MACBRIDE HAS CLOSING MEETING

Continues Personal Campaign Against Cockshutt
His Followers Give Him a Rousing Reception

"It is one of the most pitiable sights I have ever seen, that a man of such attainments as W. F. Cockshutt, after eleven years of golden opportunity to serve the people, comes back here and asks for his re-election with a cry—'win the war.'" Continuing his personal campaign against W. F. Cockshutt the Unionized, Mr. MacBride, at an arduous meeting of his supporters held in the Victoria Hall last night, thus characterized and belittled the national issue at stake in the present election with which Mr. Cockshutt has arrogantly expressed his consentment.

"The I. L. P. candidate also considered in some extent the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the nation of Quebec. Disinterestedly he said in regard to Sir Wilfrid, "Laurier was on the other side of the House, and Laurier is a much criticized man, probably more than he deserves. He knew these men at Ottawa and he refused coalition."

ALD. H. J. SYMONS considered the present election another the most important that the workmen of Canada have ever faced. The old line parties, he considered, had failed to be truly representative of the people, and the only solution that he could conceive was a workmen's party.

Referring to the national issue of the election—conception—Ald. Symons declared that the Military Seccretary had become necessary, because of the laxity in Quebec and the consequent failure of the voluntary system throughout the country.
 While the Union Government had promised to enforce conscription on an equal basis in all the provinces, Ontario was still being made to bear the brunt.

ALD. M. M. MACBRIDE, the candidate, rose to speak amid a hearty shower of applause. "If this election were to elect a man to an honorary position," he declared, "I would not oppose the late representative from this riding."

Out of this war and the sacrifice entailed in the struggle had emerged a new political faith, a faith that would banish the old, narrow minded idea "that a man should be a Brit or a Tory because his grandfather was one before him." The present election was not a fight for an individual, but a battle for representation for the working people of Brantford in the legislative halls of the Dominion.

"When this campaign commenced," continued the speaker, "the faction headed by Mr. Cockshutt tried to force on the head of every man who did not see eye to eye with them, the charge of disloyalty.
 I find that with men of that calibre their own loyalty might well be examined."

"Since the first of his campaign," charged Ald. MacBride, "Mr. Cockshutt has attempted to monopolize patriotism. He wanted a halo around his head, to be wrapped up in a flag as the concentrated essence of the patriotism of the city of Brantford."

The I.L.P. approved and were adhering to the manifesto of Sir Robert Borden, claimed Mr. MacBride.
 Their criticism was not levelled at the policy, but at the men who refused to consistently support it, and who were "reducing its value to that of a mere scrap of paper."

 sights I have ever seen," continued Mr. MacBride, "that a man of such attainments as W. F. Cockshutt, after eleven years of golden opportunity to serve the people, comes back here and asks for his re-election with a cry—'win the war.'"

They tantalize themselves.
 Perhaps the other road would not really have been half so pleasant as the one they chose. But they can never know. And so they tantalize themselves with the pictures of its superiority.

Of course I do not mean merely big choices, big and little. The way a holiday shall be spent, the location in which the home shall be built, the color of the winter's suit, the choice of a play to go to, the choice of a name for the baby.

I know a woman who has recently built a house. This should have been a very happy time for her for she has been saving and planning for it for years. But she is a person who has permitted herself to get into the habit of regret and her happiness in the house has been poisoned by this habit.

There are two ways to cure this habit. One is to make your decisions thoughtfully and carefully and then, having made them wrench your mind off them.

The other is to force your self to remember that with the passage of time many things which seemed mistakes will turn out for the best.
 The woman who built the house has already realized that she put the fireplace in the best position after all. And yet at the time she suffered agonies of regret.

been pleasanter is neither sane nor normal.
 It is a subtle poison that poisons one's happiness.
 It is a kind of mild insanity which grows on one powerfully as the years grow by.
 It is characteristic of the people who are subject to this disease, That is because they can always imagine how pleasant the other road would have been. Matter of fact people see only the road before them, good or bad, as it chances to be. But the imaginative people can see the other road even more clearly.
