on either the Pacific or Atlantic coasts, military authorities here believe. The defences on the Pacific coast are described as adequate to deal with the German squadron of six vessels, all told, at large on that ocean, if it should venture north.

In Canadian home waters there are the Rainbow and the Shearwater and two submarines, as well as land defences, and approaches by soa are all mined, including the open stretch between Vancouver Island and the mainland. German spies have been busy on the Pacific coast, however, and may have succeeded in getting charts of these fields.

But there are other agencies which the Germans will have to reckon with. An Australian squadron is cruising in the Southern Pacific, and probably a Japanese fieet.

The fact that the German fleet was able to defeat the three British cruisers caused no surprise to the naval service department here. WORSE THAN WAR

Stale and Cracked Eggs a Menace to the Public Health

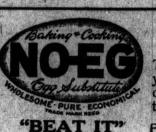

Strange though it may be, history records that more men have died through pestilence and disease than through actual warfare. Sanitation and pure food laws have done much to improve the public health by making it impossible for dealers to sell food that is not fit for consumption. There yet remains, however, the nenace of stale or cracked eggs which are sold regularly to the public, and oftentimes at a very high price.

Fresh eggs are good and should be encouraged, but why the public should allow themselves to put unhygienic stale eggs in their pies, cakes. and puddings is a mystery. We are trying to make this impossible, and have offered to the public a pure substitute for eggs in baking and cooking known as NO-EG.

NO-EG is pure and made from the egg product, containing nothing but the food elements we eat every day.

NO-EG comes fresh every time it is required. NO-EG cannot get stale. It is a wholesome food product, scientifically prepared. NO-EG is economical and gives the housewife an equal to 40 eggs for 25c, or an average of 61/2c a dozen.

We want the public to know the intrinsic value of NO-EG quickly, and to encourage the public to go to their grocers and emand NO-EG and encourage the grocer to get into the habit of stocking the same. We are therefore by this advertisement authorizing all dealers to sell a 25c tin of NO-EG for 20c for a period of one week from November 5th to November 14th, providing the coupon given below is cut out, properly filled in, an handed in to your dealer. If your dealer cannot supply NO-EG send coupon to us. See instructions at bottom of coupor
