

Andrews, and Mr. Joseph Elliot, ordinary members. The latter gentleman had been a member but a few months when death removed him from among us.

In the last Annual Report regret was expressed at the limited membership of the Society, and members were appealed to to endeavour to add to the list. Your Committee have therefore great satisfaction in stating that through the exertions of several gentlemen, seventeen new names have been enrolled—4 Life and 13 Ordinary. Whilst, however, contemplating this increase with satisfaction, we would urge upon members generally not to relax their efforts, but to endeavor to make every Englishman in Quebec a member of our Society, It should be borne in mind, in view of the anticipated improvement in the affairs of our city, that we may probably soon have a very large influx of English residents, and the demands upon our Society will be proportionately increased. We may be called upon in the near future to take a position in regard to our immigrant fellow-countrymen such as our sister Society in Montreal takes to-day, a Society whose operations are upon a scale many times greater than ours, and whose income, large as it is, is, if we mistake not, scarcely adequate to the demands made upon it at present. Under these circumstances we feel confident that we will not appeal in vain to the Englishmen of Quebec to support the St. George's Society, and thus help to roll up a fund which will aid, comfort and protect many an honest but needy Englishman, when having landed here among strangers, he has to battle against the hardships which often assail the immigrant, and against opposition and discouragement from various quarters.

The whole respectfully submitted.

W. CLINT,
Secretary.
