Jealous Woman of Ninety-two Years Kills Her Husband—Proposal Made to Place Boulevard in Centre of Wellington Street—Suffragettes Active in Many Localities—London and East Middlesex Elections May Be Protested.

READER SUGGESTS BOULEVARD FOR CENTRE OF WELLINGTON ST.

Believes That Cost Could Be Greatly Reduced and Section Beautified—Shrubs or Trees Could Be Planted in the Strip of Lawn.

A reader of The Advertiser who apparently has the beautification of the city at heart, sends in a diagram which appears on Page 11, outlining a scheme for the pavement of Wellington street at a much reduced cost and with a scheme of civic improvement combined.

As will be seen on the diagram his idea would be to place a boulevard in the centre of Wellington street, in the section which it had been planned to pave. This centre strip of lawn, with trees or shrubs planted on it, would be kept in condition by the city.

MOVE THE CAR TRACKS.

The street car tracks would be moved so as to run down each side of the boulevard, and as the street is one of the widest in the city there would be ample room for traffic on each side.

The Advertiser commends its reader's suggestion to the board of control and city council. Here is a plan to secure a smooth roadway to the hospital and to inaugurate a new style of civic beautifying. The residents of the south portion of the city will do well to support such a movement. The cost would be considerably reduced when compared to the former estimate, and as the street must be paved sooner or later, it will be generally agreed that such a plan would be advisable to undertake.

HOME RULE BILL IN HANDS OF COMMITTEE

First Amendment, to Prevent Vote in Ulster, Gets Big Majority.

LONDON, July 8.—The committee stage of the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule bill opened today in the House of Lords, and will occupy three days.

The first Unionist amendment to eliminate the clause of the bill, providing for a vote to be taken in each county of Ulster on the question whether it should be excluded from the operation of the home rule bill, was carried by 158 against 16.

ROOSEVELT CONTINUES TO REFUSE NOMINATION

Progressive Leaders Try Hard to Persuade Him to Run For Governor.

New York, July 8.—For two hours today the Progressive leaders of New York State used every argument at their command to force Col. Roosevelt to agree that he would accept the nomination for governor.

After it was all over, Col. Roosevelt said that he had nothing to say at this time, and would not change his previous statements declining to run.

It was understood that the question was still an open one, with the colonel continuing to stand out against the proposal that he held the state ticket.

TRANSPORT WORKERS UNITE.

LONDON, July 8.—A joint conference of representatives of the various unions of transport workers today agreed to amalgamate under the title of the National Transport Workers' Federation. The new union will have a membership of 400,000.

DRUGLESS PHYSICIANS CALLED "QUACKS" AT MEDICAL COUNCIL

Loud Outcry Against Their Assuming Title of "Doctor"—Hanna's Department Accused of Breaking Its Word.

Toronto, July 8.—Members of the Ontario Medical Council, in session this morning, protested loudly and long against "Every Tom, Dick and Harry" being permitted to assume the title of doctor, and work to the disadvantage of the community.

"Either this council has no power or else it has no backbone," said Dr. Ryan. "We should force to the attention of the Government the harm that is being done to the community by these alleged drugless physicians. I don't think that they are hurting the medical men so much as they are hurting the community. Something should be done, and done at once. We should act and not allow this sort of thing to drift."

Nearly Everyone Has Tuberculosis—Osler

Startling Statement Made To Large Audience By Oxford University Professor.

Leeds, July 8.—Sir William Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, today started the huge audience attending the conference of the Association for the Prevention of Consumption, by telling them that they were practically all tuberculous. He said:

Try to Blow Up Cottage Home of Scotland's Poet

Militants Are Caught Placing Bombs at Robbie Burns' Erstwhile Residence.

Glasgow, Scotland, July 8.—An attempt to destroy the cottage at Ayr, where Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, was born January 25, 1759, was made just before daylight today by two members of the militant suffragettes "arson squad."

The two women were surprised by a night watchman as they were in the act of placing large bombs against the doors and windows of the poet's birthplace, which is venerated as a shrine by the Scottish nation. The watchman captured one militant, but the other escaped.

The women wore stockings over their shoes in order to deaden the noise and hide their footprints.
The arrested woman gave her name as Janet Arthur. She created a noisy scene when arraigned at the police court, fighting the wardens and shouting quotations from Burns' poems. She was remanded.

EIGHT MEN FROM KARLUK WHO LEFT PARTY TO LOOK FOR LAND ARE MISSING

WILL TAKE MOTHER AND HER BABIES FOR ONE WEEK.

Kind Countrywomen Continue to Offer Vacations to Poor Kiddies.
Still additional offers come from our country readers to take one or two "Fresh Air" kiddies for a couple of weeks. One lady, writing yesterday, says: "I saw in your paper the good work you are doing. I would like to take a mother and her baby or two little girls for a week or so. If we got along all right I would keep them longer. We have no family and I would like to see a couple of children playing on the lawn."

HEAVY RIFLES TOO MUCH FOR SOME OF BOYS IN CAMP

Officers Are Anxious to Secure Arms of Smaller Calibre.

HEAVY DRILLING IS ON
Older Battalions Are Coming Along—Parade in City Thursday Evening.

The number of cadets in attendance at the camp at Carling's Heights now is just over a thousand. Up to yesterday the muster was below the thousand mark, but several late-comers arrived today and brought the total up to the round-figure number.

This morning the boys spent most of their time in preparation for the great general march past and inspection, which has been set for Friday, going through battalion movements under the direction of instructors who, surely, must be direct descendants of Job. The patience with which they took the boys over the movement again and again until they had it right was something at which to marvel.

Veterans in First Battalion.
The first battalion thus contains only veterans. Here are the boys of Galt, London, St. Thomas, Stratford, Chatham, Guelph and Essex, all of which companies have been in existence for many years, and these as a consequence drill like old-timers. In fact, the way they move is as nearly perfect as anything not actually mechanical can be.

As one of the officers from the barracks said: "These boys have the militia trimmed mills," which is not altogether surprising when it is remembered that the former drill on an average three times a week, while the training of the latter most often is confined to the twelve days put in at camp in the summer.

The young boys, of course, are not so efficient, and the instructors of numbers three and four battalions spent a solid day on the drill.

CITY AND EAST MIDDLESEX SEATS ARE BOTH LIKELY TO BE PROTESTED

Blunder Has Caused Serious Row in Whitney Cabinet—Sir Adam Says Mr. Foy Made a Fool of Contest—Liberals Almost Sure to Win.

There is every probability that the provincial election in East Middlesex and London will be protested and that both contests will be set aside when the protest is heard in court.

The claim will be advanced that the annexed district residents who voted in the riding or East Middlesex voted illegally through the inclusion in the riding of the annexed district and that by the same token the citizens of London voted illegally in the city.

GIVEN HIGH AUTHORITY.
The Liberals have been assured by one of the highest constitutional authorities in Canada that both elections are voided because of the fact that through a blunder in the department of Hon. J. J. Foy, the Representation Act was made to include the annexed district in the city.

Both are absent at the cabinet meeting held in Toronto yesterday. He and Mr. Foy were the only absentees, the latter being confined to his home through illness.

This Is Made Clear in Message From Capt. Bartlett.

MAY BE SAFE OR MAY HAVE DIED

Some Struck Out Several Days After Ship Sank.

OTHERS LITTLE LATER

As Main Party Had Terrible Struggle, the Worst Is Feared.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, July 8.—That eight men left the Karluk party seeking land after the boat sank in the Arctic, and that they have not been heard from is announced in a report which Deputy Minister Desbarats has just received from Captain Bartlett, written from Nome. It is feared that some of them may be lost, for the main party had a terrible struggle before reaching Wrangell Island, and the smaller parties must have had as strenuous experiences, if not more so.

The first report from the Karluk party was generally read as a statement that all had reached Wrangell Island, and were waiting for a boat to take them home. It turns out that ten days after the Karluk sank on January 11th, a party of four, with a supporting party, set out for Herald Island. The supporting party returned and reported that progress had been stopped by open water, three miles from shore. Two days' effort failed to span the gap. Four men were left with provisions on the edge of the ice, waiting for a chance to land. That is the last heard of them.

They may have landed and they may not. The four were Officer Alexander Anderson, of Inverkeithing, Fifeshire, Scotland; Second Officer Charles Bartlett, of Victoria, B. C.; Seaman John Bredy, of Victoria, B. C.; and Seaman Archibald King of Victoria, B. C.

On February 5 another party of four set out for the land which the report states to have been visible, though it was 60 miles distant and arctic night prevailed. This party consisted of Beauchamp, of Paris, the anthropologist of the expedition, Allister Forbes McKay, of Edinburgh, surgeon of the expedition, who had accompanied Shackleton on one of his expeditions, L. Murray of Foxfield, Hants, England, the oceanographer of the expedition, and another Shackleton man, and sailor Thomas Morris.

See a Week Later.
This party was seen a week later by an exploring expedition from the main party, which was nearly frozen. The hands were frozen and seemed to be in poor shape, but refused offers of assistance and transportation back to camp. That was the last heard of them.

SEVERAL LONDONERS WERE AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Attended Convention From Which Miss Waller Was Returning When Killed.

Among other Londoners who attended the Port Hope summer school and convention from which Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Waller and Miss Ella Waller were returning home when the automobile accident occurred in Toronto, resulting in Miss Waller's death, were Rev. Prof. T. G. A. Wright, and two daughters, Misses Wright; H. B. Metcalfe, Mrs. Langford of Christ Church; Miss Isabella of St. Matthew's Church; and Rev. Llewellyn Davis, of Brockville, son of Very Rev. Dean Davis of this city.

Rev. Dr. Waller lectured last week on "Bible Study." The Wesleyans in the lecture on "The Wesleyans in the Eighteenth Century," and Rev. Mr. Davis on "India." About 185 students and 100 delegates attended. The school in common with two other annual summer schools, at Rosheay, N.B., and Lennoxville, Que., is held under the auspices of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada.

LECTURED BY PREMIER.
It is said that the present illness of Hon. J. J. Foy is the result of a tongue lashing he received from Sir James after the election because of the blunder in the London and East Middlesex elections.

Sir Adam Beck is said to have complained that the mistake in the act was likely to "make a fool of him" in London and stated that he would not contest the riding again in the event of a by-election being made necessary, but would secure the Dominion nomination, and while retaining the chairmanship of the hydro-electric commission, would have a seat at Ottawa instead of at Toronto.
