Cheese Markets.

Peterboro, Oct. 26.—The regular meeting of the Peterboro cheese board was beld here this morning. The buyers present were Messrs. Whitton, Kerr, Gillespic, Fitzgerald, Wrighton, Rollins. Thirty-seven factories boarded 4600 boxes of cheese. The bidding opened at 8½c and was raised to 9½c, at which price all the factories but seven were sold. Mr. Whitton bought 2900 boxes and Mr. Rollins the balance. Upon motion it was agreed that no factories should make cheese between Nov. 1 and May 1, as it was the opinion that the cheese made in this period was of an inferior nature. The board adjourned for two weeks.

FOR OFFENCE, NOT COLOR.

That Affair at Queen's Not of a Serious Sort.

Kingston, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Dr. J. C. Connell, dean of the medical faculty, to-day stated that the college would take no action with regard to the treatment of the colored students, on Mon.

Stitute of Mining Engineers of New ork, on "The application of dry air blast to the manufacture or iron." Prof. H. Baueman, a member of the international jury onmining and metallurgy at the St. Louis exposition." President Carnegie announced that 64 new members had been elected by the council. H. S. Campbell of Stelton, Pa., read a paper on "The influence of carbon, phosphorus, manganese and ment of the colored students on Mon-day evening. He regarded it merely as sulphur on the tensile strength of case of internal discipline and this, s before, would be left where possible the student body.

The action taken against the colored students was not owing to their color. They had transgressed the unwritten laws of the college, and were punished by their fellow students just as white men have been and would be under imilar circumstances.

men have been and would be under similar circumstances.

One of the earliest benefactors of Queen's had been a negro student who had been refused admission to Toronto and other colleges and found an open door at Queen's, and Queen's would never refuse admission to men on account of their color.

The colored students themselves are taking the matter. The colored students themselves are aking the matter quietly.

Boys and Swearing. Boys and Swearing.

For thirty years the teachers in Toronto public schools have accompanied pupils to the yard at the recess to prevent the using of bad language and other unproper conduct. If a pupil is reported for swearing on the street coming to or going from school he is punished," writes Inspector Hughes, referring to Col. Denison's statement that school boys were allowed to swear. ed to swear.

Matinee Performance at Massey Hall Productive of Much Amusement.

If you see a woman clutching her purse as the it contained all her state jewels, do not imagine that the purse is filled with double eagles. The chances are that the woman has, in cash, only car fare and a stamp, but what cause her to set such store by her purse i that it holds a mascot, a duplicate the one owned by Miss Anna Eva Fay, low at Massey Music Hall.

When Miss Fay was in India, on one f her tours of the world, she was entained by a tribe of occult scientists who presented her with their masco. and since her return to merica Mis Fay has had copies of this peculia agnet of luck prepared, which she disributes. The presence of Miss Fay in oronto has sent thousands of thes ascots into circulation, and every oman possessing one would rather art with her new hat than lose th part with her new hat than lose the precious piece of bronze and its mysterious inscriptions and queer figures.

Those fortunate enough to gain possession of a mascot of Miss Fay guard it zealously. Each night it is carefully deposited under the pillow of the owner, much after the fashion of using a piece of wedding cake. What result is brought by the mascots the owners of them will not tell. Wild horses would not drag the information from them, that is, for publication, but when two women, each owning a mascot. meet, they are noticably voluble in discussing the subject.

Wanted to Know.

Wanted to Know.

Funny, very funny, was the matinee "for ladies only" at Massey Hall yesterday afternoon. The house was well filled with ladies ranging in age from anything up to anything else, and the majority of them had prepared at home their questions to be asked Miss Fay. Had not the obliging Mahatma restricted the hours, the questions would probably have continued until to-night.

Some of the questions bordered on the pathetic, others were ludicrous, and others productive of uproarious laughter. Some of them would sound better to the feminine ear than the words would look in print, and as the writer has some respect for his feelings and strenuously objects to having his hair pulled, or his phiz transformed into a map of a battlefield, the uproarious questions will not be quoted. The most realistic feature of the seance was that there were women judges, and they were more mystified than the men who had officiated at the evening performance. There will be another ladies matinee Saturday.

Some Sample Questions, put

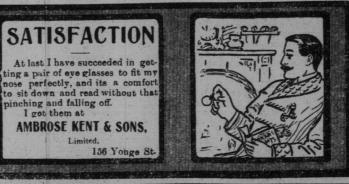

Here are a few of the questions put to Miss Fay, which she answered to the satisfaction of the audience, although the World will not produce the names

There were many other questions pertaining to lost articles, friends not heard from, many that could not, for certain understood reasons, be answered in a direct way, consequently requiring much tact and some diplomacy on the part of Miss Fay, which was displayed in an unassuming manner.

Miss Fay will remain at the Massey Hall every night this week. Last night she was as successful as ever in entertoining a large audience. taining a large audience.

HEAVY GRAIN TRAFFIC.

Grand Trunk officials report the usual rush of grain that, occurs every year in the last few weeks prior to the close of navigation.

It is taxing the facilities of the road to cope with the situation.

In London the stairways and elevators used for access to or egress from the staticns of the underground railroads do not occupy any part of the streets. The railway companies had to buy, space in a block where they wanted a station, just as anyone has to do who wants to build a house or store.
