

Greeting

To The National Council of Women of Canada
from
The Brantford Local Council of Women

Brantford, Ont., June 11th, 1918.

Mrs. F. H. Torrington,
President of the National Council of Women of Canada.

The Brantford Local Council of Women extend to you their warmest greetings. We feel it is not only an honor but a privilege to welcome to our city such an august body of Empire builders, whose various branches of useful activities are known throughout the Dominion. The admirable organization of the National Council has proved a mighty factor in concentrating and effectively directing the unselfish and faithful work of the women of Canada. Their motto, like that of our gallant soldiers, has been ever "Carry On."

We regret that your visit to Brantford must be under the present war conditions, but hope it will not be entirely devoid of pleasure. Your presence will inspire us to mightier efforts and cement us more strongly in the common bond of service for the Empire.

CHARLOTTE LIVINGSTON,
President.
