Having been nominated as the Liberal candidate, I beg to solicit your support in the coming provincial election.

The Liberals claim that the McBride government has forfeited all right to government has forfeited all right to the confidence of the electorate. This government has forfeited all right to the confidence of the electorate. This government is too heavy a load for the province to carry, even though the ship of state has been lightened by casting their Jonah (Mr. Green) into the sea. Regardless of the people's interest, they have clung to office as the chief desire of their hearts, allying themselves with the worst type of Socialism, one that would destroy that symbol of the traditions of the party led by their record in office. There is a faithful few, old chieftain, Sir John Macdonald, must however, who cling to him as the only theory that the man may have had accomplices, and are striving to learn
