Clean and Repair Poultry House Early.

The old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine," is quite applicable to the poultry keeper at this time of year says C. E. Brown, poultry man, Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. Early attention to the matter of cleaning and repairing the chicken-house is important as it often means the difference between profit and loss at the end of the season.

The first task to perform when beginning to clean and repair the poultry house should be to clean the interior thoroughly. The walls, ceilings, floors and nests should be scraped and brushed and a good coat of whitewash applied. If the floors are of earth, at least two inches of the surface soil should be removed and replaced with fresh earth or sand. If they are of concrete construction they should be washed and scraped. All cracks and crevices, especially about the roosting quarters, should receive a liberal coat of whitewash. If this work is faithfully performed the poultry keeper should be relieved of considerable worry over the comfort of his fowls the coming winter.

The next task to undertake should be the necessary repairs to windows and doors and to the interior fixtures. It is of vital importance to the health of fowls that all broken doors and window-lights be repaired before the first cold snap arrives. Drafts due to carelessness in this respect are almost always fatal to chickens, and such diseases as croup and pneumonia are often contracted as a direct result. Let us remember the old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and see if the next rainy day cannot be used to good advantage by spending it at the poultry house.

A Good Offering of Rams.

John Miller, Claremont, Ont., writes "The Farmer's Advocate" regarding his offering in sheep, as follows: The imported rams I am offering are a very fine lot; large and well woolled. They were bred by Ed. Nock; T. S. Simon and C. & W. Kellock. I am sure it would pay any man with 20 ewes or more to invest in one of these rams at the price I am asking. I also have some extra good Shropshire and Cotswold ram lambs, and a few good home-bred yearling rams to sell, and ewes all ages. All at reasonable prices."
