A Vienna Sensation.

New York, Jan. 21.—A Vienna dispatch says an extraordinary version of the Meyerling tragedy has been published in the Vienna papers, but it is not credited in court circles. It is to the effect that Archduke Rudolf and the Baroness Vetzera Emperor Franz Josef made love to the Emperor Franz Josef made love to the Dowager Baroness Vetzera, and the heroine of the Meyerling tragedy was born to them; that when the facts were told to the Archduke Rudolf ie was so affected by the news that he offinited suicide. The only basis for the story seems to be a report that when Count Hoyos brought the news of his fate to the Emperor his Majesty exclaimed: "My son—my daughter!" The story causes much gossip.

Government has addressed a formal appeal to the great powers.

The supporters of the late Government are incensed at the dissolution of the Cortes because they are thereby likely to lose their seats. It is supposed this action was intended to enable the Cabinet to deal with England unfettered by the Cortes and to secure a majority during the tide of popularity. The Republican manifesto is weak, and does not venture to suggest a union with Spain. It has fallen flat in Lisbon and the Provinces. The party is apparently not organized. The Echonanne, the organ of the new Cabinet, appeals to the populace not to risk provoking reprisals and the ruin of the Provinces and plunging the working classes into misery. French Fishermen in Newfoundland.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—In the Chamber of PARIS, Jan. 21.-In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Flourens questioned the Government regarding the rights of the Government regarding the rights of French fishermen in Newfoundland. He contended the rights of France were violated by the pretence of the Newfoundland authorities to interpret the treaty of Utrecht in a way to exclude French fishermen from privileges they were entitled to. M. Spuller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, said France had by treaty a limited sovereignty on certain parts of the Newfoundland coast for certain purposes. But the arrangements between England and France did not accord with the views of the Newfoundfoundland Parliament, and the case was more difficult and delicate than formerly. He said negotiations are pending, but are complicated by private claims. The Minister denied the English Government had authorized an officer to notify French fishermen they could not take lobsters this season. That Government had confirmed all arrangements made by the Ministry of M. Goblet. There was no reason why the fishermen should not continue their industry. M. Flourers protested that the the Government regarding the rights of fishermen should not continue their indus ry. M. Flourens protested ights of the men were violated rights of the men were violated and the Government did not protect them as energetically as it should. M. Freppel and M. Much speculation is indulged in as to the nature of the labor legislation promised by the Government. It is taken for granted on all sides that one of the main points will be the establishmeent of a bureau of labor extisting. JANUARY SESSION.

The Ruri-decanal Chapter of Middlesez Meet and Spend the Morning in

The January meeting of the Ruri-decanal chapter of Middlesex was opened in Christ Church this morning with divine service at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. Hicks, of this city, and Rev. W. M. Shore, of Ail Craig. Among those present were Rev. A. G. Smith, of Munoey; Rev. S. R. Ashbury, of Delaware; Rev. Canon Smith; Mr. W. Rob inson, Synod delegate. Rev. Canon Richard son preached an appropriate sermon from the text, Matthew, xiii., 31-32: "The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed which a man took and sowed in his field, which indeed is the least of all seeds; but when it is grown it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof." The speaker showed the comparison between the kingdom of heaven and the mustard seed, and stated that that kingdom but meant the visible church of Christ on earth. He reviewed the growth of the Anglican Church from its organization, and dweit upon the darkness of the middle ages, which but forshadowed the brightness of the glorious revival that followed close upon it. The effects of that revival were being felt at the present day. The church of to-day was more active than ever before, and had within the reign of the present Queen erected over 600 churches in England. It had missions in every part of the known world, and its membership was estimated at the present time to be upwards of 70,000,000. He urged his listeners to remain faithful to the Church of England and not be carried away with the hollow forms of one denomination or the noisy services of another, which relied more on display than anything else.

At the conclusion of the sermon the holy communion was administered to the clergy and congregation present. Among those present were Rev. A. G. Smith, of Muncey; Rev. S. R. Ashbury,
