Published by THE LONDON ADVERTISER
COMPANY, LIMITED,
London, Ontario.
TELEPHONE NUMBERS
3670
PRIVATE BRANCH
SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
City, delivered—15 cents per week;
$3.90 for six months, 650 per month;
$7.80 for one year.
By Mail, Outside City—$5 per year;
$2.75 for six months, or 50 cents per month for short term subscriptions.
To the United States—$6 per year;
$3.50 for six months, or 65 cents a month. The Audit Bureau of Circulation audits the circulation books of The Advertiser.

If Wheat, Why Not Flour?

Vancouver wants greater terminal facilities to handle Western wheat. Failure to get these leads the Vancouver Sun to make the statement ment has sold out body and soul to French Quebec." It bases the charge on the expenditures that are the civic pocket. being made on harbor and grainhandling facilities at Montreal. claiming that it is wrong to force a haul of "2,700 miles to the Atlantic incoming of people did not tend to seaboard regardless of the fact that decrease the amount of debt. the natural outlet for all grain grown west of Mooseiaw is the Pacific

It is hard to see where the charge can be made and substantiated that Quebec dominates the situation portion of Canada's water trade is handled there in the open season. It is essential that all proper facilities be provided there.

At the same time the Western shipping must not be overlooked. There must be a well-defined line where it would be more advantageous to ship to Vancouver and get the lower water rate from there, via the Panama canal, to the British or other world markets.

While all this talk of shipping wheat is going on, is there not a chance that we are overlooking the it in Canada and exporting the finished product?

Every barrel of flour that is ground means that there is produced about 70 pounds of bran and shorts. develop in dairying, cattle-raising or mixed farming. These byproducts, foreign business to run continuously, they would be able to sell bran and shorts at a lower price, and there would never be any shortage of these staple animal foods. This would tend to lower the cost of producing beef, milk and dairy products generally. There is in Canada right now milling capacity that could propose meeting for 1922 turned down a number of wage increases to civic people, but the fact that export trade with. Ratepayers in London believe they are paying enough now in their for a building that would be essentited they are paying enough now in their for a building that would be essentited at several places, and all sorts of band music was tooted at the press men, while civic welcomes were read to this accompaniment. When they are paying enough now in their annual tax bills.

The finance committee at its last meeting for 1922 turned down a number of wage increases to civic employees, or rather passed the point of having an eye-sore on the premises.

The finance committee at its last meeting for 1922 turned down a number of wage increases to civic point of having an eye-sore on the premises.

The finance committee at its last meeting for 1922 turned down a number of wage increases to civic point of having an eye-sore on the premises.

What made it the suddenness of the unhappy ending the would be essenting at several places, and all sorts of band music was tooted at the press men, while civic welcomes were read to this accompaniment. When they are paying enough now in their annual tax bills.

The finance committee at its last meeting for 1922 turned down a number of wage increases to civic point of having an eye-sore on the premises.

What made premises are found in the council or out of it.

On the way out, stops were made to the way out, stops were made to the several places, and all sorts of band music was tooted at the press men, while civic welcomes are consideration, and there is no reason why the inclusion and the stressing of that for a building that would be essenting at several places, and all sorts of a several places, and all sorts of the at several places, a shorts, etc. almost 95 per cent of the wheat used move. The 1923 council will have a shirts, but we still clamor for porterin mills in Ontario is from Western real problem on its hands in dealing Canada. Local wheat is used only with that salary list. Of course, for certain grades of pastry and there will be the contention that biscuit flour. There are certain sec- granting any increases sets a precetions of the West, principally the dent and opens the door for others older sections, that cannot grow the to come along and tap the treasury. quality of wheat that is secured from The whole matter must be looked some of the newer sections farther upon in the same light as an ordinorth. The virgin soil of the north- nary business problem. A comern part of Saskatchewan is right mercial house has its employees: it instead of a crippled Greek army. now giving the big mills of the east has to buy its labor from a comtheir finest product, high in gluten. It is possible, year after year, to worth and good service. It can mistletoe this year, but surely every notice the quality coming down. In spite of the high tariff, there is a market in New York and the 1923, for if it did it would probably New England states for Canadian have to part with some valuable flour, bran and shorts. The con- men. In a general way, we imagine still believe in Santa Claus want to sumer in United States is, of course, the 1923 council will be opposed to paying for the tariff.

It would appear to be good business, from several angles, to put the people. But this general prinforth every effort to market as much Canadian-made flour as possible. The more we can become makers of the finished product, as well as service. We must not penalize capgrowers of raw material, the greater able people just because they happen will be our national wealth.

Nothing Worth Saving.

Going over to see what's wrong with Germany has come to be some-United States.

Philip Gibbs says that the reason Germany cannot recover is because her thrift is gone, and the reason built in such a way that the city average mentality of his congregafor the departure of the thrift is the could have disposed of it in future fact that German money is not and made money out of the transac- should make certain a bumper house worth saving.

A German has what is marked up need be said. to be $1,000 in his pocket, but he halved again. Germany is not making progress by step she goes to a state where cured for the present building, estithey will write "Bankrupt" over her portals.

London's Civic Matters.

"Let us have more people in order o more thoroughly distribute our debt." That statement is a popular one, and the chances are that it has been used a good many times with much thought being given to its full

The idea probably got its inception at the same time that quantity production was being taught-it was possible to produce 15 cars with the same overhead charges as applied to 10, so if we added a thousand people to the city there should be no advance in the price we pay to run the city.

The trouble with some of these theories is that they will not stay where we put them. In the case of London we find that while we have been adding the necessary thousand or so in the way of population, our that "the Mackenzie King govern expenses have broken away from the kennel where we were sure we had them tied up, and have taken their stand a little deeper down in

Take the figures of the city of London for a term of years, showing the per capita debt as compared with the population, and notice that the

	Per Capita
	Pop.	· Debt.
-	49,507	$63.40
P	56,358	73.77
	59,100	74.63
	59,281	99.85
		49,507 56,358 59,100

Look at it from another way, Montreal has a wonderful port and though. If we still had the 1910 excellent facilities, and the great population and our present indebtedness we would have a per capita debt of over $118, so it can be seen that the coming of new population has been a buffer between us and a high increase. The extent to which the incoming of new population has been the cause for increasing the debt would be a difficult matter to state definitely.

In this same connection the city council of 1923 are credited with a desire not to increase the debt of the city-to put it in a plainer way, not to make the taxbill any heavier. There has been an increase, slight bigger chance, viz., milling more of perhaps, in assessment this year. might be put up as finances permit, rubles. There are a number of new homes with a view later on of having the on the books of the assessor, which central fire hall stationed there, as should be a large supply of this ma- definite move should be taken to terial in a district that seeks to keep the taxes from going up. The What sort of a building can be word "taxes" is used here, because when fed in the district, eventually rate." There has been in London.

it is more final than the words "mill the tastes of the people. By way of and in every community, a certain new collegiate building was put up crease its productivity. If the confusion over the balance between for a little over $300,000 and that is mills of Ontario, for instance, were assessment and tax rates, whereas quite a large structure, and nothing gather up their wives, and boarded able to secure enough domestic and the only thing the property owner much was spared in its construction. a special train for Vancouver. Rather can look upon is the amount in dollars and cents he is asked to part with. Ratepayers in London believe in building costs. Few advocates and a great education.

Yes, it was, but it was a great trip, and a great education.

On the way out, stops were made has not been sufficiently developed cil, which was quite the right thing keeps these mills running at only to do. Rushing increases of any kind part of their capacity, with conse- through, or obligating the 1923 counquent higher costs for flour, bran, cil financially, would be poor deathbed tactics for the 1922 body, and Milling experts inform us that they wisely refrained from such a petitive market; it has to recognize hardly lay down a flat rule that red-blooded man can still do his there shall be no increases during part? salary increases, and in such a the closets just now? stand they will have the approval of ciple has no right to have right-ofway over good business sense in recognizing and rewarding efficient

Mayor-Elect Wenige is inclined to go ahead with the building of the city hall on the Federal Square. what of a perpetual assignment with not to build on the Spencer Block holding that the vote of the people the journalists of Britain and the site means that they want the building to proceed on the original site building would have made a fine structure, and it could have been tion. However, the people gave at the annual Christmas tree. Gibbs' reason is the best one to their verdict on that proposal in no to be working for the city.

uncertain way, and nothing more The building of a city hall is somefinds when he comes to spend it that thing that will be a direct charge he has not much more than the price upon all the property of the city. It the proper setting for a bachelor. of a meal and car fare to get home. is unlike an issue of debentures for The stuff called currency reprethe purpose of putting in local imsents nothing to him. Its value provements, which are discharged by may be little today, and yet he the people specially benefited. Deknows that when he looks at the bentures were issued in 1913 in two rates tomorrow his little may be different lots to care for this work, toward a financial recovery. Step to this is the price that could be se-

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"What's he tryin' to do, tell you a fish story?" "Naw! Showin' us the size of the flapper a stork brought to his house."

is also proposed that the building is to be had for a couple of million the undertaking. had for that amount? Depends on Note and Comment.

Right now, life is just one purchase after another.

We've got out of the habit of silk house steaks.

The British pound is doing very well in the world's money markets, but is still about one ounce shy.

Turkey seems to have gathered up the idea that she licked the world

There is said to be a shortage of

Why is it that youngsters who snoop around on the top shelves of A Pittsburg man got married, and two days later eloped with his wife's sister. Some families have a tremendous appeal in 'em. In a Los Angeles suit a girl was given $1 for breach of promise. Guess that's what they mean by getting back to normal.

Jack Dempsey says he will fight any man in the world on short notice. Lots of folks over here used to talk like that before we had pro- was over

An eastern clergyman says the tion is about 12 years, all of which Premier King is going to move into his new home in Ottawa. It's

The occupation of the German Ruhr district by the French would

If we get this referendum and re should show quite an increase in the well as the police station, the sale of call operating 100 per cent we supamount of taxable property. The the present building on Carling pose in time there will be a vote of city should be fairly well supplied street being counted on to bring baseball players to see if the ump It is highly essential that there for revenue, and in view of this a some more grist to the mill to finance had any right to call the runner out at first.

William McDonald

section of the Canadian Press Since then there has been a decrease an ambitious undertaking, you say > or no special train, the people's William, had to surrender for the day and meet with the folks from home. It was the most outstanding com-pliment paid to any publisher on the

Mr. McDonald has been much in public life. Back in 1901 he was elected a member of Bruce County Council, holding that position until 1906, and in 1905 was warden of the county. In 1911, entering the field on three-weeks' notice, he won Center of the County of the March of Contains ter Bruce for the Liberals of Ontario by a majority of 104. Then by 1914 a fever.

Wantall McDonaid, editor of the Chesley Enterprise, and his little granddaughter, Evelyn Irene Neelon, of St. Catharines, McDonald found himself shoved We use his own phrase, for he has When nothing else is in sight for a special writer or an economist, a slip is handed him with the wording, "Series of articles on what's wrong with Germany."

The mayor holds that the people have voted enough times on the plan, and it is time to proceed. The Advertiser was inclined to favor building on the Spengary with Germany."

Philip Gibbs says that the reason that block on from the utilities was a first times on the plan, and it is time to proceed. The Advertiser was inclined to favor building on the Spengary was a wholesale thing for McDonald. He waded into a normal paper under the heading "At a Woman's Window." Over here we'd was found that the M. P. P. sign was still tacked on the man from Chesley, with the score 7 up in his Chesley, with the score 7 up in his favor. But, in 1914, things were different. The U. F. O. was running, and it came to pass that William from Chesley got in between the upper and the nether millstone. He wasn't disfigured or anything, but he was out.

Since then he has been attending to business in Chesley. In the En-terprise he scolds and praises, rea-sons and cajoles. When people are into his new home in Ottawa. It's a fine place, too, all re-decorated and re-furnished. But really it's not the proper setting for a bachelor.

The occurretion of the German in the laboratory are them down hard. How he does it, working to find out the secrets of don't know.

When William McDonald was the people specially benefited. Debentures were issued in 1913 in two different lots to care for this work, $200,000 in all being sold, and $125,000 authorized, but not sold. Added to this is the price that could be secured for the present building, estimated to be worth around $100,000. In all, there is $400,000 in sight. It

Your Health

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D. missioner of Health, New York U.S. Senator-Elect from New York

HISTORY is filled with the records of great plagues and epidemics. Not all of them have been in ancient comparison it is shown that the IN the summer of 1921, the weekly times. In the summer of 1916 there occurred in the city of New York and in many country a terrible epidemic. It is doubtful if so ings in this country ever became more hysterical and unhappy than during these weeks. About 9,- suddenly stricken with a mysterious malady called "poliomyelitis" or "in-the unhappy ending—death in many instances, paralysis in almost every surviving patient. The first sympto ms are headache discomfort and feeling of illness. There may be real pain and stiffness of some of the muscles. There may be twitching in certain muscles. Possibly there are convulsions. The usual experience is for child, previously perfectly well, to find himself in the morning paralyzed to some extent and possibly with The acute symptoms disappear in a few days in a favorable case. In the fatal case, there are increasing headache, stiffness in the neck, drowsiness, and, after a time, unconscious-There may be more or less paralysis following the disappearance of fever and the acute symptoms. The affected part wither more or less. If it is the leg, walking become diffi-

This disease is considered to be communicable, therefore it must be reported to the health authorities. the sake of the public safety this is perfectly right. As a mat-ter of fact, however, it is doubtful if it is seriously contagious or infec-

The Massachusetts State Board of Health made a study of 67 cases occurring in that state. It so happened Two hundred and fifty-two other children were in intimate contact with the sixty-seven cases.

"By intimate contact is meant playing with the child, sitting beside him and taking naps on the same lounge or bed. The report defines its meaning. There were nine in-stances in which other children of the family drank from the same cup; here were twelve instances in which children of the family and neighbors' children kissed the sick child during the acute illness. There were no sec-

The fact that the exact cause has not been determined makes it important to encourage the work of men who are studying such conditions. Sometimes we thoughtlessly sneer at scientists who spend their lives in laboratories. We must not be blind to what they are doing for humanity.

When some scientist discovers the exact cause of infantile paralysis it will lift a burden from the shoulders of every parent and of every con-scientious physician. Nothing is more disturbing or heart-breaking than to attempt to deal with the unknown. In going through a gloomy forest, to be followed by a silent, creeping, black thing that steals along, ever evading our touch or under them down hard. How he does it, working to find out the secrets of and retains his subscriptions list we Nature, and we should lend them aid and encouragement. Public funds should be provided, because in this way we will widen knowledge and understanding, then will come a

The Daily Story

A WEAK HEART. By Martha McCulloch-Williams. A man of moods was Michael Bond. When he was anything, glad, or sad, or mad, he was glad, sad or mad all over. Hence all the joy of the morning was in his singing, as his horse paced soberly along the woods road to the little log church. Never had there been quite such a Sunday—the deep woods were still dewy and all the spread of them scented with the are sweetness of wild grape blosson Birds sang, not too loudly, rather in soft, broken snatches; lush young leafage made shadow marvels on the road earth and the sun rays were true gold. Michael felt them shining in his heart the same as on his bare head-for was he not one and twenty. free at last from a curmudgeonly guardian, free to speak out as became a man and claim his sweetheart? A wonder-woman. Helen of Troy they had raved over at school had nothing on her, he was sure. Josefa Kenyon was older than himself, but what did five years matter? Reticent also-nobody knew more of her than the happenings of two years since she came to teach in the village academy. To be sure, she had brought references of the highest and had reinforced them by a walk and way wholly impeccable. The most explicit of the references, with a bishop's name at the foot, said she had lost a husband under most distressing circumstances six months after marcircumstances six months after mar-riage. But she had not worn mourn-ing. But what with all the current flitter of talk about self-expression and married individuality, it passed for simple oddity; five years earlier it would have been rated mysteriously criminal.

She had fine, high manners, the most critical could net gainsay that, any more than her low, clear voice, her soft, deft hands—not over white, but alluring to view and touch. She dressed with the exact degree of quiet trimness her position demanded, went egularly to church, made neither regularly to church, made neither debts nor confidences and had but one single friendly intimate—Sara Downe, the least promising of her pupils. She had gone home with Sara for the big meeting—the Downe house neighbored the little log church. Squire Downe was indeed its prop and stay, as became a ruling elder of the Primitive Bantists who were of the Primitive Baptists, who were still primitive enough to hold fast to the yearly footwashing as the crown of June meetin' Services began early—8 o'clock at the latest. Hence Michael's journey while the sun was still young; likewise his choice of the wood road. The big road was certain to be thronged cars, carriages, even farm wagons, overflowing with happy, laughing humanity and good cheer. Dinner on the ground was as much a feature of the day as the footwashing. Sara Downe had made sure of Michael as her father's guest, bidding him over and over as she drove homeward in the ramshackle carriage with Mrs. enyon beside her.

He recalled the fact only incident-He recalled the fact only incident-ally to his memory of Josefa. How he loved the name—they would be Joe and Mike, one to another, in the big Bond house shut up since his father died ten years back. She knew what was in his heart—she must also know what was in his mind. It must be she who had sent him twenty-one roses yesterday—he had clutched them weeks. About 3, 000 children were with a mysterious some lomyelitis" or "incard, but he fancied he caught a hint what made it so terrifying was ings exhaled in the blue ribbon binding them. Faint as it was it thrilled him all through. He had the ribbon, tenderly folded, in the pocket nearest

> Which makes it plain that, in the language of adolescence, he had it bad, very, very bad. Of course he was chaffed, but what did that matter? Thrice intoxicated with and freedom, he was ready to laugh down all the world's laughing. Fling-ing his reins to a black boy in wait for such harvests he all but ran about the shaded grounds in search of the Downe carriage, only to find it empty. The driver, sprawled on the ground hard by, stirred sleepily to say: "White ladles done gone ter listen at de preachin'." The house was packed. self inside, and for five minutes feasted his aching eyes on the face he worshipped. He saw it in profile, hence did not mark the change in it at first. It was not paler than usual, but so tense it seemed gray. As his sun-clouded sight cleared he saw that she sat as might a wild beas crouched for a deadly spring. He eyes burned upon the narrow pulpit and the man within it. He was ascetic-looking, tall, wasted, with cavernous hollows beneath eves that gazed downward, and deep graven lines encircled a cruelly beautiful mouth. In a thriling voice, low but resonant, trained in every art speech has ever evolved, he was beseeching, enforsake the world and its allurements, give up earth for heaven. His listeners, for the most part solid, stolid farmer folk, swayed and stirred like tall grain in a ruffling breeze. Amaze-ment had begun the stir—June meeting was no time nor place for revival appeals. But as the voice played upon them as a master harper upon his instrument, they lost themselves in the flood-tide appeal. "Foot washing for humility, heart washing for cleansing of sin, soul washing for life everlasting." he ended suddenly, leaping down and almost running along the narrow aisle. Mrs. Kenyon sitting beside it, arose wraith-like in his path, clutched him, and said, her words dropping like molten lead: "Tell us what washing can make child-stealer clean?"

"The poor creature is quite mad— she must be," he said, trying to free she any friends?" "A hundred-I'm only the nearest."

Michael cried. He had rushed to Jo sefa as he saw her rise. "They'll fol-low her—you come with me outside. We'll get at the truth—no matter who it hurts."
"Let me speak it—here in the house of God, in the face of His true fol lowers." Mrs. Kenyon said steadily. "I married this man seven years back -a foolish young girl, bewitched by his eloquence. It was money-mone he wanted—money I was due to in-herit from my uncle. He died sudden-ly—in an accident—then it came out that he had been privately married to a pretty, poor girl, whom he had been ashamed to acknowledge.

"But she had given him a child. fortune to the baby-with reversion to me if the little one died. It disappeared, nobody knew how. Its mother grieved herself insane for it—then grieved herself insane for it—then my husband," her voice breaking over the word, "moved to get for me what he called "my rights." I defied him—I knew he had made away with the child, though I could not prove it. But I would not touch the money, not even when he threatened to kill me even when he threatened to kill me. But I told him I would accuse him

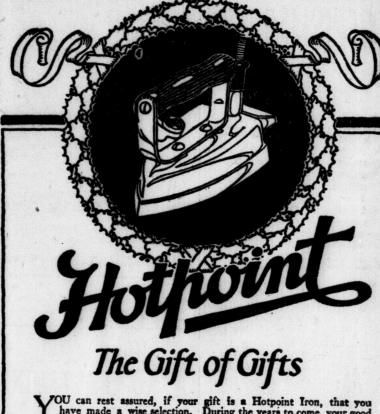

An inarticulate roar as of a stormy (Copyright, 1922, by McClure Newssea answered her. Before it broke his pulpit work. War came just then. He rushed into it—I lost all trace of him. Was it wrong in me to pray that he had died? Now I find him—here!" the bitterness of death in the word; preaching faith and repentance to you clean-souled people. Say—what does he deserve?"

An inarticulate roar are of a story.

An inarticulate roar are of a story.

(Converget 1922 hy McClure Naves.

OU can rest assured, if your gift is a Hotpoint Iron, that you have made a wise selection. During the years to come, your good wishes will continually be brought to mind, and thus, the spirit of Christmas kept green.

The Hotpoint Iron is famous for its hot point, and its handle, which fits the hand, and is always cool. The thumb rest is an exclusive Hotpoint

For sale by all Dealers of Electrical Appliances.

"Made in Canada" by Canadian General Electric Co., Limited Sales Branches in all large cîties. Head Office, Toronto.

For Sale At The Hydro Shop

Remember Him With CIGARS

VOUTLE find buying him Cigars will make your shopping work I ries a bit easier, and it will be more appreciated. We've got the brand of Cigars he smokes or the Pipe he'll like. Let us make a special Christmas package of smokes for the lucky one.

Magazine Subscriptions as Christmas gifts! Nothing more acceptable, nothing more frequently remindful of the giver than a year's subscription to a popular Magazine. Come in and let us help you make your selection.

Christmas Greeting Cards Free to every purchaser.

J. R. FLYNN & CO JOS. FLYNN. 405 RICHMOND ST., AT DUNDAS ST. 611-

"CANADIAN Pacific trains are always comfortable. We made our reservations early and had a fine trip."

For tickets, rates and information, call or phone CITY TICKET OFFICE 161 DUNDAS STREET - LONDON PHONE 125.

Traveled CANADIAN PACIFIC