

TRADE GETTING HEALTHIER.

THIS IS WHAT THE WHOLESALE MERCHANTS SAY.

Collection Continue to Improve.—Enquiry for Christmas Novelties.—White Lead Manufacturers Cutting Prices.—Bearing Goods.—Daily Sales.—Trade and Financial News.

Trade during the week has been moderately good for the season. In dry goods there seems to be a little more activity, Christmas novelties and flannels being in active demand. Wholesale grocers report trade better than for the same time last year, although some novelties and delicatessen are still heard. Rubber goods, boots and shoes and heavy leather goods are moving briskly, and the tone of the boot and shoe trade generally continues to improve. Hardware continues to be in its own, and an easier feeling in the market is about the only change in values. Increased activity is reported in leather, particularly Spanish sole and splits. Wool remains in much about the same unsatisfactory condition to improve and the leather market is quoted nearly everywhere as a further evidence of the healthy condition of trade.

HIDES AND SKINS.
Skins advanced 5c yesterday. The ruling price is 90c although higher prices are being paid; mostly good. Hides unchanged and in good demand.

WOOL.
There is no material change. Foreign enquiry is still marked by its absence. There is a moderate demand from local manufacturers for small lots, there being no disposition to stock up. Prices unchanged.

BOOTS AND SHOES.
The activity noted during the last few weeks is more marked this. Demand is chiefly for rubbers, over shoes and heavy leather goods. It is the opinion that sales for November are the largest for years. Collections good.

SPANISH SOLE LEATHER. is very active and stocks low. Demand is principally on eastern account. In other lines a steady business is being done, enquiry is reported for splits, and tanners of colored leather are still well stocked with orders. Prices are unchanged and no cutting is heard of. The general feeling among dealers is that the market is going to be better right along.

PAINTS AND OILS.
An increased movement is reported this week, especially in the city. The demand for glass is particularly active and stocks are not large. There is not much enquiry for turpentine. Demand for linseed oil is much about the same as for the last month. Prices are firm, with an advance probable at almost any time. Prices in white lead are still being cut, but no attempt being made to push business. No complaints are heard regarding payments.

HARDWARE.
Trade continues to hold its own and no particular feature has developed. Wire manufacturers are holding a meeting and there will probably be a change in the list as a result. In copper, ingots are sold, while sheets are moving more freely, all at low prices. Tin plate is only in fair demand, while sales of Canada plate are good, as is usual at this season. The hardware business is confined to small, but numerous, sorting-up parcels. Skates and snow shovels continue to move freely. Payments improving.

DEVELOPMENTS.
Trade during the week has not been bad. A number of country merchants have been in the city, but their business has been confined principally to small parcels, principally novelties for the Christmas trade and of a sort of character. They all speak cheerfully and anticipate a brisk December trade. An active demand is reported for flannels and white goods, and the demand is moderate. Heavy marketings are selling fairly well. The movement in hosiery and gloves is about the same as for the last month. It is the opinion that higher prices must be paid for low grade and mediums. Assam teas are a little lower in London. Low price assays are scarce, refiners having nothing but bright. The movement in canned vegetables continues only moderate. Potatoes seem to be holding off for lower prices, while canners say prices will be better after the first of the year. Salmon continues in good demand. The Canadian Association is meeting in Hamilton today.

RETURNING GOODS.
The Recent Circular on the Subject Has Borne Good Fruit.
"Have you seen any fruit as a result of the circular sent out to the trade by the drygoods section of the Board of Trade returning goods?" queried The World of Mr. Stapleton Colclough.

"It has been satisfactory indeed. Why do you know, we now have certain asking our consent to return goods that have proved unsatisfactory and even apologizing when doing so. The circular has certainly led the retailers to see the wholesaler's side of the question as well as their own. All want to deal justly and this has led to better understanding."

TRADE IN WHITE LEAD.
It is Slightly Demoralized On Account of Becking Cutting.

The white lead manufacturers of the city are engaged in the unprofitable pastime of cutting each other's throats. In the race to get business prices are being knocked to the winds and trade as a result is demoralized. Some manufacturers, rather than join in the insane practice, have almost withdrawn from the market. "We are waiting," said one of them, "till they get tired, and then I suppose we'll all be glad to form an association to manufacture in the city." "And I find that so far this year business is away ahead of what it was for the same period of 1891. I believe that more dealers are doing business."

THE BOSTON CONVENTION.

What Delegates Learned at the Meeting of the Christian Workers.

A meeting was held last night in the William Gooderham Hall, at which those who attended the convention of Christian Workers in Boston made short addresses upon those subjects which impressed them most while in that city. Mr. Stapleton Colclough presided and the delegates spoke on the following subjects: "Description of the Convention," J. O. Rogers; "What I Learned of the Power of the Simple Gospel," Rev. W. J. Smith; "What I Learned of Work Among Children," R. Hall; "What I Learned of Woman's Place in Mission Work," Miss Good; "What I Learned of the Soul," Rev. H. C. Dixon; "What I Learned of Mission Work Among Women," Miss McIntyre; "Torrey's Address on the Baptism of the Holy Spirit," W. H. Howland.

Smokers on the Street Railway.
"Bob-tail" smoking cars will hereafter be attached as trailers to the cars between 5 and 9.30 a.m. and 4 and 6.30 p.m. At other hours smokers must ride only on the front platform of the trailer.

Coal in the Northwest.
A World reporter yesterday called on the Rev. C. W. Gordon of Banff, N.W.T., who is spending a few days in the city with his brother, Dr. G. Gordon, in Spadina-avenue. Mr. Gordon has spent two years and a half in Banff, his stations being Banff, Athabasca and Camrose. He will spend a year in Scotland and expects then to return to the Northwest. Banff, as is well known, is a watering place and tourist resort. Last season there were over 4000 people this year over 6000, and but for the smallpox scare, the number would probably have reached 8000.

In response to a question as to the coal deposits in the Northwest, Mr. Gordon said that it was a remarkable fact that all the coal deposits on the western part of the American continent are on Canadian territory. This gives the Canadians command of the coal situation on the Pacific coast. It is well known that they have command of the situation in regard to timber and farming lands. There are only two pure anthracite coal deposits in Canada, one in Nova Scotia and the other at Anthracite, Alberta, N.W.T. In the latter case the quantity is especially limited. This mine is now being worked by an American firm, who have an ample market for all the coal they can produce. As the country fills up the market will continually extend.

Seventeen miles west of Banff are the Camrose coal mines. These coal deposits extend all along the Bow River valley, being about 20 miles in length by four to six in breadth. At Camrose is found the best quality of coal in the Northwest. It is claimed to be the best steam coal in the world. Two companies, one American and the other partly Canadian and partly English, are operating here. The C.P.R. use this coal and have offered to take all that can be produced.

On my way to Toronto I visited the Sudbury mining district in Algoma. We left the C.P.R. at Larchwood, where the railway is crossed by the Vermilion River. After proceeding along the Government road, now being built by the Ontario Government, about the middle of the trail, which brought us to the Creighton mining camp. The buildings were solidly built and good. We found there Mr. A. W. Fraser of Ottawa, who was representing the Ottawa owners of the mine. The depth of the shaft is about 50 feet and the men are working night and day. They have a steam hoist, pump and Ingersoll drill and other machinery. As a depth of about 30 feet a trunk of peculiar appearance, called by the miners the "ray streak," was noticed in the vein. This "ray streak" has been noticed in the veins of the world, and is said to be a sign of a change in the depth of the shaft and at present is about six inches wide and seems to be widening. Specimens of the ore thrown out by the "blast" were taken and sent to the assay office. The assay showed the "ray streak" to carry 33.75% of gold to the ton, besides a small amount of silver. The assay also showed that the vein ran from 84 to 86 per cent.

No one who understands the resources of Canada would think of advocating annexation to any other country.

Chancery Judges and Criminal Cases.
The Chancery Division Court commenced its sitting yesterday morning. Before proceeding with the cases set down for argument, the court, consisting of the Chancellor and Justices Robertson and Meredith, delivered judgment in the matter of Reg. v. Davis, dismissing the appeal from the order of Mr. Justice Ferguson, refusing to grant an order for writ of certiorari returnable in the Chancery Division. The Chancellor and Mr. Justice Meredith thought that the appeal should be allowed, while Mr. Justice Robertson thought it should be dismissed. The appeal was taken to settle the question as to the jurisdiction of the judges of Chancery Division in criminal matters. Although the majority of the judges who formed the court thought that the appeal should be allowed, the Chancellor and Mr. Justice Meredith thought that the appeal should be dismissed. The Celebrated Oxdale herd of Holsteins, the property of Mr. Forty-ones, were sold yesterday at Grand's. Forty-one head were sold. The prices ranged from $30 to $100 and were fairly satisfactory. Many well-known buyers were present. Mr. John McCullough, Deseronto, bought 16 head. Other buyers were: William McClelland, Hornby; E. Whitesides, Metcalf; W. A. Trimble, Hampshire Mills; John Stoddard, Peterborough; Thomas Hoskins, Gravelton; A. F. Thompson, Ingleton; John Cowieson, Queensville; M. McCaggart, Myrtle.

Western Philosophy.
Mr. Barrett, the well-known proprietor of Mimico suburban estates, announces that at present real estate in that section is quiet on the practical side, in fact. He attributes this quietness to the dullness of Toronto real estate, which, he says, has somewhat prejudicially affected the manufacturer. Centre of New York. But the property of the city will doubt revive confidence in city values.

Mr. Brunescu's Water Colors.
A collection of the water colors of Mr. G. Brunescu, A.R.C.A., is on view at the Art room of James Bain & Son, 53 King Street East. Mr. Brunescu is a native of Italy for the winter shortly and his works are of general Canadian interest; uniting beauty of landscape with the technique and originality of composition.

New Pullman Cars.
The G.T.R. has put on five new and modern Pullman cars to accommodate the excursion travel to the World's Fair. The cars travel between Boston and Chicago, leaving Toronto for west at 7.50 a.m., and east at 9 a.m. daily. The Pullman Company, who maintain these cars, claim that they are the finest ever turned out of the factory.
