A Chevrolet one-ton truck with Automatic Dump Body is a very reliable and sturdy unit, for hauling sand, coal, gravel and all loose materials, and a boon to contractors because all kinds of hauling can be done so quickly and economically.

The upper tail gate pins are removable to put tail gate in a horizontal position, making a general all-purpose body. The use of this truck is not restricted to loose materials, but boxes, barrels, packages of any kind may be handled with great efficiency.

This truck is equipped with the powerful, efficient and economical Chevrolet Engine, and is fitted with a three speed transmission, that makes hauling the full load over heavy grades, easy to the driver and at double the speed of any other truck of its size.

We also supply any style of stationary body to suit your requirements. We will gladly mail you catalog upon request.

The Claim of the Widow

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—In your issue of the 22nd inst. it was pleasing to see that the British House of Commons had unanimously agreed to a motion for the establishment of pensions for all widows with children or others whose breadwinners are incapable. It is time that a move in the same direction should be made on behalf of the destitute of our little country, for there are many poor mothers who have been deprived of their breadwinners' ability to procure the necessities of life who have had to struggle against crushing odds to keep the wolf from the door, and whose pride has often concealed the real conditions existing within the privacy of her home.

I have in mind instances such as the above of mothers who have had to face the future after seeing their helpmates taken from them by a lingering illness or otherwise, and who have absolutely nothing to console them apart from the knowledge that they would be added to the pauper's list and receive the miserable pittance of about $2.50 per month to help support from one to six or more bodies. The dependents of those who are lost at sea, or of those who paid the Supreme price in the recent struggle for Democracy have something to console them from a financial standpoint, but for those who are deprived of their loved one through ordinary physical disability there is no provision made by the State but the humiliating pauper's dole.

The argument may be raised that there are orphanages, but what mother who has a real mother's heart would not rather deprive herself of what is required to sustain life so that she could keep her little brood around her, and instead of leaving them with strangers have the comfort of attending to their various needs. I have nothing but kind thoughts for those who are the guardians of the fatherless and motherless who come under their care, but there are many through varying circumstances who are not so fortunate and who should be cared for by the State in which they exist.

As this present juncture should be an opportune time to consider such matters as the above, and I hope that others may get interested and let the public have their views so that provision may be made for the adequate maintenance of many who are neglected, and who in later years may become a liability instead of the asset that they would be if properly treated now.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE TUCKER.

Vera Gordon in Powerful Drama

"YOUR BEST FRIEND" TELLS IT.
TENSELY HUMAN STORY WELL
PORTRAYED.

Once more Vera Gordon is seen in the role of a mother in the Warner Brothers picture, "Your Best Friend," at the Nickel Theatre. It will be shown again to-night.

The performance of Miss Gordon in this her latest picture is a masterful characterization. She is first seen in a modest home; a lonely middle-aged widow. Apparently without any knowledge of her son's doings, she is introduced to his wife. She welcomes the girl who is accompanied by her mother who immediately strikes the observer as a designing woman. And the observer is not disappointed in his opinion as the action progresses.

Now the daughter-in-law and mother are extremely cold to the widow Mrs. Meyers. They look with disdain at the modest furnishings of an equally modest home, and when Mrs. Meyers attempts to manifest a motherly interest in them they back away as though feeling from the plague.

The ambitious son of the family takes his mother to live in an apartment in the upper West End, an exclusive residential section. Here Mrs. Meyers sees her hard earned cash being squandered by her daughter-in-law and mother who revel in gay parties and social teas. During the remainder of this film Miss Gordon is made to suffer all the pangs of a mother who lives mainly to see that her two sons are happy. Her true worth is finally appreciated, and in the course of this appreciation a wonderfully human interest drama is unfolded.

Horse Dines in Comfort From New Nose Bag

Inventive ability and a love of horses combined to perfect this feed bag. The old type of bag made simultaneous eating and breathing painful and sometimes barely possible for a horse. Moreover, in the struggle, the hungry animal often lost an exasperatingly large portion of his oats. The new bag has a reservoir on each side, from which the feed drops into the nose portion as this container is emptied. The roominess of the bag permits the entry of plenty of air for the horse to breathe.

The Women's League for Animals is responsible for the perfection of the bag and is urging its universal use.

Obituary.

MARGARET CAMPBELL.

It is a sad, melancholy privilege to chronicle the sudden passing to the Great Beyond of Mrs. Margaret Campbell, beloved wife of Michael Campbell, Branch. The deceased was 51 years old and at the time was suffering from a contagious disease. Recovery was expected, but the deceased contracting a cold, a relapse of the disease was the result. In spite of the aid given by dear ones and friends the patient, fortified by the last rites of Holy Church, passed away quite peacefully. She leaves behind a husband, three sons, one daughter to mourn a dutiful wife, a fond and watchful mother. To these bereaved ones the sympathy of the whole community goes out. The deceased held a member of B.V.S. received the spiritual benefit of Requiem High Mass, which was celebrated by the Parish Priest. The funeral took place on January 28th, a large concourse of people following the remains to the cemetery, where interment took place. R.I.P.

ONLY CIRCUMSTANTIAL.
Following a dinner of savants, a certain professor of psychology thought he would test a colored clock attendant as to his memory. Although the professor pretended to have mislaid his check, the boy without hesitation handed him his right hat.

"How did you know this one is mine?" asked the learned man.
"Ah don't know dat, sah."
"Then why do you give it to me?"
"Cause you give it to me when you come in, sah."
—The Forecaster.

INDUCING AN ALIBI.
"Want to join the Legion, buddy?" asked a Legionnaire of a husky young man of about his own age.
"Can't; wasn't in the service."
"Why weren't you?" the veteran demanded.

"My intentions were good," was the rather reluctant explanation. "I went to a recruiting office where they put me in a room and told me to take off my clothes. A doctor walked up to me, looked at me kinda hard, and then thumped me on the chest. I went in the habit of letting strangers get rough with me, so I thumped his chest—and I didn't get out of hospital until the war was over."
—American Legion Weekly.

This year like most all others that have gone by, will be just what we make it.

Health and Comfort in the Home.

Many a chill can be avoided by the wise use of heating with ever-ready gas stoves. An insect gas fire can easily be installed in any ordinary coal grate, and will provide the necessary warmth at any time.

Gas Fires make no work. There is no Coal to carry upstairs, and no ashes to be cleared away. They are ideal for use in daintily appointed rooms. There is no smoke or dust. They also ventilate the room. Enquiries solicited.

Nine Minstrel Acts at the Crescent To-Night

NEW SONGS, NEW SINGERS, SIDE-
SPLITTING JOKES AND SKETCH.

All is in readiness for a big rip-roaring Minstrel entertainment at the Crescent Theatre to-night and to-morrow night. The show consists of nine wonderful acts with new songs, new singers and new novelties. Hear Mr. R. Redmond sing that catchy ballad "Pal of My Dreams," and you'll agree you've heard something really worth listening to. "Just a Girl that Men Forget," will be rendered by Mr. C. Vinnicombe. That popular duet "Where the Lazy Mississippi Flows," will be rendered by Messrs. King and Neville, the harmony boys who made such notable triumphs on previous appearances. Dan Delmar sings a new novelty song entitled "Yes, I'm Goin'," and a "Swiss Yodel." The latter being one of the biggest hits direct from Broadway successes. Mr. J. Murphy another "find," will render "Dreamy Melody," and Charlie Wickman will be heard in a comic number "My Funny Old Gal." As a finale to the first part of the programme Mr. P. Smith sings "Smile Thru Your Tears," and "Pinnigan's Ball." Part two consists of an uproarious farce-comedy sketch, "Dr. Quack's Patients." If laughter is a "gleam-chaser" bring all your troubles to the Crescent to-night, and we guarantee you permanent cure, if not, we foot the bill. By all means take in this big show, and you will certainly not regret it.

SAFETY FIRST.
