AGRICULTURE

Notes and Suggestions of Practical Utility

OR THE FARM, FIELD, GARDEN AND BARN.

Cleanliness of Interest for Our Country Readers.

Nature never duplicates. Take time to hoe the garden. Health demands clean water. Bees and children will swarm. Hotheds are growing popular. Judiciously fertilize the lawn. Use a trowel for transplanting. Keep up the growth if possible. Good house work is good in winter. Insects kill you watch and pray. Proportion the feed to the need. Justice demands honest measure. The trio is air, exercise and food. Allow no shoots on grafted limbs. A toll in its place is easily found. Sell the poorest and keep the best. Hosing tools makes them durable. Honest measure begins confidence. Change of pasture makes fat stock. Stuffing a fattening animal clogs it. Study nature with the aid of books. Don't set your lawn mower too close. Mow is a nice thing in dry weather. Flowers express the spirit of beauty. Make your garden an all-summer seat. Home-grown seed ought to be the best. It is found that broilers don't lay eggs. Grubbing goes before every revolution. Forethought is better than afterthought. Dairy, fool cellars are death generators. Plenty of rich feed makes rapid growth. Land greed makes many a farmer poor. Give your work team a good bed to sleep on. Poor feed makes slow growth, if any at all. The improved dairyman has improved cows. Young animals need water as well as milk. The colostrum plant is better than the extract. Give each class of stock separate pastures. Food given to unprofitable animals is wasted. Animals and plants have their limits of latitude. First milk and then beef is the popular demand. Avoid as much as possible working in the rain. Wet-footed fowls are easily marked in the feet. The sneers of the ignorant are complimentary. Provide a shelter from rain and sun for all stock. Age does not always count in argument; facts are better. The earth is pronounced a larder of magnetic force. Why not set a few fruit trees for the birds and bees? Machinery expedites work on the farm; it also costs more. Don't waste your strength whaling your eye; give it a rest. Clover has both a fertilizing and mechanical effect on the soil. "Never too old to learn," except the average cheese-maker. A passionate affection is liable to be struck by a cold wave. The possession of political power is demoralizing to the individual. History should present the thoughts as well as deeds of the age. It is poor economy to sell this cattle when you can make them thick. Judging age by the teeth wouldn't work very well among the human race. No amount of after-rect is a full substitute for a little proper forethought. Early varieties of potatoes appear to be less liable to disease than late ones. The emancipation of the black did not complete the work of emancipation. The quality of honey depends much on the nature of the plant it is drawn from. The phase of the moon has as little to do with agriculture as the face in the moon. People who seek to tend to the affairs of others are seldom fit to tend to their own. The sooner you mow your meadow the sooner the second crop begins to come on. When rutabagas are fed to milk cows, they should be fed immediately after milking. If animals are properly fed and kept there is little use for the cart or curry comb. A properly balanced fertilizer ration is as important as a properly balanced food ration. First-class butter is a law unto itself against adulteration, except when mixed with it. Ground flaxseed, in proper proportion, is better than linseed used to mix with milk for calves. The Shetland pony is supposed to be the standard offering of unfavorable conditions for the horse.

ANECDOTES, HAPPENINGS AND GENERAL COMMENTS

Clipped and Condensed for the Readers of The Globe.

Mr. Glahner, when in a balloon, at two miles from the earth heard a musket shot and a dog bark, and at four miles a railway train.

The largest parish church in England is St. Nicholas, Yarmouth. The smallest is either the old church at Bembridge, in the Isle of Wight, or a church in one of the Dorsetshire parishes.

At a meeting of the trustees of Slabens, near Birchiplace, a letter was read from the owner of the cottage in which Anne Hathaway lived before her marriage to the poet, stating that he would accept £3,000 for the dwelling.

Queen Victoria during her reign has only signed one death warrant, which was for an execution in the Isle of Man; the rest of the peculiar and now canonical use of the word, "Twenty-two carats fine" means that out of twenty-four parts twenty-two are gold and the rest alloy.

When the two sons of the Prince of Wales were visiting South America, at a ball in Rio, Prince George was having a right good time, dancing with any of the pretty girls who took his fancy, irrespective of their social position, and neglecting the bigwigs. His elder brother remonstrated with him. "You go and sit down and while God save your grandfather's soul, let me alone," said Prince George, and went on enjoying himself after his own fashion.

In the German army it is the custom to order the men to aim at the eye of the instructor of Musketry, who is thus able to see whether their aim is correct. A recruit in the 130th Regiment, stationed at Metz had by some mistake received ball cartridge, and having loaded his rifle, aimed in the usual way at the eye of the sergeant who was instructing him. The man pulled the trigger, and killed the instructor on the spot.

A Parliamentary return just issued gives particulars of the cost to the country when the judges are on sabbath circuits. During the year 1891 the Queen's Bench judges were absent from London on sabbath business for 1,239 days, and their allowances, at the rate of £7 10s. a day, amounted to £8,702 10s. Further, their railway fares cost £273, and the railway fares and cab allowances of their clerks £278. Marshals to judges, who are each paid two guineas per diem, received £2,883; whilst the Clerk of Assize were paid £4,140 in the shape of "subsistence allowances."

Tobacco Chewers Among Women. A well known physician, while walking down the street with a friend remarked, a patient of mine lives in that house who is dying—an idolized wife—beyond all help, and tobacco chewing has killed her. why, doctor, what do you mean? I mean this her husband is literally steeped in tobacco juice, and the insensible preparation from his body has become so saturated with nicotine as to be a deadly poison. His wife, before I was called, had absorbed enough of the poison so that no human power can save her; and even he will, I believe, end his days in torture from some form of skin disease. The skin is really the most wonderful and important organ of the human body. Night and day, every hour of our lives, it is filtering out from the blood acids or poisonous debris. If it stopped work for twenty-four hours in this or any case, death would ensue. You can imagine, then, what it means for a delicate, sensitive-skinned woman to sleep in a warm bed night after night with an insensate tobacco chower. The skin and mucous membrane of some persons is much more sensitive than others. A person who in summer is subject to hay fever, tanoid or burnoid skin, in winter to colds, bronchitis, chapped hands, or chilblains, ought always (whether at home or traveling) to keep a bottle of Johnson's Ointment near at hand. Rub the ointment with water and gently bath, or wash with a cloth with it and lay upon the irritated skin if very sensitive; then wash it clean in the morning with Castile soap and water. If a person who takes cold quickly, or is predisposed to bronchitis or catarrh, or exposed to any poison, irritating the skin or mucous surfaces, which might tend to cause consumption will every night, before retiring, bathe the chest and throat with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment and, before dressing in the morning, rub the whole body smartly with a coarse towel, slightly dampened, and then wipe dry; we believe they never would have pulmonary troubles, or disease from neglective working of the skin. E. K. Johnson & Co., Boston, will send a pamphlet, free, describing other uses for this old household remedy, now eighty years old.

JINGLES OF HUMOR.

A Little Nonsense Gathered for Leisure Reading.

"We made a big mistake, Adam," said Eve after they had settled outside the garden. "How, dear?" "We should have insisted upon having that matter arbitrated."

She—Who is that? He—Mr. Markham. She—How sad he looks. He has been disappointed in love! He—Yes. The girl's father failed the week after Markham married her. "I know where Gilbert got his idea for his twenty love sick maidens and Bunterhorns." "From Oscar Wilde, wasn't it?" "No, indeed. From a summer hotel."

"This here paper," said good old Mrs. Jason, "says that the chills an fever distribs all the drinkin' water sh'd be boiled. I wonder if it has to be boiled dry?" "No, 'nol," said the teacher, apologetically to Tommie, "that I should whip you if you didn't tell your father you had run away from school, didn't it?" "That's all right," responded Tommie; "I didn't tell him. One of your lickin's is a plumb by the side of one of dad's."

Student—Would you perhaps buy this Greek dictionary? Antiquary—I am sorry, but I buy only whole libraries. Student—Just so. This book is the whole of library? Inconveniences of modern water's attire. First Guest—Here—! I want a knife and fork, please! Second Guest—Confound you, so do I!

A Record Last. Professor of History: "What do you know about Louis XIV's times?" Jack Athlete—"Nothing, sir; I never knew he was a sprinter."

Dignified Stranger (at newsstand)—Which of these papers is the most highly respectable? Newsman—This one, I guess. Nobody says it.

"No Col. Mayron has all your money?" said one Congressman to another. "Yes," "How did he get it?" "He took it by force. I was backing a full hand."

The story that comes from St. Joseph, Mo., about a three-month-old baby with a beard 18 inches long is not exactly a barbed lie, but it would be if it were allowed.

First Tramp—Did you hear about the new $1 counterfeits that is out? Second Tramp—No. "Fact. And a fellow can't tell it from the genuine."

"I know I couldn't. We must be on the lookout for it, Jim."

"Taw, what is a partisan?" "It's a man that's always on one side."

"And an Independent?" "O, he's always on the other side."

Visitor—What are you painting? Artist (annoyingly)—Can't you see? Visitor (weeily)—Yes, I see it's a flower. Have you decided yet what to call it?

Mr. Breezy—Just on your account, madam, I've been hiding my light under a bushel for years! Mrs. Breezy—Oh, dear! Extravagant as ever! Why didn't you buy a pint cup?

It Costs Less than a Dozen of Ordinary Dress Buttons.

Buying new dresses at each season is to many ladies a serious and important matter, for the reason that all women are not the wives and daughters of wealthy men. Fashion however, demands that the new dress must be forthcoming to suit the season; and thousands of women who invariably cannot afford the money are compelled to buy the cheap fashion's imperious commands in order to uphold their status in society. We are extravagant people, and must change our mode of living. If we wish to be happy, prosperous and independent of others. Let us allow the ladies now to do this.

It is a recognized fact, that no more fashionable or becoming dress in colour and appearance can be worn to-day by ladies, than a Black Dress. A Black Dress looks well upon any occasion, and under any circumstances, for young and old.

In order to dress well and cheaply, it is necessary for a lady to take one of her colored woollen dresses, no matter how old, dingy and faded it may be, and with the aid of one or two packages of Fast Black Diamond Dye for wool, she can transform the old and out-of-garment into a thing of beauty and utility, for less money than a dozen of ordinary dress buttons would cost.

With this magnificent, rich and brilliant Fast Black Diamond Dye, the work of dyeing is rendered easy, light and quick; and the results are invariably satisfactory. No other dyes can give the same satisfaction and pleasure; only the Diamond can give that perfect and rich tone of Black, so much looked for. Every Department of the Diamond Dye establishment is now being worked to its utmost capacity to supply the increasing demand. That novel and interesting "Diamond Dye Competition" is the talk of the ladies all over Canada; and the number of ladies who are entering as competitors is increasing every day. The Competition being free to all ladies who wish to show their work, and the prizes so very liberal, are certainly weighty inducements for all wives, mothers and daughters to take a part in the great work.

The Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal will send, post free to any address in the Dominion, a book explaining the scheme, and giving full particulars.

Myrtle Navy.

The success which the Myrtle Navy tobacco has with the public is because it is composed of the very finest Virginia leaf grown, and is manufactured with the most scrupulous care at every stage of the process.
