SPEEDY METHOD OF HANDLING THE SUGAR

Railway Attached to Refinery Ceiling Transports it Quicker Than it Can be Delivered From Ship

Something new in the way of handling freight at this port was shown when the steamer Skidsa began to discharge her cargo at the sugar refinery wharf a day or two ago. The bags of sugar were landed on the wharf and trucked inside the warehouse in the usual way but at this point the modern methods of the sugar refinery come into action.

form where the sugar is being dumped into the machinery it is deposited there on, if there is enough on hand, it is carried past to the place where it will be stored until needed. The overhead rails are equipped with switches, like any other railway, to facilitate the handling of the cars with their loads.

With this equipment the sugar is handled in the warehouse more rapidly than it can be delivered on the wharf.

Something like an aerial railway with electric cars suspended from a monorail. The little car is just big enough to hold the chauffeur or operator but attached to it is a powerful lifting apparatus. The car circles around until it is over the pile of sugar at one of the entrances; the cable is lowered and attached to a sling which holds a ton of sugar and then the load is lifted high in the air, the car commencing to move forward as the load ascends. When the car reaches the plat-

"VERY BUSY MAN," MR. SEIDENSTICKER
 Getting Near Sugar Refinery Head Seems a Problem—An Off-hold Tale

These may be dull times elsewhere, but there is at least one man in St. John who has no time to realize it. He is a busy man, as all his associates and any one else who comes in contact with him can, and will testify.

A man who had occasion to see the manager of the sugar refinery yesterday had this fact impressed upon him. An attempt to get in touch with the gentleman by telephone elicited the information that he was out around the big plant somewhere out of reach of the phone and in explanation of the difficulty in reaching him the statement was made that "Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man these days."

Another man was made later and the manager was still out of reach. An inquiry regarding the hour when he went to lunch was answered to the effect that he does not go; he is too busy these days.

A later call brought the answer that "Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man, but that it might be possible to see him personally."

The next step was a trip to the refinery. Here the visitor was passed through the barred gate by a vigilant watchman who enquired the nature of his business. "You want to see the manager? Well, there is the office, but Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man these days."

At the office a gentleman assured the visitor that Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man, but he would see what could be done.

Another official was summoned and started off in search of the manager. It looked at first as if he had missed his cue but no, that was not possible, and back he came. "Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man," he announced in a way of one giving out a piece of exclusive information, while he asked if any one else would do. The nature of the business seemed to require the personal attention of the manager as other accounts were sent out. There came a rumor that he was at the top of the ten storey building, but this was a false trail and he was finally located elsewhere.

A courteous official acted as guide and escort in the trip to the place where the manager was last sighted. After the exchange of some general remarks the visitor began to wonder if his companion had not heard the rumor he had thought; everybody seemed to know it; as they approached the manager the latter was found busily directing the operations of a crew of men and at the same time holding a conference with several other men on various matters which required his attention. The guide paused and apologized for keeping the visitor waiting for a few minutes. "You can see Mr. Seidensticker is a very busy man."

There is no question about it; he is.

ST. MONICA'S LADIES HAVE NEVER DONE BETTER
 Delightful Bridge, With Dancing, in K. of C. Home—More Than 400 There

What was the most successful event of its kind yet conducted by the members of St. Monica's Society, was the bridge and dance held in the rooms of the Knights of Columbus, 100 St. John Street, last evening. More than 400 were present. The earlier part of the evening was occupied with bridge, with some eighty tables well arranged in the large assembly hall. Dainty refreshments were served by a committee of patriotic nature added to the attractiveness of the rooms, while about the walls and suspended from the electric globe were valentines shaped in hearts, in keeping with the idea of the event, which was termed a Valentine bridge and dance.

The prize winners were—First ladies, Mrs. Edward P. O'Boyle; second ladies, Mrs. A. B. Wilson; third, Miss Mary Ready; first gentlemen, E. P. O'Boyle; second, W. J. Mahoney; third, J. Frank O'Neil. The presentation of the prizes was made in a graceful speech by His Worship Mayor Frink, who was given a hearty reception by the large gathering. During the evening Mrs. Dalton, wife of Dr. J. T. Dalton, of Fairville, sang "Tippin'ry" to the enjoyment of those present. The event was most successful from every view point, and a considerable sum of money was secured by the members of St. Monica's for their charitable work.

The committee having the event in hand were as follows:—
 Reception—Mrs. D. P. Chisholm, first vice-president; Mrs. J. H. Doody, second vice-president; refreshments, Mrs. D. C. Deardon, Mrs. Joseph H. Ritchie, Mrs. R. J. Sullivan, Mrs. M. E. F. W. Woodworth, Former Sergeant in King's Liverpool Regiment, Gets Word From Them at Front

F. W. Woodworth, late sergeant of the King's Liverpool Regiment, sent to the Times early in January a clipping from Lloyd's Weekly announcing the death of the colonel of the King's Regiment, in action. The name of the colonel was not mentioned and Sergeant Woodworth assumed that it was Colonel Glynn. He wrote, however, to his regiment in France and has received a reply showing that it was Lieut.-Col. Banbury who was killed. Sergeant Woodworth's time. The answer which Sergeant Woodworth has received is as follows:—

F. W. Woodworth
 110 Harrison St., St. John.
 Dear Sir—In reply to your letter of inquiry re the late colonel's name, I have to inform you that it was Lt. Col. W. S. Banbury. It is very gratifying to know that the doings of the regiment are being watched by its old members wherever they are, and it is with pleasure that I say that the praise given us by General French was richly deserved. In a war of such great magnitude as this when every regiment is keen to add further laurels to its name, the speech you mention means a lot. The men are very proud of it.

I am pleased to hear that several old members of the King's are enlisted into the 29th Battalion. The honor of their old regiment is in their keeping, equally much as it is in the keeping of the men in the trenches. We are doing our best to uphold it. Do yours.

P. HULLLEY,
 Captain for Lieut.-Colonel, commanding 1st Battalion, The King's (Liverpool) Regiment.
 (France.)

 Close of Junior "B." Basket Ball League Season at Y. M. C. A.

Wednesday afternoon the Junior "B" Basket Ball League of the Y. M. C. A. brought its season's schedule to a close, the last game being played between the Seelye and Jordan teams. The last game was a hard fought one, but it seemed throughout the Jordan team had a shade the better combination, although the game was somewhat one sided in the scoring, Jordan winning 18 to 8.

The team have made their opponents work hard for every point made. McIntosh and Cross made the points for their team and Jordan and Regan were the stars for their team.

This game closes the most interesting league that the Junior "B" Class has had. All through the games played it was doubtful as to which team would be the victor as all teams in the league were evenly picked. In most of the games played it was very seldom that the team were by a large score over the other, and this made the games very exciting and most interesting. In the league records tallied up it is found that Willett has carried home the bacon in one game over Tentowoke and has thus proved his team to be the champions for 1915.

Final Standing.

Team	Won	Lost	P. C.
Willett	6	2	750
Tentowoke	5	2	625
McIntosh	4	3	500
Seelye	3	3	375
Carina	2	6	250

MARRIED IN ST. JOACHIM'S

Miss Josie M. Owens Bride of Leo J. Sisk

A wedding of interest to many friends was celebrated in St. Joachim's church, Silver Falls, last evening at 8 o'clock when the pastor, Rev. A. J. O'Neil, united in marriage Miss Josie M. Owens, daughter of Mrs. Margaret and the late John A. Owens, and Leo J. Sisk. The bride, who was given away by her brother, was nicely gowned in purple velvet with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Josephine MacNeil was bridesmaid and was dressed in a pretty gown of grey silk with black velvet hat. She carried pink carnations. John J. Owens was best man.

Following the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's mother, Mount Pleasant avenue, where a delightful supper was enjoyed. Many handsome and costly remembrances were received by the bride, among them a valuable Morris chair from associates of the groom in the Norton Griffiths Co. employ, where he is engaged as engineer. Mr. and Mrs. Sisk will reside at East St. John.
