from impure blood, which develope scrofnlous pleers on the eyeballs, iritis, granulated eyelids, etc. In such cases Hood's Sarsaparilla has been marvelously successful in restoring sight. It shows its powers as a blood purifier and redical cure for scrofula, by removing the cause, thus curing the parts to healthy condition. Read this: "As an act of justice and for the benefit of other mothers who may have afflicted children, I write this. About the first of February, 1892, my daughter Zola, then three years old, contracted sore eyes of the worst form and in a few weeks was entirely blind, being unable to tolerate light of any kind. She suffered and cried until I was almost heartbroken. The best eye specialist in the county treated her for months, but the became worse. Then I took her to a specialist in Indianapolis, who said he could de nothing. I came away with a heavy heart. I met my father's physician, Dr. Berryman, who examined Zola's eyes, and told me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began to give it as directed and wash her eyes with warm water. Soon I began to notice improvement, and now, having given the child over a half dozen bottles, her eyes are greatly improved and she can see as well as any one. She is five years of age, and goes to school. When she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, she had to eat her meals in a darkened room, but now

DIED AFTER SEEING A SNAKE.

An 8-Year Old Boy's Fright While He Was Gathering Strawberries.

Pearl River, N. J., July 9.—Eight-year-old Frederick W. Rittenmeyer went strawberrying ten days ago. While he and his companions were on a hillside he gave a shriek and then ran screaming down the hill. Two of his companions say they saw a large blacksnake glide away from the spot where he had been kneeling when he uttered the cry. The boy was taken to his home, and Dr. Bogert, of Spring Valley, N. Y., attributed the convulsions to stomach trouble and treated the patient accordingly. The boy grew Friday. worse, the convulsions increasing in violence, while his body was much road, South London, who has been in swollen. At intervals between the jail on remand for the past week, spasms he uttered loud shricks, but he gradually lost consciousness, and Lynch sat in the court apparently for many hours before death lay in a comatose state.

He was declared dead on Tuesday night, and preparations were made for interment, when a woman who was watching with the body expressed the belief that the boy was not dead. This was communicated to the mother, who is a widow, and the funeral was deferred until yesterday, when the burial

A Rare Chance for the Juveniles-10 Cent Fare for Adults.

Preparations for children's day at Springbank are going ahead with a rush, and it is expected that Monday will be one of the busiest days in the history of the Springbank line. The news of the 5-cent return trip fare has spread all over the city, and the applications of little tots to their parents for the necessary nickels will in all probability cause a temporary shortage in the circulation of small

The children are not the only ones who will profit by the reduced fare Monday. The adult fare has been fixed for the day at 10 cents, and this will enable many a tired parent or older member of the family to take the trip with the little ones.

Already prudent people are taking advantage of the advance sale of tickets at the company's office, under the Bank of Commerce. Tickets will also be on sale on the cars on Mon-

Springbank has many attractions to the juvenile mind. The ride alone means as much to the children as a trip to Europe could to a grown person, and now that the holidays are on, parents will doubtless see that they get at least one genuine holi-At Springbank the visitor is near to nature's heart, and the day in the woods is worth more to the children than twice the price of a ticket

All possible care will be taken in the transportation of the "darlings," and their safety will also be well looked after at the grounds. A band will be present throughout the day, and the merry-go-round is now in working order And the fare is only 5 cents for the Five Bicyclists Ante Up $1 for Breach of the Law-One Drunk Goes Down.

Valentine Yeo, the youthful bicycle thief, was not sentenced this morning, but remained for another week. Mr. Love, appearing for the prisoner, submitted that the boy had pleaded guilty, and thought the crown should take into consideration the fact that the bicycle had been turned over by the boy's father, or otherwise it might never have been discovered.

The Police Magistrate-How does the conduct of the father mitigate the actions of the son?

Mr. Love-The boy has been in jail

Mr. McKillop asked that the boy be further remanded for a week. He had een committed on a charge of stealng a bicycle at Ingersoll, and should be punished. He wanted the remand made to enable him to find out particulars about the Ingersoll affair. The Police Magistrate-That will not influence me any. Mr. Love—If my learned friends wants it, I have documentary evihere of the case in Ingersoll. Here Mr. Love started to explain, but the police magistrate replied: "I don't want to hear it."

Yeo was then remanded until next Catharine Lynch, of the Wharncliffe came up on a charge of insanity. Mrs.

Mrs. McTaggart, who lives across the road, had been annoyed by the woman's foul tongue, and had been accused the same as Mrs. Bruce. She confirmed the evidence of Mrs. Bruce. She also thought the woman insane.

The magistrate committed the woman for trial. Albert Carpenter, Kenneth Andras, Geo. N. Sayers, Chas. Smith and W. J. Cox were all charged with breach of the bylaw governing bicycling. Mr. Sayers said he was returning home about 1 a.m., and rode on the sidewalk, but did not see the police-

When they returned in the house. evening they found the unfortunate girl lying on the floor, suffering terribly. Dr. Hall, of Little Britain, was sent for, and when he arrived the girl was in a comatose state, and it was with difficulty she could be aroused. In answer to the doctor she stated that she had taken a large dose of salts, but the symptoms did not indicate that the salts had been used. The doctor pressed her to give a clear answer as to the medicine she had really taken, and she confessed she had taken powdered saltpetre, which was kept in the cupboard with the salts. When asked why she had done so, she replied that she wished to end her life, as she was no good and tired of living. She died about 12:30 ____ same night.

COOPER AND SANGER MATCHED. Battle Creek, Mich., July 9 .- Tom Cooper, of Detroit, the crack of the L. A. W. circuit, and Walter Sanger, of Milwaukee, his most formidable op-ponent, were matched here yesterday for $500 a side and the biggest purse offered for a race at one mile, best two in three heats. A number of backers of the big Milwaukean were on hand with large wagers that their man can show his rear wheel to the speedy Detroit boy. The managers of Cooper and Sanger tonight decided to accept the bid of the Toronto Ferry Race Association, of Toronto, for the match race between the rival claimants of the American championship. The race will take place at Hanlan's Point, near Toronto, on Tuesday, July 21, probably in the evening. The size of the purse is not given out, but it is understood to be the largest ever competed for by bicyclists on this continent.

BICYCLE BRAKES.

The invention of the safety bicycle of today, to replace the old high wheel, was a great achievement. The invention of pneumatic tires, a substitute for hard tires, was a great achievement. A score of other inventions for the wheel have been likewise great, but, for the most part, they have been aimed more especially at beautifying and lightening the wheel and increasing the aesthetic delight and corporeal comfort for the rider. Now the public at large is in a fair way of receiving its share of the inventors' considera-tion, for these geniuses are sitting up nights and revolving in their minds the problem of the bicycle brake. The dreadful accidents which have occurred to cyclists and pedestrians this year for the want of brakes have served as a valuable lesson to many wheelmen previously benighted. Many who a short time ago opposed the brake as useless, awkward or dangerous, we believe think better of it, and some have proved their conversion by having brakes attached to their wheels. Beginners find that the art of backpedaling loses much of its charm when it is practiced at the expense of a sprained ankle, a broken arm, or even a fatal injury.

Last February, when the New York aldermen were considering the resolution compelling brakes, a large number of wheelmen regarded it as a onesided proposition in the public's bespicable chance. inventions of the present season will the meeting of next year would be surely show great strides in perfect- held at San Francisco. ing the brake. In short, if various statements of inventors may be relied on, wheels of the '97 model will be fitted with brakes which, in point of lightness, style and efficiency, will the land. For the sake of all concerned, we hope the promise will come true.—New York Sun.

catchiest word to describe the bicycle craze. According to Land and Water, as English publication, "For weeks past it has been impossible to get a bicycle or even civil treatment from any of the English houses. Prices rose, and some of the worst trash Birmingham ever produced was put on the market. The Americans have opened a vigorous campaign, and one new arrival advertises a consignment of 1,000 machines, offers to supply anything required within fourteen days, and promises that there shall be no waiting for machines to be built. In price and finish the American wheels are quite on a par with our best, and in weight they cut us dreadfully.

It is estimated that there are at least 7,000 new wheelmen and wheelwomen in Toronto this year.
