MISSION WORKERS SHOW BALANCE TO THE GOOD

Methodist Society Has Two Hundred Thousand Dollars on Hand.

Sessions of the Women's Methodist Missionary Society yesterday were chiefly devoted to the discussion of the work in foreign fields, and to prayers for the success of missionary efforts throughout the empire.

An hour of the afternoon meeting was given over to informal talks by the various missionaries and candidates, with Mrs. A. Curran presiding, after which holy communion was administered by Rev. W. T. G. Brown, a large number of the delegates from all over Canada being present to participate in the ceremony.

The reports of publications and periodicals read in the morning showed the total receipts in this department to be $11,254.01. Expenses were $893.35, leaving a balance on hand of $10,360.66.

It was decided to increase the grant to deaconesses' salaries in the All People's Mission of Winnipeg, and also to grant $300 extra to assist in paying the salary of the social service worker of the Calgary Auxiliary, in co-operation with the department of social service and evangelism.

The closing service today will be in charge of Mrs. A. Curran and will take place in the afternoon at Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, at the conclusion of the reading of the minutes.

That the missionary work is continuing with the utmost enthusiasm in spite of all the added demands which are made by Red Cross and other patriotic activities is shown in reports of every department. Especially is the financial standing a credit to the society, which has a balance on hand with which to carry on the coming year's work of $10,360.66.

EVENING FROCKS FEATURE TAFFETAS

Quaint Designs in Changeable Silks Are Posed Over Dainty Lace.

FLOWERS AND PEARLS

New Dance Model Embodies Novel Features in Trimmings.

Originality and charm are combined in the dainty dance frocks provided this season for the youthful enthusiast. Her street clothes are, for the most part, moderate in cut, but given a stunning swish by the application of handsome fur bands; and it remains for the evening costume to provide billowness and a note of frivolity in its folds of delicate tinted silk, and widths of gossamer-like laces caught with nosegays in gold or silver. Quaint little models emphasizing a distinct period of trills or drapes are shown in an array of pretty shades, while the subtlest of changeable taffetas adopt themselves most perfectly to the modes favoring panniers, puffy over-skirts and irregular tunic effects. The uneven hem is popular this season and usually weighted with dainty silk or satin French flowers prettily chained with conventional stems. Laces of cobwebby texture are also employed in original designs.

One delightful creation in changeable pink taffeta was posed over a pretty silver embroidered lace underskirt, in a Greuze effect which was both charming and novel. The decollete of taffeta was cut in a low square back and front and bordered with handmade flowerpearl, centred. Tiny white net sleeve shirred and caught into puffs with flowers were very effective, and the costume enriched by the handsome pair of brocade dancing shoes exploiting very small ornaments on the pumps.

FRANCES HESTER HOW EMINENTLY SUCCESSFUL
