

DE WET AND BEYERS LEAD NEW S. AFRICAN REBELLION

Town in Orange River Colony Seized and the Government Officials Made Prisoners—General Botha Is Now Reported Off To The Front.

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, Oct. 28. — 1:30 a.m.—An official Pretoria dispatch announces that Gen. Louis Botha has left for the front.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—8:37 p.m.—Another rebellion has broken out in South Africa. Gen. Christian Frederick Beyers has taken the lead of the rebels in the Orange Free State and Western Transvaal. Having put down the rebellion in the northern province of Cape Colony and of Lieut.-Col. Maritz, the Government of the Union of South Africa is now faced by the more serious risings under Generals De Wet and Beyers, the latter of whom resigned the command of the Union forces when Premier Botha decided to take up arms against Germany.

One Town Seized.
According to an official report received today, armed rebellious commandos are already in existence; the town of Heilbron, in the northern part of the Orange River Colony has been seized and the Government officials have been taken prisoners, while a train has been stopped and armed citizens of the defence force have been taken from it and disarmed. The Union Government has issued

GERMAN TROOPS INVADE PORTUGUESE AFRICAN LAND

PARIS, Oct. 27.—9:26 p.m.—In a message from Lisbon sent by way of Madrid, the correspondent of the Havas Agency, says: "Dispatches received here say that German troops have forcibly invaded the Portuguese province of Angola, West Africa."
"Preparations are being made to immediately dispatch warships and troops from Portugal to Angola."

Leaders of New Rebellion Figured In African War

General De Wet in the late South African war was commander-in-chief of the Orange Free State forces. He was commander at Lady Smith and was sent to relieve General Cronje as second in command; after General Cronje's surrender he received full command. He was one of the signatories of the Vereeniging Peace Conference and was appointed Minister of Agriculture in 1907.
General De Wet was opposed to the Government's action in regard to the present war, and early in October attempted to speak at a meeting held in protest of this action, but was prevented from doing so by a demonstration of sympathizers of General Louis Botha, the premier of the Union of South Africa.
Brigadier General Beyers was also a noted figure in the South African war and was the chairman of the Vereeniging Peace Conference. Last September he resigned as commander-in-chief of the Union defence force because of his disapproval of the action of Great Britain in sending commandos to conquer German Southwest Africa.

GERMANS WILL VERY SOON BE ON DEFENSIVE IN WEST

No Reason Now To Fear Failure, Says Dispatch—Belgians Bring To Nought Desperate Attempt To Turn the Allies' Left Wing.

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, Oct. 27.—9:50 p.m.—A dispatch to the Central News from "North-western France, says: "The Germans were yesterday afternoon in great part driven back across the Yser, with heavy losses, by the French infantry, aided by the fire of the monitors. When the Belgians undertook the defense of the Yser they held it for a week. Then by sheer weight of artillery and men the Germans pushed the gallant Belgians back, but not before they paid the full price for the temporary gain."
Belgian Losses 1,000.

"At least two army corps faced the Belgians. Their object was to force them right into France, and thus succeed in turning the Allies' left. It cost the Belgians a thousand casualties to prevent the attainment of this object. It is reported on reliable authority that the German Emperor had placed eight army corps in this section of the field. Their losses have been frightful; their successes practically nil."
No Doubt Now.
"Towards the end of last week the situation was doubtful; now there is

GERMANS MISSED GOOD OPPORTUNITY

Russians Cannot Understand Error Made Near Warsaw in Delaying Night Assault.

[Canadian Press.]
PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 27.—5:07 p.m.—Reliable information received here from Warsaw, giving a detailed history of the attempted German advance in Russian Poland, says that the Russian generals are absolutely at a loss to explain what they call a German error in delaying a night attack until the opportunity was lost.
At the same time, however, the Russian generals, who always are frank in admitting the achievements of the enemy, express admiration of Gen. Von Morgen's lightning advance of five German army corps over the difficult swampy region approaching Warsaw from the southwest. The appearance of the Germans in this quarter was most unexpected since the German network of railway systems and the previously constructed platforms for heavy guns pointed to the probability of a German advance from the northwest or west, or from anywhere except the southwest.
Did Not Pursue Advantage.
The Germans made a grave error, it is asserted, in not pursuing the advantage derived from their unexpected advance which would have enabled them to approach within eight miles of Warsaw without their presence being made known.
For unknown reasons, the Germans suddenly decided to delay the attack until morning, which allowed the Siberian and other Russian reinforcements adequate time to protect their lines. Factors found in the possession of German officers indicate that the general plan was to attack Warsaw that night. One explanation for the change in the plan is that the Germans failed to secure the assistance of the Polish element upon which they had counted.
Retreat Was Swift.
The Russian generals also admire the Germans' abrupt extrication when they found themselves outflanked. Their retreat found so complete and precipitate that the Russians were unable to overtake and engage the rear guard in action for several miles. The whole affair, including the whirlwind advance and retreat at present is a puzzle to the Russians.
The inhabitants of Warsaw say the dropping of German bombs which never were very damaging, now has ceased, and, reassured by the presence of Russian reinforcements and the preparations being made to engage the enemy, the life of the city has become almost normal.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE ARTILLERY DIVISION

PETROGRAD, Oct. 27.—The attempt of the Austrians to envelop the left wing of the army of Gen. Brusilov has failed, according to a semi-official announcement.
On Oct. 24 about 20 versts (fifteen miles) south of Sambor, the Russian troops surrounded in a mountain valley the Thirty-Eighth Division of Honvéd, with effectives belonging to the landsturm, firing upon them from the surrounding heights.
Only a few of these soldiers succeeded by favor of night in saving themselves by the mountain paths. An entire artillery division of twenty cannon and trains fell into Russian hands.
