

SPEAKS OF MISSIONARY WORK IN INDIA

Miss Strickland, returned Missionary relates experiences—Much good being done.

A large number was present at the school house of Trinity church yesterday afternoon to hear Miss Strickland relate her experiences as a missionary in India. The speaker gave several instances showing the value of the work done in the far East, explaining in an interesting way some of the many difficulties with which the missionaries have to contend. Some have held, she said, that results have not been so great as the large amount of work done would lead one to expect. The influence of caste, and other incidents of the religious and social life of the people had, however, made it difficult to reach the people in the direction of preaching the gospel, but those who had the task in hand were in no way discouraged and the good work will be continued with the same energy as heretofore. Very often, it was shown, the acceptance of the teachings of the gospel had meant the severance of family and social ties and other sacrifices that the ordinary observer knows little about. The general results of the earnest work of the missionaries here, it was pointed out, been very encouraging. The speaker referred to the need of continued financial aid and prayerful sympathy.

Upon the conclusion of Miss Strickland's address Mrs. Thomas Walker proposed a hearty vote of thanks, which was seconded by W. S. Fisher and carried unanimously. Rev. I. Ralph Sherman occupied the chair. The afternoon's proceedings included the singing of hymns and instrumental music.

WILL NOT SELL CARGO OF THE WILHELMINA TO BELGIAN RELIEF CTEE

FATE OF SHIP PURCHASE BILL IS DOUBTFUL

Washington, Feb. 6.—Administration Senators agreed today it would be impossible to re-commit the Ship Purchase Bill, with instructions for its modification, and determined their only course to get an amendment of the bill before the Senate is to yield to Senator Clark's motion, which threw the Democratic ranks into confusion.

They will then press Senator Gore's motion to discontinue the bill, a committee on consideration of a substitute bill containing amendments satisfactory to Progressive Republican Senators.

What will be the fate of the bill after it has been returned to the stage of general debate next week still is problematical.

Had Heart Trouble FOR YEARS.

Weighted 87 Lbs.
Now Weighs 138 Lbs.

Miss Beatrice Loughheed, Staples, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I had heart trouble for quite a few years. I doctored for it, and altogether my bill amounted to $400, and still no cure. One day when very sick I was lying on a couch close to where some almshouses were hanging. I took one down, and was reading about what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured, and thought I would try them. I got six boxes to start with; have only taken three boxes and I never felt so well in my life as I do now. I only weighed 87 pounds when I started to take them, and now I weigh 138 pounds. I hope all poor sufferers will be benefited by them as I have been."

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will strengthen it and build up a strong healthy system.

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price, by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DAMAGE WROUGHT BY BOMBS FROM GERMAN TERRORS

ST. PETER'S HOUSE, ON ST. PETER'S PLAIN, YARMOUTH.

The accompanying picture, showing the destruction of St. Peter's House, in Yarmouth, is a silent witness of the havoc wrought by the Zeppelin airships in their raid on the English coast towns. In this building alone several persons were killed by the deadly bombs dropped from the sky by the death dealing machines. The building was wrecked from top to bottom by the force of the explosion of a bomb.

PATRIOTIC AGRICULTURAL MEETING A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Gathering of Northumberland County Agriculturalists at Napan, to hear addresses on best methods to increase production.

Chatham, Feb. 5.—There was a good attendance at the conference at Napan last evening following a practical discussion in the afternoon upon methods of securing large yields per acre. George E. Fisher, president of the Northumberland Agricultural Society, presided, and the speakers were J. L. Stewart, M. L. A. Rev. John Harris, Chatham, and Messrs. Anderson and Hubbard, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. There were also short addresses made by many of the farmers present.

After W. W. Hubbard had explained the objects of the conference, Rev. John Harris gave an eloquent patriotic address with special reference to farm production. The opportunity, he said, had arrived for the Canadian farmer. If he were prepared to supply what the Empire needed and at a price which would compete with the farmer of the United States, he had a practically unlimited market. There was both patriotism and good business in growing large crops in 1915. Even if the business end was doubtful there was the patriotic duty which was worth while. True patriotism implied self-sacrifice, self-abnegation, self-exertion—patriotism that did not cost anything was not really patriotism. It behooved every farmer and every farmer's wife to make every exertion to produce food to feed not only the men who are fighting, but also their wives and families left behind.

Mr. Groves said, more grain, more roots and potatoes, and do not kill or sell a single one of your breeding stock this year. True patriotism implied self-sacrifice, self-abnegation, self-exertion—patriotism that did not cost anything was not really patriotism. It behooved every farmer and every farmer's wife to make every exertion to produce food to feed not only the men who are fighting, but also their wives and families left behind.

J. L. Stewart, M. L. A., spoke vigorously upon the situation. There could, he said, be no two opinions regarding the war among loyal Canadians. England was justified in entering into the conflict when she did, even had not the neutrality of Belgium violated for it was well understood that the German plan was to subdue the continental nations before England entered the contest and throw the whole might of a victorious Germany upon Britain when she must perform stand alone. Britain could do nothing else under good statesmanship than enter the war when she did, and it was equally necessary that she and her allies must now win, and win so conclusively that never again would German militarism be heard of. To this end it was necessary that every British citizen must exert himself and herself to the utmost. Men to fight and food to feed them and all the people were both essential. There could be no holding back by any one of their hard work to the up-keep of a military autocracy which considered only might as right. There was no equal franchise in Germany; the poor man had not the right of the ballot except at enormous disadvantage, and if Germany were allowed to win in this struggle, we might expect the wheels of progress to be turned back for 200 years and ourselves made but serfs under an insufferable military system.

Mr. Anderson then spoke briefly upon the growing of more grain and hay, and at the same time increasing the live stock on the farm. He believed more wheat could well be grown. There was, however, one difficulty in the way, and that was the inability of the farmers of the Miramichi to take advantage of the immense quantities of natural fertilizer in the form of mussel mud with which the rivers and coast were lined. He hoped the Department of Agriculture would help solve the difficulty by assisting in procuring suitable dredges to dig these deposits.

A. G. Dickson said he believed every farmer present could increase his crops, and he believed he should go further and also increase his live stock. Meats would be wanted as well as grain and hay. By growing and feeding turnips the farmer could utilize the straw as fodder, which he would get from his increased acreage. Turnips, straw and a little grain would take stock through the winter and leave some hay for sale. As to fertilizer, he thought it could not now be got for this season, but commercial fertilizer ought to be used for potatoes and turnips and to leave some barn yard manure for top dressing the meadows and increasing the hay crop. He thought this campaign would be a great stimulus to the farming community.

Mr. White thought it was quite practicable to give increased crops of oats by plowing up some of the old meadows and pastures.

Clifford Galloway thought the Agricultural Society might well help out its members in procuring fertilizer, and he was fully in accord with the purpose of the meeting.

W. R. Matthews, Loggieville, thought the government might, perhaps, assist where seed was scarce. He could supply 100 bushels of white Russian seed wheat if it were wanted. W. W. Hubbard spoke briefly upon what the Agricultural Society and other business men and bankers among its members might do to give help where it was needed, and gave some results at the Experimental
