

is indivisible. So too, I submit, is the sense of trust and confidence on which peace rests.

My Government hopes, indeed pleads, that this forum we have made for ourselves in the CSCE may dedicate itself in the years ahead to the patient building of confidence and trust without which no true security can exist.