THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JAN. 2, 1891.

Local and Provincial.

The rink was open on Wednesday evening for the first, with good ice and quite a number of skaters.

Next Sunday, January 4th, 1891, there will be service in St. John's church, at eleven, A. M., with a celebration of the holy communion.

The death is announced of Rev. John McMurray, D. D., one of the oldest ministers of the Methodist church in Nova Scotia. He was at one time editor of the "Acadian" and was a man of talent and much respected.

A few Hay Cutters for sale low. WALTER BROWN'S.

Conductor Joe Edwards was presented with a handsome silver pitcher on Christmas Eve by his friends in Kentville. The presentation was accompanied by an address, to which the recipient replied in his usual happy manner.

Chas. Skates and Fancy Hardware for Christmas trade, at BROWN'S. Rev. Anderson Rogers, of Yarmouth, has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church of Windsor. Mr. Rogers was at one time in charge of the church here and his many friends in Wolfville will be glad to have him once more near us.

The W. & A. railway company have issued a very neat little calendar a copy of which we have been furnished with through the courtesy of the management. We have also received a pretty calendar from the Canadian Globe.

Pipes, Cigars and Smokers' Sundries, finest stock in town, at R. PRAT'S.

We have received a copy of The Ladies' Bazaar, an excellent journal for the ladies, published by the Bazaar Publishing Co., 4 Adelaide St. East, Toronto, Ont. The price is only 60 cents per year and it contains a vast quantity of matter of interest to the fair sex.

Russian Buffaloes, Black and Grey Goat skins, Horse Rugs and Sleigh Bells, at BROWN'S.

With regret that we are called upon to record the death of Miss Bessie Benjamin, daughter of S. P. Benjamin, Esq. She has been ill for some time and died on Sunday night. She was a young lady of much promise and will be deeply mourned by many sorrowing friends.

The new Presbyterian church, at Lower Horton, is to be opened for worship on Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The service in the church here will be at 11 o'clock in the morning. In order to give members of the congregation an opportunity of attending the opening services, the Sabbath school will be at 10 o'clock next Sunday.

An Ottawa despatch says: A personal friend of Sir John A. MacDonald, now in the city, says the Dominion Parliament will not meet until after the first week in March, by which time the Democratic Congress will have assembled and the president's speech government to determine on its course, an outline of which may be looked for in the Queen's Speech.

Try "Our Special Blend" Tea and "Standard Java" Coffee, and you will use no other. R. PRAT.

H. E. Wilson, of Colorado Springs, is now at home at his father's in Annapolis Co. He was a member of the matriculating class of '84, but left Horton Academy before the close of the term. Since that time Mr. Wilson has studied in a Normal School in Mass., taught school in Colorado and also prosecuted studies in law. Nearly two years ago he was admitted to the bar, and about the same time he took a congenial companion into life partnership. Success has followed him in all his undertakings, and now he is a prominent lawyer and a large owner in mining industries in the state in which he lives. His interest in Acadia has not grown less since away, and he regrets very much that he did not remain to finish his course. The night of the junior he came up from Annapolis county to attend it, and during his short stay in Wolfville he met some of the Professors and a few of his old schoolmates.

BARGAINS.—Tea Sets (best white ware) for $2.50; China Cup and Saucer (set) for $1.50; Table Lamps (14) 25 cents at R. PRAT'S.

Local and Provincial.

The public schools open again on Monday next. College opens on Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Dawson, of Canard, preached in the Presbyterian pulpit last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Ross going to Canard.

C. M. Woodworth, class of '90, was in Wolfville at the late junior exhibition. Charlie is doing good solid work at Dalhousie, and is a worthy representative of Acadia.

Mr. Dennis, of the Pictou Standard, was the recipient of a Christmas box of $50 from "one of Pictou County's most distinguished Sons." They don't act that way in all places.

The Hon. L. E. Baker, president of the Yarmouth Steamship Co., was presented last week with a magnificent gold-headed ebony cane as a tribute of the esteem in which he is held by the officers of the steamer Beaton. An address accompanied the presentation to which Hon. Mr. Baker made an appropriate and feeling reply.

The Rev. Mr. Denovan, formerly of Toronto, but who has been resting at Wolfville for the past fifteen months, preached two very acceptable sermons in the Baptist church on Sunday last. His discourse, "The Creation of the Ten Virgins," is said to have been a very able effort, and delighted the congregation.—Hants Journal.

Our Homes.—The December number of Our Homes shows a marked improvement over the November number, both in literary matter and general make-up but this is only in accordance with the promise of the publishers, and they promise still further improvements in each succeeding number. The contents of the current number are varied and interesting, embracing fiction, poetry, fashions, house furnishings, and house decoration, and many kindred topics. The December number is the one upon which the prize competition is based, and the publishers announce that in order to make the competition more easy, a number of mistakes have been purposely made. A sample copy, with rules for the competition, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in stamps, by addressing Our Homes Publishing Company, Brockville, Ont.

An Evening at "Sunny Brae."

On account of numerous patients needing medical attention, Dr. W. S. Woodworth and his bride were not able to be absent long; and on Monday evening Dec. 22d, they returned from their short wedding trip. Numerous relatives and neighbors had assembled to welcome them on their return, and an unusually pleasant and delightful evening was spent with the happy couple. The numerous and costly presents, that adorned the tables and rooms amply showed the high esteem in which Dr. Woodworth and his wife are held in the community. As usual the boys with their indispensable guns, horns, etc. were present and added not a little to the hilarity of the evening. A hot cup of coffee and a good lunch of cake did not end all their noise, for afterwards they resumed with fresh impetus, the lunch seemingly lubricated them internally, judging from the sound of the voices and the noise from the horns. The best of wishes were expressed by all the friends for the future happiness of the popular disciple of Galen and his fair companion. G.

K. D. C. at G. H. Wallace's.

Dr. G. W. Hambleton urges that an important step towards the suppression of consumption is the fitting of the body to receive it. He rejects the accepted theories, and regards the disease as depending upon conditions that reduce the breathing surface of the lungs below a certain proportion of the rest of the body. These conditions—in the absence of which consumption has never been produced, even in Koch's experiments—include sedentary life and occupations, want of exercise, defective seats, tight clothing, and whatever may tend to compress the chests and prevent full expansion of the lungs. Remedies are free country life, well ventilated rooms, suitable chairs, and clothing that is loose and not too heavy. Liability to the disease may be avoided by keeping the lungs up to the normal capacity. A man of 5 feet 8 inches in height should have a chest measurement of 38 to 45 inches, with a power of expansion of 4 inches. The earliest physical training should aim at full development of the lungs. Narrow chested persons should practice deep breathing, and exercise systematically to expand the lungs to the healthy standard, at the same time especially avoiding work in close and dusty places.
