

then waltzed across to the piano, and for a moment drowned the outside noises — the jingle of sleigh-bells, and the shouts of children snowballing in the sunshine — with the still more joyous notes of a celebrated march by Mendelssohn.

THE END.