fuel for some time yet.
The Indians are of course very desirous of obtaining a tract of hard wood land.
The property Sproule offers does not seem to contain much hard wood, not at all to justify the price asked. There is a large tract of land on the reserve not cultivated, and it requires an immense amount of labour to bring it into a productive condition, being X very stony land. I should advise the purchase of both properties of 36 acres at $400. the most of which has been already ploughed and worked and adjoins the reserve
