

SURRENDER OF TURKS TO HAVE MARKED EFFECT

View in England is That War is Brought Near to End

SOME CAUTION, HOWEVER

Immense Possibilities Affecting Roumania and Russian Bolshevik-Convention Signed is Purely Military - Release of British Armies

London, Nov. 1.—The complete isolation of Germany as a result of the desertion and surrender of her allies is commented upon as the outstanding feature of the latest developments in the "colossal drama of victory."

The general tenor of comment, however, indicates a belief that Germany must sooner or later accept virtually any terms the Allies impose.

The immense possibilities following the Turkish collapse are discussed by all the newspapers, among the hopeful auguries being the rescue of Roumania and the end of Bolshevik tyranny in Russia.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The capitulation of Turkey, although anticipated, has made nevertheless a profound impression in France. Newspapers declare it to be an event of supreme importance.

The convention is of a purely military character, and in no way affects the peace which will eventually be signed with the Turkish empire. What is interesting, however, is the immediate consequences of the armistice.

First of all, the greater part of the British armies in Syria, Palestine and Mesopotamia will be released. The army of the Orient, which will soon be the army of the Save and the Danube, will be, perhaps, called upon to play a great role, for which its reinforcement by seasoned elements will be desirable at an early date.

When the Dardanelles are opened, the Allied fleet will restore direct communication with Roumania, as it is hardly probable that the Greeks, the Breslau and the Russian fleet sold to Germany by the Bolsheviks will offer resistance.

The Allies will then hold the Mediterranean outlets of Ukraine and Greater Russia.

TELLS OF CURE WHICH HAS SAVED OTHERS

That the present epidemic of pneumonia, which is like a sympathetic germ following the lead of Spanish influenza, is of a more virulent type than has been seen in this country in years, was a statement of an elderly woman to a Times reporter this morning.

That her son is living today, she said, is due to this treatment. A few days ago he contracted a heavy cold, which developed into pneumonia.

When the patient showed signs of relief administer a dose of castor oil, followed by a little hot whiskey.

BRITISH RESUME THE DRIVE NEAR VALENCIENNES

London, Nov. 1.—An Allied attack on Germany from the east was foreshadowed by George Nicoll Barnes, member of the British war cabinet, in a speech last evening at the American officers' club in London.

The armistice with Turkey might have been signed earlier but the Allies were committed to a free Arab state with Aleppo as the capital, and there was no hurry to get the Turk out of the war until Aleppo was captured.

The British have been assembling ships at the mouth of the Dardanelles, and Mr. Barnes said: "There is now nothing to prevent the fleet from going into the Black Sea and up the Danube to Germany's back door, at which we shall soon be knocking, and if the Germans are going to defend their territory they must divide their remaining forces between the western front and the back door at which we shall be knocking."
