PLAINT OF THE EDITOR

Why the sad complaints and murmurs

Read what they have never paid for

Read with pleasure and with profit,

Murmurs loud about delinquents,

Who have read the paper gladly,

Read the essays and the poems,

We will answer, we will tell you.

From the printer, from the mailer

From the landlord, from the 'devil'

Message kind, but firmly spoken-

'Please to pay the bill you owe us.'

When our funds are all exhausted;

When the last bank note has left us;

When the red cents all have vanished

Gone to pay the landlord's tribute,

Gone to pay the clerk and newsboy,

lad it is to hear such message

Gone to pay the paper maker,

Gone to pay the toiling printer,

Gone to pay the city's taxes-

Gone to pay for beef and 'taters'

Gone to pay our faithful helpers.

Turn the leaves of this old ledger,

Turn to see what sums are due us,

Due for volumes long since ended,

Due for years of pleasant reading,

Due for years of anxious labor;

Due despite our patient waiting,

Would you lift a burden from us?

Would you read a paper paid for?

REFINED VAUDEVILLE No city in Canada and few in the whole Empire have a greater significance nor a more brilliant future that Halifax. Those who have never visited it or who have not been there for several years should make their plans now to see Halifax during Exhibition week, September 12th to September 20th, No finer sight can be imagined than its magnificent harbor and the great inland bay, Bedford Basin,

One sees great Ocean Liners that before the war called only at New York and Liverpool. One sees small, wizened, dirty little tramp one sees schooners, barques, brigantines, full-rigged ships; one sees long, funny-shaped oil tankers; one sees Dutch, American, Norwegian, Swedish, French, British, Canadian, Danish ships, the neutral craft earling their names and the names of the country to which they belong painted in huge letters on their sides And nearby one sees Britain's Bull Dogs, great fighting ships guarding all, or preparing to sail once more for the open sea to protect the sea lanes and keep food, munitions and men going in a steady stream to Great
