EXTENSION TALK The more the agitation for the extension of Brantford City boundaries is looked into, the less desirable does such a step seem at this period.

Brantford for various enterprises will have to go to the money market this year for some $700,000. Now the men who control suc issues, are naturally very careful to ook into the obligations of any apolicant municipality. We are in excellent shape to secure the best of terms as the muncipality stands. Would we be in as favorable position if it was known that the city had decided to add much territory, with waterworks extensions, electric light extensions. fire brigade extensions, police exnsions and all the rest of it-an ship assessment rates continued and on top of that for a period of fifteen or sixteen years to pay 5 mills less oo obvious for any elaboration. What we need to do is to develop what we have, and not to go gunning or added expenses and responsibilit-on the dollar than the rest of us?

The answer to such a question i f high prices, this old-time-worn subect cropped up last night at an agri ultural meeting in Brantford. In the first place the matter is on which needs to be approached in a broad-minded way on both sides.
