

The Evening Times Star

VOL. XVIII, No. 24 PAGES ONE TO EIGHT

ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1921

SIXTEEN PAGES—ONE CENT

Expect Commons To Give Lloyd George Strong Endorsation

Extreme Unionists' Challenge on Irish Negotiations—Again Talk of New Party and Bonar Law Named as Possible Chief.

FIFTEEN YEARS IN PRIZE RING

Leach Cross Has Bout for Anniversary

An International Bout Tonight—Baseball Men in a Pro Basketball Team—Late News of Sporting Events.

New York, Oct. 28.—Leach Cross, veteran lightweight, will observe the fifteenth anniversary of his professional career on November 4, by engaging Frankie Maxwell in a decision bout.

New York, Oct. 28.—Ernie Rice of England, holder of the English light-weight boxing championship, will meet Sailor Friedman in a fifteen-round contest in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 28.—"Rabbit" Maranville, Pittsburgh shortstop, has taken up his usual off-season activity by organizing a professional basketball team.

New York, Oct. 28.—The fight for the national pocket billiard championship has narrowed today to two men, Arthur Greenleaf, the title holder, and Ralph Woods of Minneapolis, with the former holding the advantage.

New York, Oct. 28.—Miss Cecil Lettich, who holds the championships of Great Britain, France and Canada, had a double task today that drew a large gathering to the Pelham Country Club.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—The 1922 tournament of the American Bowling Congress will be held in the terminal auditorium in Toledo beginning February 27 and continuing through March 28.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—The fight for the national pocket billiard championship has narrowed today to two men, Arthur Greenleaf, the title holder, and Ralph Woods of Minneapolis, with the former holding the advantage.

New York, Oct. 28.—A consignment of fire arms that lay unused in the New York post office, when auto bandits held up and robbed a lone, unarmed mail truck driver of $1,454.129 last Monday night, were out today doing duty on the streets.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

London, Oct. 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the premier announced that the imperial conference had generally agreed with the policy adopted previously by the admiralty that, for the better security of Great Britain's outlying possessions, certain naval bases, including those in the Pacific, needed modernizing and in special cases extending.

John Bull—"I say, George, she's in a deuce of a hole; but if anyone can get her out of it, you can."

Irish Negotiations Are Off Until Next Week

Will Not be Resumed Until After Commons Discusses Government's Policy—DeValera Again Chosen.

London, Oct. 28.—The Irish conference has been suspended until next Monday, the day set for a discussion in the House of Commons of the government's policy in dealing with the Sinn Fein representatives.

It was remarked by the Times and some other journals, however, that the hostility toward the government was to be found in the constituencies rather than in parliament, and an assertion was made that for this reason Unionist abstentions from the voting on next Monday would be almost as significant as hostile ballots.

It was not expected that the vote adverse to the government would be a heavy one, and that all the Coalition-Liberals and Laborites certainly would rally to the support of the coalition government.

The Times, while recognizing this fact, placed emphasis upon the declaration that Eamon De Valera's repudiation of loyalty to the king had so stirred Unionists throughout the country that members of parliament belonging to that party were favorable to the continuation of the Irish conference being suspended until after the election of the next parliament.

Unionist ministers were desired to have been given great emphasis by the Times, and the Times asserted that a "responsible member of the government" said yesterday it was becoming impossible to carry on.

It was out of deference to the insurgent section of the Unionist party, the Times said, that Lord Birkenhead replaced Austen Chamberlain as one of the government's representatives at the meeting of the joint committee of the Irish conference yesterday. In addition to the presence of Lord Birkenhead was said to be intended as a reassurance to those anxious regarding Ulster, as he has in the past been prominently identified with Ulster's resistance to home rule.

Political correspondents generally predict important developments at the annual conference of the Unionist party in Liverpool next week. They assert that the party may split, and that there may be formed an independent Conservative party, of which it is hinted A. Bonar Law, former government leader of the House of Commons, may become the head. He will return to active politics at the next session of parliament.

The Times said today that even in the event of a split in the party the majority of the Unionists would still follow Lord Birkenhead, retaining the loyalty of the Coalition Liberals, would thus become the chief of a centre party.

Christiansburg, Oct. 28.—The general elections on Monday gave no party a clear majority and it is impossible to predict which party or bloc will form the new cabinet for the new Storting, which will meet in February.

Out of the 150 seats, the Conservatives, running on an anti-prohibition platform and against the government policy of maintaining time restrictions, secured 55 seats. The Communists, following the Moscow programme, obtained twenty-nine seats, largely at the expense of the Right wing Socialists.

The Radical Left, the biggest party in the old Storting and the basis of the present cabinet, lost heavily on their prohibition policy and violations of treaties with Spain and Portugal, which led to a tariff war and the complete closing of those countries to the Norwegian fish trade.

One woman, Miss Karen Platow of Christiania, was elected. She is the first woman to enter the Storting, although women have had the vote here since 1907.

Vanouver, B. C., Oct. 28.—Alex Paulson, a young Russian, last night was found guilty of the murder of W. P. Salsbury, in a hold up here in last April. He was sentenced to be hanged on January 25, the day on which he was executed in the hold up. Allan Robinson, also goes to the gallows.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 28.—Rotarians of Winnipeg are urging the Rotary Club of the world to hold special meetings between November 7 and 11 in support of disarmament.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I had a curious dream last night. I dreamed I was in the Settlement, and you and I sat at either side of the fireplace in your living room. Mrs. Hornbeam sat just in front of the fire, knitting. You and I were smoking and we were looking into the fire and chatting about the early settlers, the great pine woods, the bridge-paths, the log-houses, the school teacher, who had been an old soldier, the occasional church service, and the strenuous life of that early time. Wasn't that odd?"

"It was so," said Hiram. "An' what makes it odd still is that me an' Hiram were settin' by the fire last night talkin' about you. She's got a 'Finnish' front of the fire, knittin' your name on 'em—yes, sir."

"I knew that dream meant something," said the reporter. "If all our dreams meant turkey an' 'em—yes, sir."

CANADIAN V. C.'S TO HONOR DEAD HERO IN U. S.

Will Attend at Bestowal of Victoria Cross on the Unknown Soldier.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—The oldest living member of the Victoria Cross, Sgt. G. Richardson of Toronto, will pay homage on behalf of the soldiers of the Dominion to the unknown American soldier upon whose tomb will be placed the highest honor that Britain pays to valor—the first occasion that the cross has been bestowed on other than a British subject.

Sgt. Richardson will attend the burial services in the Arlington National Cemetery on November 31, and on behalf of the Dominion of Canada, will place a wreath of maple leaves at the foot of the massive shaft which is rising on the hills of Virginia, overlooking the national capital of the U. S.

The executive of the G. A. U. V. is in touch with the leaders of other veterans organizations to appoint an honorarium escort to accompany the aged veteran on his mission.

The G. A. U. V. has appointed as its delegate Sgt. W. L. Rayfield, V. C., first vice-president of the organization. It is expected that the other veteran bodies will also appoint members who are winners of the highest military honors in the British army to make up the escort.

ABOLISH QUEENSLAND EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

London, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press)—A Reuter cable from Brisbane, Australia, says that the bill abolishing the executive council of the state of Queensland has been passed by both houses of parliament. The administration of Queensland is vested in a governor and an executive council acting with the consent of parliament.

The executive council, which is to be abolished, consists of an indefinite number of members nominated by the governor. The assembly is an elected body of seventy-two members.

PHILIPS AND PHOTODUPLICATION WEATHER REPORT

Issued by authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, B. F. Stephens, director of meteorological service.

Synopsis—Pressure is high in the eastern portion of the continent over the Pacific coast states, while depression is situated in Kansas and British Columbia. Rain has fallen heavily on the British Columbia coast and showers have occurred in Manitoba and over the greater portion of Ontario.

Maritime—Light to moderate winds, fine today and on Saturday. Not much change in temperature.

New England—Fair tonight and Saturday. Not much change in temperature. Light to moderate variable winds.

Table with 2 columns: Station and Temperature. Includes entries for St. John's, Halifax, and other locations.

Union Heads Flash Orders Calling Off Great Railway Strike

Decision Declared Pleasing to All—All Danger Passed Unless New Strike Vote Taken, and There Are No Plans for That.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Official recall of the railroad strike orders issued by the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen, was dispatched today when leaders of the "Big Five" flashed code messages to their general chairmen. The chairmen will relay the messages to the locals.

Similar orders probably will be dispatched today by the telegraphers union that they had decided that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision, while members of the labor boards characterized the action as a mere strike vote, so W. G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, said.

The final decision seemed pleasing to union men, railroad executives and labor board alike. Union leaders pointed out that they had determined that they could not strike without opposing both the labor board and the administration at Washington, while they asserted their real quarrel was with the railroads.

STUDENTS HELD UP EX-EMPEROR

Checked Charles Long Enough to Spoil Chances.

Various small notices and advertisements at the bottom of the page.