entered the Canton River and in accordance with old custom had taken on her Chinese pilot at Lintin she resumed her course, proceeding under steam against wind and tide. The pilot showed no curiosity and asked no questions. Soon in a perfectly matter-of-course manner he began to give directions to the helmsman, such directions as he would have given if the Jamesina had been a sailing vessel. That was too much for the British captain, and he called the pilot's attention to the fact that the ship was propelled not by wind but by steam.

"Oh," replied the Chinese coolly, "it is a method that is no secret in some parts of the empire; it was common once, but it has now for some time fallen into disuse!"

Just Folks

Dear Guest

AGE AND BOYHOOD.

When Age considers Roguish Twelve it ought to look through kindly eyes.

Is wisdom were the gift of youth, then little children would be wise.

They took him to a lecture hall, a healthy youngster twelve years old.

Just what to do and how to act the little fellow had been told.

Now lectures may be proper stuff to pour in grown-up people's ears.

But where's the boy of twelve who cares about "The Mystery of the Spheres?"

They sat him in a straight backed chair and soon the lecturer began:

Deep in the lore of ancient life the heavy-fringed curtains rank.

The youngster shifted in his seat, annoying people round about.

Then suddenly exclaimed aloud: "Gee whiz, I wish you'd take me out!"

He squirmed and twisted, moved his chair, and dropped his marbles on the floor.

He yawned at a healthy boyish yawn, and then they showed him to the door.

His parents followed, red with shame, and those who round about them sat.

Wondered what they were thinking of to let the boy behave like that.

But I maintain the lad was right, and good as twelve year old can be—

They ask too much who want a boy to be as grave as fifty-three.

The fault all lies with grim old Age, which is severe and stern and cold.

And look for grown-up conduct in a healthy boy just twelve years old.

"...and we are a healthy, happy family now"

—J. R. Cowell

TINGLING with abundant energy, appetites hearty, nerves strong and steady and their faces radiant with the glow of perfect health, the entire family of J. R. Cowell, well-known fruit grower, R. F. D. No. 1, Fruitland, near Hamilton, Ont., are an eloquent tribute to the powers of Tanlac, the greatest family medicine the world has ever known.

"I have put Tanlac to the test many times right in my own family and it hasn't failed me once," declared Mr. Cowell. "It not only overcame a case of stomach trouble and rheumatism of eight years' standing for me, but it keeps every member of my family healthy, happy and strong. We are delighted with it."

And the experience of this family is only typical of thousands of others whose statements are on file in the Tanlac office. Hardly a day passes that does not bring scores of such messages of praise from every part of Canada and the U.S. from families where mother, father, son and daughter have all found health, contentment and the joys of living through simply taking a course of Tanlac.

Take, for instance, the case of Mrs. Agnes Moorecroft, 60 Galt Ave., Toronto, Ont., who says: "Ever since Tanlac restored my health and built me up twenty pounds two years ago, it has been the family medicine at my house. It keeps us all so well and strong you would hardly find a healthier, happier family."

Or that of William H. Gibbons, 711 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, well-known passenger conductor on the Canadian Pacific R.R. He says: "We have all tried Tanlac several times, always with remarkable results. It keeps the entire family in the finest health and we think there's no medicine to equal it."

In Montreal, Mrs. Anabelle Wright, 32 LaSalle Road, writes: "We will never be without Tanlac in our house after the remarkable way it has built up my daughter and myself to where we are the very picture of health."

Representative of Nova Scotia is the case of Richard H. Weeks, 18

Would Eliminate Old Doctrine.

Mr. Justice Darling's decision upholding the old doctrine which preaches that a British woman concerned in a crime in the presence of her husband is legally held to have acted under his coercion, is expected to result in the enactment of new legislation. Women's organizations are moving in the matter, considering that this survival of ancient law is anomalous in modern days. Lady Astor, in an interview, said she thought the ancient law of coercion was perfectly ridiculous and out-of-date. She considered that if women demanded sex equality in the political and professional world they should also be prepared to accept the same treatment at law as men.

Preferential Tariff.

BETWEEN CANADA AND JAMAICA.
Kingston, Jamaica.—Figures released by the Canadian Trade Commissioner at Kingston clearly indicate the influence of the Preferential Tariff existing between Canada and Jamaica.

In the last nine months of 1921, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year, Canadian imports of Jamaican hides and skins and spice doubled; imports of Jamaican coconuts, raw cocones and coffee trebled; grape fruit quadrupled in value, and vegetable oils increased by fourteen times their previous bulk. Shipments of raw sugar from this colony likewise increased by 4,000,000 pounds. These figures cover the first period during which the Canada-West Indies trade agreement of 1920 was operative.

Secrets of Sight.

When we state that we "see" an object we believe that we actually see the thing itself, whereas all that our eye takes in is the light which is reflected from the object. This light, by reason of the varying shadows and strengths, gives us our impression of what the object looks like—which is the reason that the same thing will often appear to be different to a number of persons.

Because light is necessary to "sight," it follows that the absence of light will prevent sight and make the things which surround us totally invisible. Without light, our eyes are useless; and even the light itself is scarcely more necessary than reflection, as may be proved by looking into a mirror and then into a sheet of plain glass. The former, on account of the reflection obtained by the coating of mercury at the back, reflects the light. The latter reflects only a portion of it from its polished surface, and the image which we see is in the nature of a vision. If anyone could invent a scientifically perfect black paint which would absorb all light and reflect none, he would solve the riddle of invisibility, for it would be impossible to see such objects even in the brightest of sunlight.

Personal.

At the recent examinations at McGill University Mr. J. O. Fraser, son of Dr. Fraser, passed with honours in Physiological Chemistry and Bacteriology.

Colonel W. H. Franklin, C.B.E., D.S.O., was due in England at the end of March. Col. Franklin, who is Trade Commissioner at Nairobi, Kenya Colony, left his post on February 15th for an official visit to the United Kingdom.

A Geographical Mistake.

Every schoolboy knows that the name "America" refers to the explorer Americus Vesputi, but comparatively few know of the circumstances which led up to the bestowal of this name, rather than that of Columbus, upon the New World.

Major, the expert on the science of map-drawing, has shown that the appellation "America" first appeared on the map of the world drawn by no less an artist than Leonardo da Vinci, and he explains the circumstances which led up to its adoption as follows:—

"In May, 1507, just a year after the death of Columbus, a man named Martin Waldseemuller wrote a book to which was appended a Latin account of the four voyages of Vesputi. In this book Waldseemuller proposed that the name 'America' should be given to the New World, in honour of Vesputi, whom he supposed was the discoverer of the continent."

"In 1508 the first engraved map containing the New World appeared in an edition of Ptolemy, printed at Rome; but this does not bear the name America. But in 1509 this name appears as it was already accepted as a well-known denomination in an anonymous work entitled 'Globus Mundi,' published at Strasburg. The map of the world of Leonardo da Vinci, presumably issued in 1514, has the name America across the South American continent as well as the North—thus a Dutch author and an Italian artist contrived, possibly without malice, to rob Columbus of at least some of the fruits of his courage and perseverance."

Millionaire's Son.

Sent to Jail

John Duval Dodge, only son of the late John Dodge, multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer, on March 18 was sentenced to five days in jail and to pay a fine of $100 for speeding.

Judge Bartlett, in imposing sentence, intimated that contempt proceedings may be instituted against the young millionaire for his failure to appear in court at 2 p.m., the time ordered in the warrant. Dodge, with his wife and attorney, arrived in Detroit at 4.30 p.m. from Kalamazoo, where he has been held in connection with a "boy-riding" episode in which a young woman was injured when she leaped from his car in an effort to escape.

Dodge pleaded guilty to the charge against him. Hundreds of persons thronged the court room as sentence was passed. A request from the young man's attorney that he be granted bail "in any amount" was curtly refused by Judge Bartlett, and in company with a score of other speed-law violators, Dodge was taken over

CROUP.

Mrs. W. Furness,

Hillside, Sask., writes:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Linseed & Turpentine with great benefit for my little boy, age three years. He was very sick with croup, so I sent for a large bottle of Dr. Chase's Linseed & Turpentine. The first few doses greatly eased the choking feeling, so I continued to give it to him, and before the first bottle was finished he was quite well again. I also have three other boys, all of them subject to croup, and I never give them anything except Dr. Chase's Linseed & Turpentine. I always keep a bottle in the house and would not be without it as we live so far from town and croup or cold come on so suddenly."

Breaking It Gently.

A New York silk merchant was the Bank to get his note renewed.

"I am sorry," said the banker, "it will be absolutely impossible for me to renew your note."

The silk merchant's face paled, and a moment of thought he looked at the banker and said:

"Were you ever in the silk business?"

"Why of course not," said the banker.

"Well, you're in it now," said the silk merchant as he picked up his hat and went out.—Cincinnati Enquirer
