THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

The Orangemen of the Province will celebrate the 12th of July at St. John.

Intending summer brides can order their wedding stationery from Greetings.

Reports from lumber markets would indicate that the American market is improving.

So much lumber piled in one place has caused the public wharf to settle a few inches.

The assessors are compiling their lists, which are later than usual, owing to difficulty in getting men to act.

Some slight fires have occurred in the vicinity of the saw mill, but were extinguished without much trouble.

Some of the bridges in the country districts are said to be in very bad condition, in fact dangerous in some places.

It required six horses to move a boiler, belonging to Tayte Meating & Co., from L'Etang to the new mill at Dewar.

Clarence Lank of Campbellton attended last week the Intercollegiate track team at Moncton, N. B., where he won second prize in the shot put.

Fire at Presque Isle, Me., Monday night consumed one hundred buildings, with a loss of $300,000. One thousand people are homeless.

John O'Brien who has been confined to the house for some months, is able to be out again, and is so far convalescent as to be able to go to his store.

Reports from Beaver Harbor received here, state that pollock and cod have struck in shore in large quantities, and the fishermen are making good hauls.

A scow, loaded with granite for Epps Doolis & Co. grounded at the little island, and filled on the floor tide. After the pairs had been made she was raised and brought to the wharf.

The scow of lumber that met with a mishap on the way to the lake, after being put in condition, continued the journey, in tow of a power boat, and reached the landing safely.

It is hoped that a strong team will be formed to play base ball. The material is here and only requires a little development. The game is very popular in the towns near us, and it seems too bad that the team here will not come together, and represent the town in this manly sport.

At Port Hood.—F. I. Kenen, of St. Stephen, succeeded having the charge of theft against him dismissed, and the goods he got on January 12, last, from R. Koory and Company, of Inverness, under a search warrant, were today returned to him. Kenen will leave for New Brunswick on Wednesday.

The lumber mill has been shut down for some days during the installation of a new boiler. It was found that there was not power enough to run the mill profitably and safely with one boiler. The new one was purchased from Tayte, Meating & Co. and had been used during the winter by the company operating at Letang.

The Presbyterian General Assembly in Denver, asked its churches to petition Congress to stop inter-state shipments of liquor and to forbid the passage for advertisements for liquor through the mails. A resolution declaring that tobacco should not be used by either ministers or laymen also passed with a cheer.

We the undersigned, do hereby agree to close our respective places of business on Wednesday at 1 p. m. during the months of June, July and August. Frauley Bros., Grant & Morin, H. McGrattan & Sons, Hanson Bros., John Dewar & Sons Ltd., Jas. O'Neill, Tayte Meating & Co., L. E. Wallace, J. W. Webster, J. Sutton Clark, Milne, Coates & Co., Greetings Publishing Co.

Steamer Prince Arthur, sailing for Yarmouth last week for Boston, had the largest cargo of live lobsters ever shipped from Yarmouth, totalling 1630 crates. Besides these 150 barrels fresh mackerel, salmon and other fresh fish represented a very large amount of money. The Arthur was piled rails high on deck. This is an instance of the extent of the lobster industry in these western counties. Lobsters at the time of the last shipment averaged $10 a crate.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Early risers report ice of considerable thickness in evidence every morning the last week.

An elaborate soda fountain has been placed in the drug store. It is very handsome in design and finish.

H. McGrattan & Sons have sold an enormous lot of Martin Senour paint this season. It is giving excellent satisfaction.

Tayte, Meating & Co.'s store has been painted an attractive color by H. Douglas who has several painting contracts on hand.

Although the weather conditions have not been favorable, the ground is in good shape and the prospects for good crops are bright.

The travelling peddler is promptly looked after by the license committee, but sometimes, by sailing under false colors, a few escape the vigilant officers of the law.

Correspondents must be careful with their news items, and not send anything calculated to offend. It is not fair to us to do this, as we receive the correspondence in good faith.

H. R. Lawrence and Leo McGrattan broke all records for trout fishing this season. They arrived in town Thursday evening with a string of two hundred. "They were caught a few miles from town" is all the information the gentlemen have given out.

Saturday night the town, for the first time this summer, was lively. Everybody took advantage of the beautiful evening and crowds were on the streets the surrounding districts sent representatives in and business was good in all the stores. It was late when some of the boys wended their various ways homeward.

Both Sheriff Sweet and his deputies and the police officers of Eastport have been raising saloons in that town the past week, and 131 pints, 180 half pints, 27 quarts and two barrels of bottled beer and whiskey confiscated. The alleged owners were found guilty and appealed their cases to the next term of the Supreme court.

South Boston is in the hands of street renewers. The road machine has been at work and men are busy filling in, constructing a sidewalk that will be as high as the center of the highway. Perhaps when the work is done the benefits will be appreciated by the public generally. Meantime the dust is keeping the housekeepers busy and cross, and pedestrians are wondering why the nice smooth walk was ruined.

Yarmouth, N. S., June 4.—The steamer Prince Arthur sailing last evening for Boston had the largest cargo of live lobsters ever shipped from Yarmouth totalling 1,630 crates. Besides these were 150 barrels of fresh mackerel, salmon and other fresh fish representing a very large amount of money. The Arthur was piled rails high on deck. Lobsters of the last shipment averaged $10 a crate.

The Acme theatre at Eastport is presenting wonderfully realistic pictures which are highly commended by every visitor to this cozy little amusement palace. Refined singing and other acts on the bill are far above the average. Parents can bring or send their little ones with perfect safety as the program is both amusing and instructive. Visitors to Eastport are cordially invited to drop in and spend a pleasant half hour.

Mrs. Frank Foster's house at Boabec was completely destroyed by fire Sunday evening and only part of the furniture in one room was saved. Seventy dollars in cash formed part of the property that went up in smoke. There was no insurance on the building or furniture. The fire is supposed to have caught about the chimney.

The house of Robert Cox at Boabec was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning the fire originating from a defective fuse. The fire started while Mr. and Mrs. Cox were milking cows in the barn and it was only the peril of their own lives that they were able to rescue their children from the burning building. When Mr. Cox rushed into the kitchen the flames had consumed such a headway that there came an explosion of kerosene in a can and some of the burning fluid ignited the coat on his back, which he quickly threw aside to save his life. Nearly all the contents of the house were consumed. The property was insured for only $300.

In both cases the assistance of neighbors prevented the destruction of the barns, ... Courier.
